Daily Devotions

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

It is a rather poor religion that seeks to satisfy itself with merely negative attainment, and judges doing without as the great virtue. There are some things, of course, that a good man does not do, if there must be others that he does do, if there is to be any reality to his goodness. The Psalmist 15:1-5 puts the negative and positive together and insists that they both belong. His good man not only walks uprightly, he speaks the truth in his heart and he slanders not with his tongue, and he does not undertake to say which is the more important, "So sure is he both are essential. Help us, our Heavenly Father, that we may not only love the truth but live it; that our living from day to day may bear constant witness to the faith and philosophy that we acknowledge and profess. May our confessing never take the place in our lives of noble conduct. Amen.

We would enjoy having you pay us a visit.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLANS ACTIVITIES

Eva Baker, president, was in charge of the Nebo Dramatic club meeting at Thursday activity period. Plans for raising money were discussed and a committee composed of Bob Hollows, chairman, Corinne Anne Perry and Jack Craig was appointed to look into the matter of having the weekly broadcasts by the school arranged differently. Boyd Jackson, adviser for the club, announced that the play for the Christmas program would arrive soon and the club could start working on it immediately.

Oddities Gleaned From Day's News

Cold Setting
WAYNESBURG, Pa.—William Dreyer's companions were amazed to see him get quickly to his feet after falling into a snowbank while ice skating. Matches in a hip pocket had become ignited through friction and set his trousers afire.

News Hound
ST. LOUIS—"Butch," trained fox terrier "news hound," was back on the job today and Newboy Johnny Kifoy shouted his headlines a little more jubilantly. Butch, and the money changer he carries strapped to his harness so customers can make their own change, disappeared Monday. "Two sorry people," who tied an apologetic note to his harness and sent him back, money changer and all, were forgiven.

Dog Fare
ELGIN, Ill.—Pug, an English bull dog, has a taxicab ride almost daily, given by his owner's friends who find Pug wandering far from his home. But Pug's master, Dr. Knute H. Hanson, said this was not only extremely annoying, but expensive. Consequently, he appealed to his friends to let Pug shift for himself. "He's only pretending anyway," Hanson said. "He knows the way home but doesn't want to walk. He's daffy about riding in taxicabs."

U. S. LINER HARDING SUFFERS DAMAGE

LE HAVRE, France, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The United States liner President Harding was thrown against a jetty by a heavy wind as she entered port early today after a voyage from New York and was so damaged she was put in dry dock. Some 40 passengers for Hamburg disembarked with those for Le Havre and were sent on to Germany by train. Although the damage was estimated at about $10,000, it was sufficient to hold up the 13,859-ton liner for repairs. She was being brought into port by four tugs when the wind pushed her nose into a breakwater. The same gale delayed for seven hours the sailing of the United States liner Washington for New York. United States line officials expected the President Harding to be ready to sail for Hamburg on schedule tomorrow. Other estimates, however, were that she might be tied up several days.

Crackup of Nazi Regime Regarded As Inevitable

By JOHN T. FLYNN
NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—One of the questions most often asked about Germany is, "How long can the Nazi regime last?" It is a question, of course, which has two aspects—economic and political. First, the economic, economists have predicted that Germany, running in violation of most economic laws, would crack up sooner than this. Without an adequate gold reserve, with foreign trade ruthlessly cut, with capital investments drying up, how does she manage to operate? The answer is reasonably plain. In 1933 Germany found herself in such a position as we found ourselves. Hitler came into power about the time Roosevelt did. Both adopted the plan of raising funds by heavy borrowings. In six years Roosevelt borrowed nearly 20 billion dollars; Hitler borrowed 10 billion. This latter figure is a minimum estimate. It may be as high as 12 billion. This is an enormous figure for Germany—proportionately greater than the United States. Of course this has supplied and continues to supply a continuous flow of fresh funds into the economic system. But Hitler proceeded to tax. He taxed everybody, from the lowest workman to the richest capitalist. He literally drained everyone. Thus, when Roosevelt borrowed a billion and spent it, it went into private hands and remained there. When he wanted to spend more money he had to borrow another billion. When Hitler borrowed a billion it went into private hands and there he immediately recaptured it by means of drastic taxation so that he got it back and had to spend again. We need pursue the comparison no further. Hitler thus kept the spending power of the people at the lowest point by keeping wages down, but he spread the income over a larger number of people. Soon there were no unemployed because all had work—work in the armament plants supported by this enormous borrowing and taxation. But these people have little to spend even out of their low wages and high profits, because the government withdraws it all from them by taxes. All this requires an immense amount of regulation of the minutest variety. But one effect of this is slowly to dry up all capital investment. The business man can make large profits, since everybody is employed and wages are low, but he is allowed to keep so little of his profits that you cannot imagine him investing any of what he does retain to make further profits which will do him so little good. Therefore, investment ends. And as investment comes to an
