HIGHWAY department surveys of traffic reveal the fact that the most travelled highway in Oregon is the four-lane route between Milwaukie and Portland. Daily 8,900 cars are using that artery. Actually that thoroughfare is almost within the city of Portland. But between Oregon City and Portland the same highway carries 6,000 cars each day.

Other traffic check figures reveal that the heavy traffic areas around Albany and Eugene carry 2,000 cars daily.

It is interesting to learn also that the curvy Section mountain section of the Pacific highway between Roseburg and Grants Pass is used by 1,000 cars daily.

Highway department officials have always declared that highway funds should be expended to care for the most traffic. The Pacific highway cities, especially Roseburg and Grants Pass, have contended for years that the section between those two cities carries a heavy traffic load. The recently released figures bear out that contention. A thousand autos a day over those curves in a pretty heavy traffic.

Figures from other sections serve to emphasize the Pacific highway group's contention that more attention should be given to the improvement of the route from Cottage Grove to Medford. The highly advertised and wonderfully beautiful coast highway in Oregon carries only one-half as much traffic as the Pacific highway between Grants Pass and Roseburg.

These figures show more clearly than any argument can, the importance of the Pacific highway.

pens, he looks almost sheepish.

It is springtime. There is courting to be done—and his smarter comrades are cutting him out with all the likeliest-looking lady sparrows. There are nests to be built.
There are worms to be dug. The streets are fairly littered with antomobiles, and their radiators are filled with juicy bugs to be had for the trifling effort of pecking them out. On every hand there is work to do and joys to be won.
But not for him. His life is pos-sioned until he lacks that sparrow that graces him from the hopper. So he turns his back on happiness and mope sadly in again.

IN a way, he is reminded of those foul dictators that are keeping us on a hot stove lid and wearing out all the big black type in the newspaper shops.

There people are yearning for peace and plenty. The WORLD is yearning for peace and plenty.
Plenty will COME WITH PEACE—just as it always has since the world began. IT WON'T COME WITHOUT PEACE. War means only suffering and privation and bottomless grief for everybody.
But THEY have to go on picnicking a fight—just like the chump of a sparrow outside this writer's office window.

PAYDAY COMES TO LOCAL GUARD UNIT

Co. D Has Opening for Two Recruits; Will Enter
Softball League.

Members of Co. D, 162nd infantry, Roseburg's national guard unit, this week were paid for attendance at drill during the first quarter of 1939. The total payroll amounting to $1,997. Receipt of pay for drills rounded out a busy week for the guardsmen, who on Monday evening entertained Major General George A. White and staff officers at a well-attended banquet, where General White presented the company with the Oregonian trophy. The award was given for the best drill attendance of any company in the state during the year 1938.

The Roseburg company, Captain Robert L. Irving, reports, has an opening for two recruits. Those who desire to take these positions will be enlisted immediately and not be required to wait several weeks for a vacancy. The requirements are that the recruit must be not less than 18 years of age, normal physical condition and a resident of the immediate vicinity of Roseburg in order to be able to attend drill assemblies each Monday night. Men interested in securing national guard training should contact First Sergeant Hubert E. Graham or First Lieutenant Milo E.
Godfrey as soon as possible in order to be eligible to attend the field training encampment at Camp Clatsop during the last two weeks of June. Sergeant Graham or Lieutenant Godfrey may be interviewed by interested persons either Monday or Thursday nights at the armory.

The guard unit is engaged in preparation for participation in the city softball league and declares its aggregation of players this year will be a decided threat.
Last year the team was without the services of a regular pitcher and also was handicapped by inability of members to attend games regularly. This year the team will have an experienced pitcher and arrangements have been made for transportation to and from games of out of town players.

CAMAS VALLEY

Mark Dick purchased a full blood Jersey bull calf from the owner of the dairy where he works on Coos river. He brought the calf home for his father to raise. It is eligible for registration.

Helen and Elizabeth Church, who both work in Roseburg, spent Thursday here at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Church.
Lester Frost of South Deer creek spent Sunday here visiting friends and relatives.

The summer-sender banquet is to be held at the school house Thursday evening.

There was quite a change in the weather the latter part of the week.
A cold wind blew for several days and rain threatened momentarily but none fell until Monday morning. Light showers continued through the day but not enough to be of much benefit to crops. Farmers are hoping for quite a rainfall before it is over.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson of Stikim brought Mr. and Mrs. G. L.
Cowan home from a business trip last Sunday. They were accompanied by their son, who is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilson at Winston before coming on to the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson and two sons and the boys' friends of North Bend called on friends in the valley Sunday afternoon and had dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Richter that evening before going home.

BEGIN CANNING NOW. SPRING REMINDER

Helpful Advice Offered as to Equipment to Be Used and Operations.

Spring is a "time reminder" that it is "Canning Season" again. Have you ever felt the desire to capture and keep all the goodness of the first spring fruits and vegetables?
We know you have, and the starting point is NOW. Plan the canning budget to include a good assessment of all products and this will mean well balanced meals all during the non-growing season, at a minimum expense. Plan to can the vegetables while they are young and tender and at the peak of their goodness. They will repay you many times in the "extra" flavor and texture.

Canning is simple and easy—and what homemaker does not thrill at the sight of a well stocked pantry with jars containing the very best of the season's crop? No extra or expensive equipment is needed. The equipment found in the average home kitchen is sufficient. If correct canning principles are not thoroughly understood, this information can be obtained in bulletin form from a number of reliable sources.

"Perhaps of first importance is the product itself. Vegetables should be young and tender and freshly gathered. Fruits should be uniformly ripe and sound. The product must be handled in as clean a manner as possible, and it is important that vegetables be thoroughly washed before preparing them for the canning procedure.

Good Material Essential Good fruit jars and jar caps are very important to successful canning. It is poor economy to rely on a jar or cap that does not offer the assurance of an airtight seal. This feature is not only desirable but necessary to prevent spoilage of the canned food. It is always a good plan to assemble most of the canning equipment and the jars and caps the day before the canning is done. Carefully inspect jars and caps for any defects that might prevent a seal.
You will find the Kerr two-piece "Self-Sealing" caps ideal. They are simple and easy to use and can be tested 24 hours after the canning is done to determine a seal. The sealing edge of jars on which the two-piece "Self-Sealing" caps are used should be inspected for nicks, cracks and sharp edges.
The cap is placed on the jar as soon as it is filled with the product and the screw band tightened firmly tight before jars are placed in the canner to process. This can-ner requires no further adjusting at the end of the processing period, thus eliminating a step in canning that is a dreaded one because the hot jars are difficult to handle immediately upon removing from the canner.

Let's make the winter of 1939 a more pleasant one by canning a plentiful supply of each fruit and vegetable as it comes in season. This will give us a well stocked pantry and a year's outlook for well balanced meals that will keep the family in good health. The problem of unexpected company, too, will be solved.
The following recipes will start you on your canning budget.

Asparagus
Wash in cold water, tie in bundles, place with tips up in boiling water to cover lower tough portions. Cover vessel tightly. Pre-cook 3 minutes. Drain, pack into clean sterilized Kerr jars, tips up. Add 3 teaspoonful of salt to each pint jar if desired, fill jar to within 1 inch of top with water in which vegetable was precooked, or boiling water. Put on can, screwing band firmly tight. Process in pressure cooker 10 minutes at 10 pounds; or in water bath, 180 minutes; or in oven 210 minutes at 250 degrees.

Rhubarb (Open Kettle)
Wash, cut in convenient lengths without removing the skin. Boil in No. 2 syrup until tender. Pack into sterilized Kerr jars and seal.
Cherries (Cold Pack)
Wash, stem, pit if desired. Pack into clean Kerr jars, fill to within 13 inches of top with No. 2 or No. 3 syrup, depending on the sweetness of the cherries. Put on cap, screwing band firmly tight.
Process in water bath 20 minutes; or in oven 65 minutes at 250 degrees; or in pressure cooker 10 minutes at 5 pounds.

Berries (Cold Pack)
(All except strawberries) Wash and stem berries. Pack into clean Kerr jars. Add No. 2 syrup to within 13 inches of top or if an ascorbic desired, merely fill jar within 1 inch of top with water and not on cap, screwing band firmly tight. Process in water bath 20 minutes; or in oven 65 minutes at 250 degrees; or in pressure cooker 8 minutes at 5 pounds.

Strawberries (Will Not Float)
1 pound strawberries 1 cup sliced berry juice Boil together sugar and strawberry juice. Cool and add the whole strawberries, then boil 5 minutes. Cover the vessel and set aside for at least four hours or overnight. Pack into clean Kerr jars, filling to within 1 inch of top. Put on cap, screwing band firmly tight. Process in water bath 15 minutes or in oven for 45 minutes at 250 degrees. (For sift jars.)

Greens, Beets, Mustard Greens and all Edible Greens Wash carefully and precook in live steam in a cheesecloth bag or a wire basket until wilted. Cut into size and pack at once into clean Kerr jars, being careful not to press too tightly. Add 1 teaspoon of salt if desired to each quart jar and fill to within 1 inch of top with boiling water. Put on cap, screwing band firmly tight.
Process in pressure cooker 30 minutes at 10 pounds; or in water

minutes at 250 degrees.

signed in Roseburg, Oregon, on the 12th day of May, 1939, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which place and time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Dated at Roseburg, Ore., this 28th day of April, 1939.

C. L. HAMILTON,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
