U. S. KEEPS LEAD IN OUTPUT OF OIL

By the AP Feature Service

While European powers maneuver for control of petroleum needed for mechanized warfare, vaster and vaster quantities well up from United States sands.

Production records for 1938 show Uncle Sam far ahead, with 1,200,883,000 barrels of crude oil. The next biggest producer, Soviet Russia, pumped less than one-fifth that amount.

A survey by the Oil and Gas Journal shows 217 oil fields discovered in this country last year, the greatest number in Texas. There was intense activity in Kansas, too, the new southern Illinois field, in Oklahoma, and in Louisiana.

Of the 27,149 wells completed in 1938 the Journal reports, 19,121 produced oil, 1,955 produced gas and about 6,000 were dry holes.

Uncle Sam's neighbors had a good share in the estimated world yield of 1,995,096,000 barrels in 1938. Venezuela ranked third in the world, Mexico seventh, and Colombia, Trinidad, Argentina, and Peru ninth to twelfth.

Little oil came from wells of the Rome-Berlin axis, Germany, with Austria, produced 4,125,000 barrels and Italy 105,000 barrels. But the Oil and Gas Journal said that location of "70 or 80 salt domes in Germany" may mean accelerated production in the future.

Rumania, whose oil resources figured in rumors of German expansion, was sixth in the world list.

Other possible objectives of any "march to the east" by the axis—Iran and Iraq—rank high in the production list.

I'M GLAD I GOT MAD

"Somewhere the children had found a piece of chocolate. Before I knew what happened the car was a mess. I lost my temper. I swung into the first service station and actually yanked Mary and Jim out of the car."

"I guess I created a bit of a scene because by the time I was through cleaning up the children (in the comfort station) the dealer had cleaned all the glass and was doing his best to clean the upholstery. That's how I discovered Associated service. And that's why I'm glad I got mad..."

100 ASSOCIATED STAMPS!

The new series of Associated Roads to Romance Stamps of the West is now being distributed by Smiling Associated Dealers. You may collect 100 fascinating subjects and a free Stamp Book in which to place them. It's fun—it's educational.

I FOUND THE KIND OF SERVICE THE WHOLE FAMILY LIKES

"I don't fuss about the windows any more. Dad doesn't worry about lubrication, the boys at the station keep a careful record of the things the car needs and when it needs them. The children are stamp collecting—and happy. When a family meeting place is needed it's—'meet you at the service station.' When our friends are driving down to see us for the first time it's—'ask the boys at the Associated Station.' We have our station and we like it."

Yes, the whole family finds values in friendly Associated service—especially when the gas and oil that this "service" puts in the tank and the crankcase makes the family car run better.

You'll find that an important part of Smiling Associated Service is Flying A and Aviation Ethyl gasolines, Veedol and Tydol Motor Oils.
