REV. AND MRS. SMITH HONORED AT FAREWELL POTLUCK SUPPER MONDAY

Rev. and Mrs. S. Raynor Smith and sons, Raynor, Jr., and Nevitt, were guests of honor at a very delightful six-thirty o'clock potluck supper and farewell reception sponsored by the Wesley Bible class at the Methodist Episcopal church pavers Monday evening. Over one hundred friends gathered at the church in honor of the Smith family.

Beautiful bouquets of summer flowers were used to decorate the long tables. Ministers of the Roseburg churches were present and each gave short humorous and inspiring talks and Attorney Paul Geddes, very capably, acted as toastmaster.

Those participating in the impromptu program included: Rev. Percy Smith, of St. George's Episcopal church; Dr. Morris H. Roach, of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. Prabh, of the Baptist church; Rev. A. J. Starmer, of the M. E. church; South Rev. Trick, Sutherland M. E. church; Dr. Charles A. Edwards, retired Methodist minister, and responses by Rev. and Mrs. S. Raynor Smith.

Mrs. Earl Wiley, president of the Methodist Episcopal ladies, gave a talk on the aid and stated that although the local aid was disappointed to have the Smiths move away, that Salem would gain by their residence. Mrs. Wiley is a former member of the Jason Lee church in Salem, where Rev. Mr. Smith has been transferred.

Mrs. A. J. Geddes, representing the Sunday school, and Mrs. H. A. Canaday, representing the missionary society, gave short talks. Two pleasing vocal duets were presented by Mrs. Harold McKay and Mrs. A. J. Ellison; reading by Miss Margaret Page; solo by Dr. Paul Trueblood; reading by Miss Adeline Stewart; farewell address and presentation of a beautiful silver pitcher to Rev. and Mrs. S. Raynor Smith from the church, with Rev. H. A. Canaday making the presentation. In conclusion, J. E. McClintock, teacher of the Wesley Bible class, requested the group to sing, "God Will Take Care of You," with Vera McClintock Jones singing the verses and the guests joining in the choruses.

Prinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Prinson, Sr., of Roseburg, were married at a beautiful and impressive service at eight o'clock Saturday morning, July 1, at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Rev. Father Leo Sheehan performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and close friends. At the close of the ceremony Father Sheehan read the nuptial mass. Pat Fyfe and Richard Otto acted as acolytes for the occasion.

The church was lovely with white and pink flowers and the pews were marked by white streamers and bows. Mrs. Hedwig Watzig played the organ during the ceremony and vocal selections were presented by John Sage and Miss Mary Ann Watzig.

The bride, beautiful in a white marquisette wedding gown embroidered in white satin and fashioned with a short train, was given in marriage by her father, Valentine Gallantz. She wore her sister's, Mrs. J. Enshelm, of Minneapolis, Minn., wedding veil. Her dress was fashioned with short puffed sleeves and she wore long lace glove mitts and carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Mary Tebeliang, of Minneapolis, Minn., a niece of the bride, was maid of honor and was attractive in a peach-colored marquisette frock, fashioned with short puffed sleeves and floor-length skirt. Her Colonial bouquet was of blue sweetpeas and she wore a blue flower wreath in her hair. Miss Dernaide Prinson, sister of the groom, was best woman and carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

the bridegroom, was lovely in a blue chiffon floor-length frock, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of salmon-colored sweetpeas and matching wreath in her hair.

Richard Prinson acted as best man to his brother and Robert Tebeliang, nephew of the bride, and Leslie Covert were ushers, with little Agnes Fyfe, in a pretty pastel-colored frock, as flower girl. The bride's mother wore a blue lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of gladioli buds.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast and reception was held at the parish hall on North Kane street. The beautifully decorated bride's cake was cut by the bride. Vocal selections were presented at the reception by Mary Ann Watzig, John Sage, Esther Leo Sheehan and Mrs. Valentine Gallantz, accompanied by Mrs. Watzig. Covers were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Prinson, Rev. Father Leo Sheehan, Rev. Father Edmund Hyland, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Gallantz, parents of the bride; Mrs. J. Tebeliang and daughter, Miss Mary, and son, Robert, of Minneapolis, Minn.; I. Assisting in service were Mary Ann and Cecelia Watzig, Genevieve Hargis, Erika Brust and Evangeline Fyfe.

Following the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Prinson left for Portland and enroute to their honeymoon. The bride chose as her going away costume, a black tailored suit with matching top coat trimmed in panels of fur. Her black felt hat, gloves, shoes and purse were trimmed in black patent leather. Her corsage was of sweetpeas and pastel summer blossoms arranged with fern and her blouse was dusty rose.

Upon their return from the coast, Mr. and Mrs. Prinson are at home to their friends at the Kohlhagen apartments, until their residence in Oaks addition is completed.

The bride is well known here, where she is a popular member of the younger set. She was graduated from the Roseburg high school in 1932 and was employed at the Mercy hospital and later in Eugene, after which she returned to Brockway to make her home with her parents. Mr. Prinson, who is also well known here, attended the local high school, Mt. Angel school and later attended engineering school in San Francisco. He is employed here by local building contractors.

SUNDAY IS THE DAY HOLLYWOOD WEARS

IT'S OWN CLOTHES, NOT THE STUDIO'S STARS' FORMAL FROCKS SHOW GROWING TAHITIAN INFLUENCE

By LUCIE NEVILLE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Sunday isn't a day of rest in Hollywood; it's a day of exercise, the only time when movie people have time to enjoy their pools and tennis courts. And since there isn't any such thing as a Saturday afternoon off, Sunday is the big day for entertaining.

People here dress formally more for the fun of getting around in picture hats than anything else. Six-dollar ordinary parties are our 6,000-dollar parties, wearing up what movie people call "patio-pictures, and you wear what you please."

The greatest influence these formal parties have had since it began to wear even. Perhaps it's because women and the show business world aren't as cute as they used to be when they were young. They are in casual prints, all sorts of silks, and glissades in every size color, as they can find. And instead of trimmings, which were a necessity in those times, or a lot of ornaments—often are worn with these simple dresses.

Everybody is pretty tired of the Mexican motif, with its embroidered, patterned, there is some imitation last Chinese styles will come in play; they're already wearing the straight, up-and-down trousers that reach well above the ankle bone, but just now Tahiti is the favorite. The tropical flowers in vibrant colors look well on tanned skins, and Calceolaria flowers are cheap and fragrant and with in color.

With Flowers in Her Hair
At Gale Page's bon voyage party for Lala Lane, sailing for Honolulu, both hostess and honoree went Tahitian. Miss Page's long-sleeved frock was a gray and blue Hawaiian print. Miss Lane wore a red and white patterned blouse with full cut trousers of white tropical cloth; red carnations in her dark hair and a lei of the same flowers matched the blouse.

For her out-of-doors suppers, Binnie Barnes wears a cool frock of thin, smooth silk. Small flowers are widely spaced on a white background and there is no trimming to detract from the graceful lines. The yards-wide fan-pleated skirt is trimly gathered into a slim, long waistline and the draped bodice has simple, loose sleeves. Note an old fashion that's new—the parasol.

Anna Neagle, British star of "Nurse Edith Cavell," wears a garden frock from her own wardrobe—a cotton striped like peppermint candy in white and two shades of pink. Tiny pearl buttons trim the triangles of the white plique collar. A cartwheel hat of fine white straw, with a creased crown, is banded in black velvet ribbon.
