BETTER MARKET FOR WOOL PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics predicts that American wool producers would find more favorable markets in the season opening April 1 than prevailed a year ago.

Factors tending to strengthen the market, the bureau said, included a higher rate of wool consumption and prospects for materially smaller surplus stocks.

The bureau said domestic prices had advanced considerably in recent months, while world prices had declined.

It said unless foreign prices advanced, prices in this country could not rise much from present levels without attracting larger imports.

Imports in 1938 totaled 31,000,000 pounds, the bureau said, compared with 150,000,000 in 1937.

Domestic mill consumption of apparel wool in November and December was said to have been the largest since March 1937.

GRANT FOR OREGON PRICE DATA O. K'D

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The WPA announced presidential approval of a $26,566 grant for a statewide tabulation and catalogue of data on the prices of apples and other fruits and livestock in Oregon.

CAMAS VALLEY

Mrs. Phillip Whitson and infant son were brought home from the Roseburg hospital in the ambulance.

balance Wednesday afternoon. Both mother and baby are doing nicely.

A number of young people from the valley and some from other communities where there is not much snow, have been enjoying coasting and skiing during the week.

Miss Betty Parrott spent Sunday and Monday in Roseburg as the guest of Miss Ruth Penner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bangs and small daughter, Dorothy Ann, Harold Dick and Warren Dick all came from Scottsburg Wednesday to stay here with relatives for a few days.

The logging camp where the men work closed for the rest of the week due to the bad storm. They report very little snow there how ever.

Mrs. George Denn and infant son went to Roseburg Wednesday to visit friends for a few days.

George Jr. is staying with his grandmother, Mrs. Lena Denn, during his mother's absence.

Miss Betty Parrott left on the stage Thursday noon for Happy Valley where she will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Telford for the remainder of the week.
