ANGELENOS REGAIN COAST LEAGUE TOP

By The Associated Press It's four times now that those rampaging Rainiers from Seattle have replaced Los Angeles at the top of the Pacific Coast League.

The Stars nipped Seattle at Hollywood, 4 to 3, on Norman's ninth-inning single that scored Uhalt. Webber pitched the full route for Seattle, allowing 12 hits, while Moneriel and Blitzer gave up white to the visitors.

Thomas pitched five-hit ball at San Diego as the Angels blanked the Padres, 7 to 0. Los Angeles scored four runs in the third, sending Craighead from the hill. Outfielder Dallessandro of San Diego made it 15 consecutive games he has hit safely, getting two of his club's five hits.

Low Angeles went into the lead by a half game. The Angels and Rainiers haven't been more than a game and a half apart since early June.

At Sacramento, the rejuvenated Senators nipped San Francisco's slipping Seals, 2 to 1, with a ninth-inning single by Manager Borgmann, whose sacrifice fly in the fourth scored his team's other run also. The victory was Sacramento's sixth straight, and fourth in a row over the Seals.

Oaks Defeat Beavers Oakland scored twice in the eighth off Relief Pitcher Birkofer to nip Portland, 6 to 5, at Oakland. The Oaks got 14 hits off Thomas and Birkofer, who took over in the seventh.

The clubs play a split series this week. Tonight Hollywood meets Sacramento at the latter's park. Oakland entertains Seattle and Portland plays at Los Angeles. San Diego and San Francisco will sit this one out, playing a double-header at San Diego tomorrow.

DRAIN, July 7.—The first of a series of monthly meetings of the Southern Oregon Archery association was held Sunday at Drain upon the invitation of the Drain archers.

Dr. Boatman of Roseburg came in first with a score of 585 in the men's American round. Second place went to James Damswood of Drain with a score of 491, and Lon Applegate of Drain was third with 472.

The ladies shot a Columbia round with Mrs. Melvin Damswood of Drain scoring in first place with 495. Mrs. E. L. Ehrlich, Roseburg, 359, and Mrs. Ted Roadman, 315.

The afternoon was spent playing archery golf. As only two of the archers had played previously, the event was especially enjoyable to those participating.

It has been planned to hold a meet once each month and the next meeting probably will be held at Winchester.

CINCY OUTHIT BUT DOWNS CARDINALS

By The Associated Press The Cincinnati Reds came from behind last night to snare the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4. Derringer was shugged for 14 hits, including seven for extra bases, of which Mize's 15th homer of the season was the climax. But the Reds made the most of their nine knocks.

The Pittsburgh Pirates doused Dizzy Dean into the first defeat of the season, 7-2, with a 13-hit attack which was shouldered by Larry French after he relieved Dean in the fourth. Klinger was imprudent except for one inning when Hack singled with runners on second and third.

The other National League clubs had an open date as did the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox in the American.

Knott of the White Sox came up with a five-hit pitching job to beat Cleveland, 8-1. It was the Indians' third loss in a row.

The Tigers, who moved into third place Wednesday while idle, took advantage of the opportunity to strengthen their position by outslugging the St. Louis Browns to win 9-5. Seven pitchers saw action in the 37-hit game which was decided by Detroit's four-run flurry in the eighth.

Philadelphia ponced on the Senators, 9-2, in a slight game to break a six-game losing streak.

'GOON' PROSECUTOR NEARS END OF JOB

Ralph Moody May be Hired, However, to Finish Up 3 Pending Cases.

SALEM, July 7.—(AP)—His work nearly completed, Ralph K. Moody, leader of the state's war on labor terrorism in which 120 persons were arrested on 233 charges, was finishing his job today.

Gov. Charles A. Sprague said Moody would finish his job as state coordinator on August 1, but the governor added that Moody might be retained later to finish up the three pending cases.

On March 7, 1938, former Gov. Charles H. Martin hired Moody, who had been assistant state attorney general for five years, to assist district attorneys to prepare and prosecute the cases. Moody has received $500 a month for this work.

Shortly after Moody took office, a big parade of labor terrorists started toward the state penitentiary and county jails.

Yesterday was the biggest day in the 16 months Moody has been coordinator, because Albert Earl Rosser, former AFL teamster secretary for Oregon who was sentenced to 12 years in prison for complicity in burning the Salem box factory, became No. 15,328 at the penitentiary. Tomorrow Rosser will be finger-printed, and Monday he will start work on the prison sawdust pile.

Cases Still Pending Besides Rosser's appeal to the United States supreme court, the only unfinished business is the retrial of Jack Estabrook, former secretary of Portland AFL warehousemen who was charged with bombing a Washington county beer tavern; and the appeal of Hugh Reynolds, former secretary of Eugene teamsters who was convicted of perjury.

Estabrook disagreed twice before convicting Estabrook, but the state supreme court reversed the case, so Estabrook must be tried for a fourth time. Reynolds was convicted of breaking windows of a non-union barber shop but the state supreme court reversed the case. Reynolds then was convicted of perjury in connection with his testimony in the window-breaking case.

The governor said Moody might be called back to assist in the Rosser, Estabrook and Reynolds cases.

Further Menace Seen Moody doesn't think the state is yet safe from a "recurrence of the reign of labor terrorism," and he suggests that legislation is needed to protect labor union members from raids on their treasury, to protect industry from destruction of property, and to protect the public from the blockading of shipping and commerce.

He thinks, however, that the union control law, passed by the voters last November, was a long step toward this objective.

Moody served as assistant United States attorney general under President Harding, and as assistant state attorney general he led the successful fight to outlaw pinball games and slot machines in Oregon.

FLOODS MENACING TOWNS IN ALASKA

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 7.—(AP)—A fifth western Alaska community was reported today to be threatened by a rampant river.

Ed Wells reported on his return to Fairbanks by airplane that the town of Alafna was threatened by the Koyukuk river, a lower Yukon tributary. He said the stream had eaten away 20 feet of bank and had forced the moving of several homes.

Previous reports said the Yukon was washing the bank dangerously at Tannana, Koyukuk and Holy Cross.

FALL KILLS YALE POLO TEAM'S HEAD

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—C. Mott Woolley, 32, captain of the 1939 Yale university polo team, died of concussion of the brain at the Neurological Institute today after a spill from his pony during a polo match yesterday at Meadowbrook field, Long Island.

He was the son of Clarence M. Woolley, retired president and chairman of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation.

ROSSER REFUSED PERMIT TO APPEAL

SALEM, July 6.—(AP)—The state supreme court refused today to issue an order to allow Albert Earl Rosser to appeal to the United States supreme court, paying the way for Rosser to be taken to the state penitentiary.

The state supreme court also refused Rosser's petition that the court withhold its final mandate for 90 days.

Rosser's attorneys, George and John Mowry of Portland, then said they would ask the United States supreme court to reverse Rosser's arson conviction, for which he was sentenced to 12 years in prison for complicity in burning the Salem box factory. Rosser formerly was secretary for Oregon AFL teamsters.

Before the highest court could consider the appeal, however, Rosser's attorneys would have to obtain an order permitting appeal from United States Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, assigned to the ninth circuit district. If Justice Reed refused, then the attorneys could ask any of the other eight justices.

If the United States supreme court refuses to give the order permitting Rosser to appeal, he then would lose his last hope of freedom. Rosser, now in jail in Portland, has been in jail 17 months. The time spent in jail does not count toward the prison sentence.

PHYSICIAN LEAVES HYGIENE BEQUEST

PORTLAND, July 7.—(AP)—A bequest of $300,000 for social hygiene education in Oregon was contained in the will of Dr. E. G. Brown, Portland, who died July 1. The will was admitted to probate yesterday.

Dr. Brown, a bachelor, provided for relatives before his death and the bulk of the estate, estimated at between $225,000 and $400,000, went into the fund. The president of the University of Oregon was selected to direct expenditure of the money.

The will also left $20,000 to the American Sunday School union, Philadelphia, Pa., as an endowment fund for the support of missionary work in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and $10,000 each for YMCA units at University of Oregon and Oregon State college.

Dr. Brown was survived by two brothers, Samuel Brown, Canby, and William W. Brown, Salem, and a sister, Sarah J. Radcoy, Turlock, Calif.
