SOCIETY'S TOGS ARE

Casual But Smart

FOR TURF AND BEACH

Mrs. F. Bartholomew Jelke, the former Marjorie B. McVickar, strides along a fashionable Newport beach in a casually correct sports outfit that is the epitome of good taste. It consists of perfectly tailored, light gray flannel slacks and a matching shirt with patch pockets.

Ultra flattering is the youthful wind that pretty Joyce Ward wears on exclusive Bailey's Beach at Newport. Of cotton print, in subdued pastel shades, it has a low, square neckline, short, puff sleeves and self buttons down the front.

Simple play suits, including shorts and tuck-in shirts, are popular with society girls who go to sun-drenched beaches these days. The one above, worn by Miss Lesley Bogert, is of blue cotton with white pin dots. The shorts are pleated.

Miss Elizabeth Saunders goes to the beach at Newport in a simply tailored outfit—a four-pocketed bush coat and manfully smart, white wool jersey slacks. The coat is of sail red jersey. Her mother, Mrs. Truman Laurance Saunders, wore a similar outfit in all white.

Attractive socialite Martha Bacon went to the races at Saratoga in a seemingly simple, but truly beautiful dusty pink linen dress with a printed belt to match the printed bolero. Her tiny hat is entirely covered with flowers in the colors of the print.

U. S. V. HOSPITAL

The news reel at our picture show Monday night showed a Hollywood all-star team playing baseball. We are sorry they can not take time to come to Roseburg. We would like to challenge them!

The feature "Manhattan Merry Go-Round," was rather a dizzy hodge-podge, but there was some good music and a few good jokes.

Overheard on a walk: "The best

It is always fun to see Leo Carrillo, no matter what part is given him.

We hear that in some towns domino tournaments are very popular, so we are training some contestants in that game. Tuesday evening twelve sets were laid out on the table in the card room of the recreation building, and ladies of the auxiliary to the Veterans of the Spanish-American War were invited to grace the occasion.

The following challenge to his buddy from the state south of us was written by one of our patients: THE CALIFORNIAN

He is awakened in the morning by the alarm of a Connecticut clock. He washes his hands in a basin made in New Jersey. He dries them on a towel made in Delaware. He shaves his feet under a Michigan table.

The breakfast thereon consists of hot cakes made from Minnesota flour and steak from Texas stock. He goes to work with a New York bridle on a Missouri mule, which has been fed on Iowa corn. When the day is done he reads a chapter of the Bible printed in Massachusetts and gets in an Indian bed.

He covers himself with Oregon wool blankets—only to be eaten up by fleas, the only product of his home state!

Mrs. Edward Hines and Mrs. George McBee entertained the patients in the Day Room of Ward Five on Wednesday afternoon.

The cribbage players on Ward Two are wearing out two packs of cards a week. The fun is cheap at that!

On Tuesday afternoon all the patients whose birthday occur in the month of August were honored at a party given by Mrs. Irvin Riegel, Mrs. Edward Hines, Mrs. Harry Hatfield and Mrs. Rudolph Ritzman, representing the American Legion auxiliary.

A gift of nine good jig-saw puzzles was received a couple of days ago. On an average ten men play with one puzzle in a week, so this donation means pleasant diversion for thirty men before next Saturday. Isn't that a large dividend on the investment?
