Today's Pattern

NEW HOUSEDRESS SO PRETTY THAT IT CAN GO SHOPPING

By CAROL DAY

Unbelieved, with deep armholes and a flaring skirt, this design, pattern 8437, is comfortable for working around the house.

But it's so pretty that, once you've worn it in crisp cottons like calico and gingham, you'll want it, too, in thin wool or sports knit for hasty shopping trips and runabout.

When a frock is as complementary to your figure as this one is, it's a shame to confine its wearing to the house and the kitchen.

The bosom fullness, outlined with braid in a way that suggests a bolero, and the sleek, princess line of the skirt, are becoming to practically everybody.

Pattern 8437 is such an easy dress to make that if you're a beginner, you should start with it. Pattern includes a detailed sewing chart.

Pattern 8437 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 14 requires 5 1/2 yards of 35-inch material, 3 1/2 yards of braid.

Send your order to the News-Review, Pattern Department, Roseburg, Oregon.

ADDELMAN-INGALLS WEDDING IS CHARMING AFFAIR IN TACOMA ON EASTER SUNDAY

The marriage of Miss Helen Adelman and Russell M. Ingalls, both of Roseburg, took place Easter Sunday afternoon, April 9th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben O. Hill at Tacoma. About sixty guests witnessed the impressive ceremony, which was followed by a large reception.

Gleaming white lilies against a background of wood ferns formed an improvised altar, before which the vows were read by Ben O. Hill, minister of the Church of Christ. Large bouquets of daffodils were used throughout the rooms.

Preceding the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hall, of Seattle, sang, "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. Ben Hill, who also played the wedding march.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white chiffon fashioned with a square neckline and full skirt. Her four-length veil was fastened with a circlet of orange blossoms and she carried an arm bouquet of pale pink roses and white sweet-peas. Mrs. Viola Fisher, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor and was attractive in a blue velvet gown and her flowers were of pink carnations.

Marion H. Ingalls, of Seattle, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

At the reception following the ceremony, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Lela Montgomery presided over the wedding collation, assisted by Mrs. William Hill and Mrs. Andrew Opdahl. Mrs. M. H. Ingalls served the bride's cake, Don Fisher, nephew of the bride, had charge of the guest book.

For her going-away costume, Mrs. Ingalls wore a chartruese suit with navy accessories.

Mrs. Ingalls is the daughter of Mrs. May Adelman and Mr. Ingalls is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ingalls, of Roseburg. Their new home will be made in Roseburg, where Mr. Ingalls is employed in a local store.
