They Are Off to College

I gives even the most hardened grouch among us a thrill on the girls go back to college to see the of last minute preparation for the beginning of another great adventure. The old grouch may say of habit, that these young folks are going to college just because it is the thing to do-for football and dances, for cream sodas, for dates (with peaches) and for a little study just enough for social polish. Don't you believe him! He doesn't believe it himself. These young people with all their enthusiasm and high spirits are going to college with a real selves for the greater and, so far, mysterious adventure that comes after college. They are going to clate what you have to work for. Remember this: About one-quarter of the students at our two great Oregon Institutions earn all their college expenses, and seventy-five per cent carn at least part while only twenty-five per cent are wholly dependent on checks You can bet on these self-reliant, hard working, fun loving, normal young ones who are going out to earn the education they want. It will mean more to them than if it were handed to them on a silver platter.

When they are graduated, they will not need to adopt the slo-gan that an eastern college class supposed to have done last commencement, "WPA, Here We Come." Life is great if you have pluck and gumption and youth! And the home town is back of these college kids of ours hundred per cent. They are off in a bunch! Good luck!

When?

AS this is written it is not concelvable that any person in war will break out in Europe, But that some day, whether it will be five days or five years from now, war will plague Europe. For cenlived with the grief of the last war AND the dread of the next one-or they have been fighting. is no thought there of permanent peace. The greatest hope they dare venture is that while:

Into that situation is projected Adolf Hitler who has hypnotized most of Germany's seventy mil-lion people. With his controlled radio and his controlled press he can play upon the emotions, can sway them as he wishes.

Thus in the present tense sit nation what happens will be de-termined pretty largely by the one man. The only risk he runs is that his propaganda job will have too well—that an aroused and emotional people will Though that is not a likely eventuality, nevertheless it could hap-

Thus the question of when war U. S. TAUGHT CLERKS WILL TEACH CUSTOMERS will begin, of who knows when war will begin, or who will start it, is utterly unknown. The whim of fate will decide. It is a horrible condition, but there it is,

EUGENE, Sept. 14—(AP)—Hopeful of aiding future graduates in obtaining employment, the University of Oregon altered its curriculum this year to better equip students to take up positions in moderately specialized fields.

Courses ranging from law to psychology will combine theory with actual working conditions to give students practice experience.

As an example, a special course, social science synthesis, will be offered student-teachers, the intention being to focus on active issues in high school courses, where it is necessary for teachers to combine a number of studies into one. For students desiring to go into public service, courses will be given on foreign service, public administration of justice, administrative iswand legislation. To provide for increased need in secondary schools, a course on school health will be conducted.

Student lawyers will practice in law schools by utilizing trial court rooms which were established during, students will analyze subnormal children. Graphic journalism will give students in such courses opportunities in newspaper photography, shooting, developing and printing of pictures.

THINKS PRUNE INDUSTRY IS FACING EXTINCTION

CANYONVILLE, Ore... Sept. 12.

Editor News-Review: The other day a large flock of crows was they always do in the fail of the year, preparatory to the annual sign of winter.

A fourist, apparently from one of our large cities back east, after observing the crows a few minnites remarked: "Now what do you suppose those birds mean by that awful racket?"
"Oh, they are just singing the swan song of the prune industry in Orogon," repiled a bystander,

And this is more truth than fiction, for the prune industry is definitely on the road to oblivion, leaving in its wake financial wrecks, broken in body and apirit. A most regrettable situation, too, for the whole state, as this fine fruit—and truly a special crop attaining its perfection of quality only in the Pacific northwest—could have brought annually to this state some five million dollars or more if properly marketed in its various forms. This money would have directly or indirectly helped every man, woman and child, especially in western Oregon.

Regrettable indeed when Regrettable indeed when we look shout and see that other specialized crops have been marketed at a profit for several decades and through the worst business depression in history.

Yes, this industry is surely passing, the victim of indifference by the growers themselves. Indifference by the growers themselves. Indifference to the need of strong and constructive leadership, a solid or ganization for standardized and orderly marketing of only quality fruit, and lack of cooperation between growers and out of state packers, who have exploited the ladustry with seemingly nothought except their own profit. The buzzards are already hovering near. Buzzards in the form of unpaid bank notes, farm mortisages and delinquent taxes are ready to pick the bones, for the few feeble attempts to organize in the last several years has but served to hasten the end. There is an old saying that in the absence of a cure we must endure.

FEDERAL POSITIONS OPENED TO EXAMS

Civil service examinations to fill positions as senior and junior stenographers and typists in field service are announced by the civil service commission, according to word received today. The examinations are in addition to those recently announced for service in Washington, D. C. Full particulars are available from Charl. Floids or C. B. Calkins at the Roseburg post office.

It the plan is a success the course will be taught in other cities. Clerks will be instructed how to answer intelligently such questions as "How can rayon be distinguished from sik?" "How to tell wool from wool-and-cotton?" That inspires more confidence 12 "How to tell good soap from bad?"

Well, well, well; politics IS a funny game, all right. Remember how someone, when Willis Mahoney, Holman's opponent for U. S. Senator, ran a man down on the highway near Albany some months ago, tried to put the evil eye on Willis for it?

Daily Devotions

DR CHARLES A. EDWARDS Religion that is only a pre-tence is truly a hideous thing. Nothing in all the world is so tence is truly a hideous thing. Nothing in all the world is so completely spoiled as it by unseen and make-believe. And yet perhaus it is in greater danger of becoming a sham and an insucerity than almost anything else. Whether that be true or not, we ought to be somewhat on our guard lest the thing that was meant to be sound and structure and all the way through good should develop a hallowness here and there, an unsoundness that would make mock of all its tain seeming. By Thine infinite grace. O God, do Thoresave us from the sin of insincerity and pretence. Belip us to be true, to walk before Thee and the world in integrity and fidelity to the vave and professions that we make. We tak it in the name of Jesus Christ, our Saviour. Amen.
