

TWO
NEW WHEAT CRISIS
THREATENS WORLD
Production to Far Exceed Demand, Institute Warns;
U. S. Changes Status.

ROME, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The international institute of agriculture today warned the world faces another wheat crisis, even more serious than that of 1928, due to mounting grain surplus.
The institute estimated exportable wheat supplies would be 1,149,000,000 bushels by July 31, 1939, and the world import demand would be 549,000,000 bushels.
"Thus the world is once again in a situation of crisis," said the institute report. "A lasting market recovery can be achieved only by means of restoration of the equilibrium between annual consumption and production."
"With the present area under wheat cultivation this equilibrium could be attained only if the season was sufficiently disastrous to reduce the unit yield of the sown acreage to a figure well below normal."
This eventuality is beyond the limits of what is probable.
The report concluded the only solution is "to restrict production by means of reducing the area sown," but it recognized, however, that "economic, administrative, political and constitutional difficulties" obstructed such an international agreement.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Withdrawal of the United States from chairmanship of the international wheat advisory board was announced today by Ray Atherton, United States minister to Bulgaria, who has presided at current meetings of the 22-nation body.
Atherton emphasized, however, the United States would maintain membership in the organization.
During a discussion of the world wheat situation American representatives reported the Roosevelt administration expected this year to cut United States wheat acreage from 78,000,000 acres to 65,000,000. But it was said the acreage would be even as low as 55,000,000 if every wheat farmer complied with the government plan.
The wheat board tomorrow approaches its biggest problem—what to recommend to wheat importing and exporting nations.
A group of social credit supporters registered a protest against any demotion of foodstuffs today by burning a sheet of paper outside the board of trade building where international board sessions are being held.

When a good man gets into trouble and difficulty it does not do for him to imagine that his case is a special one; that some thing has been happening from the very first days when man set his will to know and to do the right. The Christian, of all men, should not grumble and complain when life is difficult. Surely, if he would have to do to get himself out of his mood would be to read again the story of his Master's life and what happened to him, and all along the way there has been a long line of brave souls who have endured as seeing Him who is invisible and have still kept smiling and hopeful to the end of their day. Forgive us Dear Father, for being weak and cowardly, so often and failing to endure hardships with a smile as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. May the strong pure mind of our Master be found in us often and the set of our soul more constant. Amen.

WIDOW OF YOUNG DODGE WINS MONEY

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Annie Laurine Dodge, youthful widow of Daniel G. Dodge, won her fight today for a substantial share of her husband's fortune with a settlement that may give her $3,000,000, but state inheritance taxes and other $5,000,000 in the future. Both these sums would be sharply reduced by inheritance taxes.
The former Gore Bay, Ont., telephone operator will receive within a year one-fourth of her husband's immediate estate, estimated at $12,000,000, but state inheritance taxes and federal estate taxes will cut her $3,000,000 share approximately in half. The remainder of the immediate estate will go to Dodge's mother, Mrs. Mathilda R. Wason.
Mrs. Dodge also is to receive, under the settlement, half of Daniel Dodge's share of a $10,000,000 trust fund established in the will of John F. Dodge, automobile manufacturer, for the benefit of his four children. Daniel Dodge's share of the trust fund, $16,000,000, would be payable after the death of all of the elder Dodge's children.

Suggestions On WPA Omit Need Of Politics Ban

By JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
The Sheppard committee of the senate, reporting on WPA political abuses and making recommendations for reform, singularly leaves out the most important recommendation of all. That is to take the WPA and all of the recovery and relief activities of the government look, stock and barrel out of politics.
It is all right to prohibit politicians from soliciting funds from relief workers and other persons on the government payroll; to prevent politicians from getting their names and addresses, and so on. But the place to strike is at the root. First of all, the entire administration and relief must be taken completely out of the hands of political employees.
As early as December, 1934, the present writer observed the amazing degree to which the old spoils system was being revived. There was some criticism of it elsewhere too, but it was all blamed on Jim Farley. Then I wrote: "Nobody knows Farley better than Roosevelt himself. The partnership and formed Farley has been nothing but a messianic boy."

Roosevelt's order with childlike simplicity. But this much must be said for him. He said over his own signature: "Patronage is a reward for party victory." He never said for instance, "I think that everybody who has studied the question is in favor of the civil service." That was said by Hoover.
Every man knows what are the weaknesses of human nature. The president knows them. He knew as everyone knew, what the writer tried to point out in that 1934 article—that you cannot spend billions of public money and entrust it to political appointees all over the country. It will be used for politics as surely as fire will burn wood.
The first thing to do is to reorganize the entire WPA and all relief agencies. It is not enough merely to appoint another administrator, with the same philosophy guiding the man who dominates it all. The man who runs the WPA should be chosen on a merit system. Promotion should be on a merit basis. Administration should be as completely divorced from the influence of the politician in the White House as is possible.
Sweeping Inquiry Needed
What has happened in relief has happened everywhere in the government. Thousands of men have been employed under the spoils system and then the President, with a pious gesture, has announced that they should be put under civil service. Not only are his spokesmen put into jobs but he attempts to keep them there forever by a spurious civil service.
Why does not a senate committee send out a questionnaire to all employees of the government in Washington and ask how much they have contributed to the various campaigns since 1933, and whom the money was given to, and who solicited it? The public service has been tampered and hounded for political contributions just as the relief workers have.
Congress should investigate the whole subject.

McNARY DEMANDS PURGE OF RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Senator McNary of Oregon, the republican floor leader, sharply criticized the administration's spending program today, and demanded elimination of politics from relief.
"The republicans in this congress will join hands with any group to drive the political racketeer and spoilsman out of the administration of relief," he said in a radio address.
"We otherwise are ready to join with any group to bring about a curtailment of reckless federal spending and take the first steps toward preservation of national solvency by bringing the federal budget into balance."
At a time when, he said, business and industry "need a word of encouragement and actions that inspire confidence to go forward," the administration proposes "further spending and larger deficits."
"This is no more an answer to our economic problem this year than it has been in any of the last six years," he continued. "The burden of federal debt which this administration has piled up and clearly intends to continue to pile up constitutes a brake on any return to normal business activity."

BLIZZARD DEALS DEATH, INJURIES

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Automobile traffic began moving slowly across northern New Mexico again today as state highway crews cleared snow-covered highways.
Three persons were killed, half a dozen injured and hundreds frost bitten in the week-end blizzard which cut a wide swath across the state, leaving scores of stalled automobiles in its wake.
A number of travelers, including Mrs. James Murray, wife of the New Mexico lieutenant governor, spent all Sunday night in their stranded automobiles, but suffered no permanent ill-effects.
Lieut. A. B. Martinez of state police said many marooned motorists saved their lives by seeking shelter in the four buses which stalled on the U. S. highway south of Santa Fe.
Motorists convicted of driving offenses in Santa Ana, Calif., have red stripes four inches wide, painted on their cars.

eyes stay bright with MEASURED LIGHT
Every seeing task requires a certain amount of light, and less than that amount causes eyestrain. That's why it is so important to have the home, where eyes are called upon for every sort of seeing, adequately lighted in every room. Eyestrain is no respecter of persons — it includes young and old among its victims, and pounces as quickly at home as at school or office.
The new I E S lamps for every room in the house are your best assurance against eyestrain. These lamps are scientifically designed to give correct light. They are well designed, and add to the decorative effect of the room in which they are used. There are floor, bridge, table and wall models in several designs, all with reflector globes that give a soft, diffused, but adequate light.
