Today's Pattern

Clever Design Gives You Two Sports Outfits
By CAROL DAY

You can solve more than one vacation problem with clever Pattern 8542 and look just as gay and young as you like.

The play suit, with pleated shorts and shirtwaist top, is mighty comfortable and attractive for active sports. By fastening the separate skirt about your waist, you transform it into a smart new version of the button-front day frock, with the puff sleeves, bloused waistline and braided edging.

And, of course, you can wear the charming design with sports shoes, too. So you can see what a useful frock it is. Choose linen, gingham, calico, pique or percale for this design.

Pattern 8542 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Size 14 requires 2 1/2 yards of 35-inch material for play suit; 3 yards for skirt. In monochrome, 5 1/2 yards are required, 35 or 39 inches wide; 2 1/2 yards broad required to trim. Collar in contrast takes 1 1/2 yard.

The new SPRING AND SUMMER PATTERN BOOK, 32 pages of attractive designs for every size and every occasion is now ready. Photographs show dresses made from these patterns being worn; a feature you will enjoy. Let the charming designs in this new book help you in your sewing. One pattern and the new Spring and Summer Pattern Book—25 cents.

Pattern or book alone—15 cents. Send your order to the News-Review, Pattern Department, Roseburg, Oregon.

and "Mad Gun Mesa," by Francis W. Hixon. Children's books received are: "Forest Friends," from "Snow White" by Walt Disney; "Raggedy Andy" by Johnny Gruelle; "Mother Carey's Chickens," by Kate Douglas Wiggin; "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," by Grimm Bros.; "The Button Book," by Elizabeth Daniels; "The Bashful Goldfish," by Tony Brice; "The Adventures of a Brownie," by Dinah Craik; "Paul Bunyan and His Big Blue Ox," by R. D. Handy; "The Story of Silky," by J. Van Dresser; "Four Little Puppies," a book of photos by H. W. Froese, and the "Widow O'Callahan's Boys," by Guilelma Bollinger.

POET'S CORNER

NO LOVE IN VAIN

By G. M. Leeper
Think not of me
In my sorrow;
Sadness holds
But little gain.
And when the raindrops
Come tomorrow
We, perhaps, will love
The rain.

Think not of me
In my sorrow;
Sadness holds
More loss than gain.
And when the sunshine
Comes tomorrow
We will think
No love in vain.

All public gathering places were ordered closed yesterday for a two-week period and the valley placed on a quarantine basis to check the spread of the disease.

Senators Johnson, Borah Still Fight As Winning Team

By BRUCE CATTON
News-Review Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26.—They have lived through 26 busy, eventful years since they led the senate's "battalion of death" in its fight on Woodrow Wilson's league of nations, and the years have left their mark on both of them. But William E. Borah and Hiram Johnson stand today exactly where they stood two decades ago, making the same kind of fight, and from all present indications, winning the same kind of victory.

Borah was a black-maned, lion-voiced stalwart in 1915, when Woodrow Wilson came back from Paris and offered his country a policy of international co-operation, and Johnson was like him (except for the black mane). They were in their early fifties then, a year apart in age, and at the very height of their powers.

Today everything is different—except for whatever it is inside of the heads and hearts of two stout fighters who make them set up ideals and stick to them.

Tactics Differ Today

The president they fought in 1915 has been in his grave for more than 15 years and more. The league of nations they fought is moribund. The senators who joined forces with them are gone—wasplish Jim Reed of Missouri, vindictive Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, stout Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin. In their places are men who were not in the senate then at all, men whom the public had not heard of. Bennett Clark of Missouri, Gerald Nye of North Dakota, Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, and another Bob LaFollette.

The fight itself is different, in a way.

In 1915 and 1920 the league and the Versailles treaty were attacked from the senate floor day in and day out, in resounding oratory. This year the attack on the president's foreign policy is less spectacular. It has produced some oratory, but it has been more a matter of quiet strategy, of off-the-floor organization, of effective work in conference and committee.

There is less bitterness to it, too. Both Lodge and Reed had Woodrow Wilson with a passionate, flaming hatred. That may not have influenced their attitude in the league fight, but it colored their manner of fighting. Wilson himself, a later date, struck back in the same way. The fighting on both sides was tense and vindictive.

Personal Feeling Not So Hot

Today, although there are many senators who do not love Franklin Roosevelt, this bitter personal feeling is less in evidence. When the personal equation enters into the fight, it comes in largely as a feeling that the president is temperamentally unsuited to the task of exercising the delicate powers which revision of the neutrality laws would give him.

Last of all, Senators Borah and Johnson have changed.

They are in their seventies now. Johnson's hair is white; Borah's is no longer the black, lionine mane that enthralled gallery visitors in the old days. The years have put their mark on them; have taken them past the time when either man might dream of occupying the white house himself some day (either or both might easily have done so, once, had luck been just a little different), have robbed their steps of their spring, and touched the timber of their voices.

Yet inside, nothing has changed. They stand now where they stood 26 years ago, still fighting—and still the kind of fighters who are likely to win.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Cakes—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile isn't flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name, 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.
