THE reaction to newspaper comment about the visit of the king and queen of England is most interesting. A number of people have expressed rather sharp criticism of this newspaper for the cautious comments that have appeared in these columns. We feel compelled to point out to those people that what has been said has been friendly—but frank. To discuss plainly the reasons for the visit and the nature of it does not detract from the fact that the event is important, unprecedented and history making.

But the facts are what they are.
In this self-governing democracy of ours we can best make our declarations after having first obtained all possible information bearing upon any problem under consideration.

The great question, which has already been pretty well decided for us by the administration, is whether or not we shall align ourselves definitely and positively as an ally with Great Britain and France in a great war that may one day come. The British royal tour is a goodwill mission for the plain purpose of cementing our already friendly relationship. The democracies do not want us to wait for three years when the next war comes. They want us with them from the very beginning.
That is natural. If the visit from the king and queen can help assure that it will have accomplished a great, though unspoken, objective.

There can be little honest objection to England's doing this. If the British government did not make every possible effort to enlist this country, it would not be a wise government. But it is important that we know what is going on. Then, possessed of the facts, if we decide to jump into the fray we shall at least have the comfort of knowing that we did it with our eyes open and were not lead blindly into war. That is one reason why this newspaper speaks with candor on the subject of this visit of British royalty to the American continent.

Germs present in their bodies apparently become dormant.

When awakened, they are greatly refreshed and rested. Oddly, this treatment appears to have good effects on seemingly hopeless cancers. Physicians say it is a new tool for them to use—though as yet they do not know just what they can do with it.

They suspect they may be able to use it to REST THE HEART, and thus prolong human life.

THAT is an utterly new thing in the world. Absolutely never known before. Its possibilities may be tremendous. These possibilities appear to be wholly for HUMAN GOOD.

WHILE the doctors (as they have been) since ancient times have been planning for greater human good, the doctors are planning for greater human destruction and misery. Doctors have been doing that ever since ONE MAN first observed the power of life and death over many men.

It is a strange strange world we live in, isn't it?

ELDERLY WALKER IS TRAFFIC PROBLEM

97 Pedestrians Killed in Oregon in 1938; Safety Campaign Launched.

Safety councils, civic organizations, lodges, churches, and others were invited to participate in a statewide drive launched by Earl Snell, secretary of state, for the purpose of making highways and streets of Oregon safer for the elderly pedestrian today.

"One of the greatest problems in any traffic safety program today is the toll of injury and death involving elderly pedestrians," Mr. Snell said, as he urged widespread participation in the campaign to reduce this type of accident. "National as well as state figures show that accidents of this classification constitute a black spot on any traffic safety map. They must be eliminated."

During the year 1938 a total of 97 pedestrians met death on Ore-gon's streets and highways and of this total 54 per cent were approximately 60 years of age or over, figures compiled by the traffic division of the secretary of state's office reveal.

This trend is being continued in 1939 when for the first three months, 61 per cent of pedestrians killed were in this age classification.

The tendency for elderly persons to be involved in pedestrian accidents is shown by the fact that, according to the last federal census, persons of 65 or over constituted 7.1 per cent of the total population while during 1938 persons in this age classification constituted 10 per cent of the total pedestrians involved in traffic accidents, Mr.
Snell said.

A study of pedestrian accidents shows that street intersections are the most likely spot for them to occur. Thirty-one per cent of such accidents occurred at intersections during 1938 and for the first three months of 1939 there have been 137 pedestrian accidents at intersections.

Caution, Sense Required
A major phase of the campaign will be to stress the value of caution, common sense and ordinary good judgment on the part of both pedestrians and motorists at intersections and other spots where these accidents occur. Snell declared. Motorists are inclined to feel that pedestrians are a nuisance and a hazard to traffic while pedestrians frequently think the motorist is a traffic bully who roars through the streets without any thought for the rights of others, he said. Or all the pedestrians favor ed in accidents in 1938, 47 per cent of them were at fault, the figures show.

Pedestrians were urged to observe extreme caution at intersections, watching for traffic signals and other signs and to observe all traffic rules while walking on the streets and highways. Motorists were urged to remember the pe-destrian's rights and to exercise caution in pedestrian areas.
"It is not good manners for the pedestrian to hold up volunteer traffic and it is not good manners for motorists to threaten the safety of pedestrians," Mr. Snell said. "Application of caution, common sense and good manners will do much to eliminate this type of accident."

OUT OUR WAY

THE TROUBLE WITH EXAMPLES

By Williams

Daily Devotions DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

I wonder sometimes if we really search the Scriptures, or do we only read superficially. Jesus said they testify of Him, that is, they tell of about Him.
There are things about Jesus in all the Scriptures, not in one book alone, but in all the Bible.
So there is much for us to find.
Jesus gave us the power of God, and our responsibility is His. He said, "Search." He did not say merely read, "for they testify of Me." Again He said "the words that I speak unto you they are spirit and they are life." They truly are life-giving words and we need them to dwell in as richly and to be the guide and the inspiration of our whole life, and the very music of our lives will bring glory to God and good will to men.
Help us, dear Father, to study Thy Word, that we may have eternal life abiding in us, for Thy Word is truth and the truth shall make us free. We ask it in Jesus' name, and for His sake, Amen.

NICARAGUA GETS U. S. CREDIT GRANT

WASHINGTON, May 22—(AP)— President Roosevelt and President Pratt of Nicaragua signed an agreement today to extend credit to Nicaragua to the United States government.

Of the total, $2,000,000 would be used to aid in improving Nicaragua's transportation facilities and in the development of other projects designed to increase the productive capacity of the Nicaraguan people and their trade with the United States.

In a letter to President Sumner, leader of the white house, Warren Lee Merritt, export-import bank president, said the institution would cooperate with United States manufacturers and exporters and with the Nicaraguan government in arranging for the af-franchising to the United States of equipment, materials and technical services not available in Nic-ragua.

RAMBLINGS

By PAUL JENKINS

WHEN my husband's father, Robert Woodruff, came to this part of the country in the "early days," Mrs. Woodruff told me yesterday, "most of these hills were bare of timber and brush."
Now look at them!
Of course, there were some fine stands of old growth fir here and there. But I suppose the Indians fired the grass often enough to keep the smaller stuff pretty well killed out.

To look at it now, you'd never suspect that at one time the Melrose country was barren of brush and timber. Now it is universally covered with scrub oak, laurel, second growth fir and many other varieties of trees and shrubs. The farmers there—and the district has hundreds of farms—continually have to fight the encroachments of the pestiferous growth.

For a great many years this wood has been the major source of Roseburg's fuel supply, but even that is changing. Residents tell me that since the installation in town of so many sawdust burners, they are finding it increasingly difficult to market stove wood.

Progress—the invention, manufacture and sale of the hundreds of mechanical goods we now regard as commonplaces—has made the farmer's lot more pleasant in many ways; but it scarcely has benefited him economically. I'm not an economist, with a brain the size of an apple box, so I can't tell you what it all is going to lead to, but I surmise that the farmer gets little more for his produce now

CINCINNATI WINS 7 GAMES IN ROW

Runners Up Give St. Louis Close Race in National; Shakeup Aids Giants.

By SID FEEHER
Associated Press Sports Writer Somebody must have told those Cincinnati Reds they look like the Yankees. So now they're out proving it.

The Red Menace is riding high, wide and handsome on a seven-game winning streak right now, compelled just like the world champions to it—on (1) steady pitching and (2) good old fashioned apple-knocking.

Of course, St. Louis' re-gressed Cardinals are still leading the National league on the strength of a 2-1 victory over the Phillies yesterday. But the hot breath of that Cincinnati locomotive is bearing down the run-home man's neck.

Lefty Lee Grieson took his second win of the club's current victory streak yesterday, beating the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-3.

The Yanks couldn't add to their string yesterday, for rain washed out their game with Cleveland's Indians in the fifth inning. The Tribes might have put the damage on the win streak for the Bronx bombers were on the short end of a 3-2 count when old man weather stepped in. But the Yanks were started in their fifth had one run in two men on base and no out.

Terry shook up his New York Giants lineup, benching Catcher Danning and First-Sacker Bonura in favor of Ken O'Lea and Johnny McCarthy, and the results were astonishing. The Giants won a ball game. They manhandled the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-2, behind the six-bit elbowing of Schumacher. The Boston Bees avenged their series with the Chicago Cubs by finishing on top, 6-5.

Cliff and Muzzetta walked home to give the St. Louis Browns a 6-2 decision over the Athletics ending the A's four-game win streak. The rest of the American league card was rained out.

EXHIBITION GAME WON BY BEAVERS

BREMERTON, May 22—(AP)— The Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League scored a 6-2 victory over the Northwest League Bremerton Cruisers in an exhibition game last night.

The contest was featured by home runs by Manager Sweeney and Monzo of the Beavers and Austin of the Cruisers.

The score:

men to three hits and struck out 19

MISS GAVIN'S BODY SHIPPED TO DENVER

The body of Miss Marjorie Garvin, who died here Saturday, was erans facility here, died very suddenly following a short illness.

Revelation of the Rosary was conducted by Father Edmund Hyland of St. Joseph's Catholic church at the Roseburg Undertaking company

JURY TRIAL STILL ON IN COURT HERE

Circuit court continued today to grind away on its one and only case for the May term. The suit is an action brought by Rex Dick of Cannon Valley against the state industrial accident commission to determine the extent of an arm injury, resulting from a logging accident. The court is being asked to set the degree of injury suffered by Dick as a basis for compensation.

ROSEBURG RESIDENT TO HAVE NEW HOME

Construction of a new residence is being started at 312 E. Cass street by Mrs. M. F. Rice, who will move from her present home on South Jackson street upon completion of the new building. An old two-story frame structure is being razed to be replaced by an a-frame studio home, which will provide an upstairs apartment in addition to the living quarters to be occupied by Mrs. Rice on the lower floor. The construction contract has been awarded to John Ruyman.
