the voters than economizing.
There's only one way to stop reckless and ultimately disastrous spending. When the voters begin to DEFEAT congressmen who have voted to spend the nation's money recklessly, reckless spending WILL CEASE.

But not until then, in these days when politicians are numerous and statesmen are scarce ultimate financial disaster to the nation isn't worrying the majority in congress.

QUESTION:
If you had a pump that had to be primed every time you needed water and would then give back only as much water as was poured into it to prime it, what would you do?

ANSWER:
You'd soon quit wasting water priming it and would either fix the pump or get a new one.

CITY EMPLOYEE IS BURNED BY ASPHALT

Erwin Short, employed with the city street department, suffered severe burns on the face and hands Saturday, when he was splashed with hot asphalt. He was engaged in filling the melting pot of the paving plant when a piece of asphalt broke from a large section of cold material causing a splash which covered his face and hands.

OUT OUR WAY

CINCY WINS THIRD TWIN BILL IN ROW

Cards Regain Second Spot; Hutchinson Chalks Up First Victory.

By BILL WHITE

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Yesterday the Cincinnati Reds won their third consecutive double-header and their fourth in a week. Walters won his 18th victory by 9-2 and Myers closed a four-run ninth inning homer for a 5-1 decision in the second of two games with the Phillies.

While the leaders were gladdening the hearts of 30,000 fans thru the three-cornered second place race kept up the dizzy whirl.
The St. Louis Cardinals managed to sneak into second place by winning from the Brooklyn Dodgers twice by identical 5-0 scores.
The Pittsburgh Pirates lost the first game of a twin bill by 7-5 to the Boston Bees and were trailing 5-3 when the Sunday 6 o'clock law stopped the afterpiece.

And the Chicago Cubs didn't fare much better than the Pirates. Largely because Hubbell of the Giants was busy holding them to a handful of hits and winning his fourth of the year, 3-1.
Sox, Yankees Split.
In the American league, the Yankees split a double bill with the Chicago White Sox as Selkirk pounded out two homers to win the opener, 13-1 and Thornton Lee beat him New Yorkers 5-1 with a sevenhit performance in the nightcap.
Jimmy Fox paced the Red Sox to a 4-1 win over the St. Louis with his 25th home run.
Detroit's two victories over the Philadelphia Athletics were notable chiefly because the second game gave Freddie Hutchinson, the coast rove, his first major league victory.
He didn't lose the entire game but did get credit for the 5-3 triumph. Newson brought home his 12th of the year and his ninth for the Tigers, 14-6, by holding the A's to five hits.
The Washington Senators gave Krauskas another victory when they slammed out a 5-2 win over the Indians to take the series two to one.

POWER LINE UNIT READY FOR ENERGY

The north section of the West Douglas Electric Cooperative power line is ready to be energized as soon as sufficient members have completed wiring their homes to make it practical to close the circuit. W. L. Barnes, superintendent, reported today construction work on the north section, which extends from Brookway to Hazards and Restation, has been practically completed. It is planned to energize the line within two weeks.
Mr. Barnes reports that completion of the West Douglas line will be the fourth REA project to be put in operation in the state. Lines now are in operation in the Hermi-ton, Blachly and Jewell districts.
The superintendent recently returned from a trip to Yellowstone park, where from July 16 to 14 he attended a conference of 12 managers and superintendents of REA projects from the western states. Thirty officials were present from Washington, D. C., to direct the conference.

ADVICE GIVEN ON FEEDING CHICKENS

Whether hard or soft wheat is the best for chicken feed is a question frequently addressed to county specialists at Oregon State College. H. E. Conley, head of the department, says that either kind may be used interchangeably in poultry scratch grain, and that a

News-Review Ad Brings Neighbors Into Deal

Although John H. Linaman and Roy J. Carnall are neighbors in the Olalla community, it took the services of the Roseburg News-Review, more than a score of miles from the homes of the two men, to bring them together on a business deal.
Mr. Linaman put a classified advertisement in the News-Review offering some sheep for sale.

The papers were delivered in the Olalla community by the rural mail carrier early the following morning. Half an hour after taking his paper from the mail box, Mr. Carnall had negotiated the purchase of the entire flock of sheep.
The moral of this story is—good quality of wheat is more important than its texture.

The principal difference between soft and hard wheats is in their respective protein contents, he explained, with hard wheat running higher in protein than soft. Since the egg mash is designed to carry the bulk of the nutritional load and since the composition of scratch feed varies according to the price of the different grains, it is really not important which kind of wheat is used, he believes.

AUTOMOBILE FOUND HERE AFTER THEFT

An automobile belonging to Ruth Sowersby of Camas Valley was recovered early this morning after it had been stolen later Sunday. The car apparently had been driven until about 3 a. m., and then abandoned on Ross street.

PORTLAND BEAVERS REACH 5TH PLACE

Seven-Game Series With Padres Won, 5-2; Seattle Holds League Lead.

(By The Associated Press)

Portland's Beavers, in last place in the Pacific coast baseball league only a little more than a week ago, were in fifth place today after winning a seven-game series from the San Diego Padres, five games to two.

Only a half game behind the Beavers, however, were the Padres and Oakland's A's, and Hollywood was in the cellar by a game and a half.

Portland finished the week by splitting a doubleheader with San Diego at the Padres' lot, the home club taking the opener, 3 to 2, behind Southpaw Hebert's six-hit pitching, and the Beavers winning the nightcap, 3 to 0.

Portland's manager, Bill Sweeten, pulled a homer with one on to score both Portland runs in the opener, but the Padres rallied to win.

San Francisco's Seals blanked the second-place Los Angeles Angels in both ends of a twin bill at San Francisco, knocking the former league leaders down to four and a half games below Seattle.

Two veteran pitchers turned back the Angels. Gibson allowed six scattered hits as his mates won the opener, 1 to 0, and Ballou gave up only two hits in twirling a 2-0 shutout.

At Sacramento, the home town Senators split a Sunday twin bill with the league-leading Seattle club to pull out a four-to-three game in the series.

Barrett won his one-hundredth game as a Seattle pitcher and his 18th of the season as the Rainiers took the opener, 7 to 5, though he lasted only four and two-thirds innings.

Freitas, Sacramento southpaw, gave up only two hits as the Senators swarmed all over the Rainiers in the nightcap for a 10 to 0 rout, blasting 13 hits off Selway and Sorenson.

The last-place Hollywood Stars won the series from Oakland by a four-to-three game margin. The Stars divided a doubleheader at Hollywood yesterday, losing the opener, 16 to 7, but nipping the fourth-place Oaks in the second game, 4 to 2.

This week Los Angeles plays Sacramento at the latter's park, Hollywood entertains Portland, Seattle goes to San Diego and the San Francisco Seals cross the bay to Oakland.

GLENDALDE LOSES TO GRANTS PASS, 5-4

GRANTS PASS, July 31.—(AP)— Run-making errors counted heavily here Sunday as Grants Pass defeated Glendale 5 to 4 in a Southern Oregon league game. With Merchants filling the bases, Shortstop Pete of Glendale made a bad throw to first after fielding the team's single. The ball passed Gipe and three men trotted over home plate. Glendale made two scores when a relay from outfield missed Catcher Woods' mitt.

"See anything?" Hope asked, without preliminaries.
"You up ahead?" Sherry cried.
"Now, not a thing. She must oversleep. It's after 7."

"Listen, you mug, a girl doesn't have to get up at unearthly hours like a flatfoot federal cop, see?
Maybe she thinks 9 o'clock is the crack of dawn. Can you see her window?"

"Sure, plain as day now. Its open, but the shade's pulled, against the morning sun I guess."
"Um, Well, when you going to eat?"

"I talked the man out of half his shirt up here, so I'll have to perch here until 8. Wait for me."
"Okay," said Hope, and hung up.
At 8 Sherry came down looking glum, and the two men ate breakfast in silence at a nearby restaurant. When they drifted back to the office at 9, a special delivery letter, postmarked El Paso, was waiting for them. It was addressed to Sherry. But inside it said:

"Dear Boys:
"We made no arrangements for communicating with each other, except the window signals, so I shall cross back to El Paso in a taxicab at daybreak and mail this letter to you."
"Harris escorted me to the Montezuma Hotel at 11 p. m. He told the Mexican maid to take special care of me, and the way he presumed to order her—almost fiercely—made me suspect that she might be one of his band. When she came to help me go to bed, I managed to display my 22 cartridge to her, and again it worked!
"She is one of Harris' spotters.
Being in a hotel, she can watch for aliens and others who might be his customers, and tip them off to a lot of things. He pays her well, she says. She never questioned my status at all. Barro himself brought me there, and I had the secret token. So I pumped her all I dared, posing as a worker also."

Mrs. L. L. Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. H. Black, Mr. and Mrs. R. L.
Whipple and daughter, Miss Betty Nae, and Bob Dubman, all of this city, enjoyed yesterday at Sitton and Clewax lakes on the coast.

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE BY OREN ARNOLD

CAST OF CHARACTERS

BETTY MARY JORDAN—Pretty young Border Patrol service secretary.
SHERIDAN STARR—Handsome Border Patrol officer.
HOPE KILDARE—Starr's fellow officer, also a bachelor.
LUIS BARRO—Mexican smuggler.

Yesterday: The officers pose with Barro for Betty Mary, then return to El Paso with her note.
They warn the patrol watch tower to keep a constant lookout on her hotel window for further signals.

CHAPTER XIII

Hope Kildare arose at 5 o'clock on the morning following the "visit" with Luis Barro in Mexico.
He went outside his landlady's house and, surprisingly, put up a ladder that gave him access to the roof. But even with his powerful field glasses he couldn't see the Montezuma Hotel in Juarez, because of nearby obstructions. The "Two Republics Building in downtown El Paso seemed to be directly in the way. Anyhow the light was still dense at that hour.

He got into his own swift sport coupe then and drove hurriedly around in a large half circle, coming out on the Mount Franklin Scenic Drive, a long hill that gave him altitude quickly. He stopped at Lookout Point, several hundred feet above the city, and focused his field glasses again.

"That's the Montezuma, right enough," he murmured. "And that's sure as shootin' the northeast room of the fourth floor. But the window is blank."

That disturbed him. He watched the window in the haze for several minutes, wondering if Betty Mary could have forgotten to put up her promised signal. Or maybe she didn't mean to hang out the two handkerchiefs until some time this morning anyway. After all, she hadn't suggested it last evening. She would hardly be awake yet.

He envisioned her asleep. Would she have the sleeping-beauty type of daintiness? Fragile, and exquisitely colored, her dark eyelashes drooping in little curves, her little ear—oh, glory! He wished he had taken a peek last night at Luis Barro. Or just up and shot him while he could.

Betty Mary had saved his life a few nights ago, he would be eternally indebted to her. And there was no use kidding himself about it, he loved that girl as he had never loved any other person anywhere. He wished he might tell her so. But—

Well, there was Sheridan.
She had given Sherry the first date. She had given Sherry the note last night. Obviously she loved Sherry. What did that mean?
Frankly, he didn't know. But certainly he cared! Hope sighed.

He touched his starter and rolled back toward town. He was deeply unhappy, miserable and sick at heart without very strong cause. He didn't recognize it as such, but the truth was, he was jealous, thoroughly jealous.
But he would not have admitted this.

He stopped at the house where Sherry lived but learned that Sherry had already dressed and gone to town. It was still not 7 a. m. Hope drove down to Border Patrol headquarters. The men on night duty greeted him cordially.
Kildare and Starr were a popular "team" among the Immigration and Naturalization officers and the customs force.

"Sherry Starr been around this morning?" Hope inquired.
"Yep. He went up the tower to take a two-hour shift and receive the regular man a little. He's up there now."

"Yeah? Well."
So Sheridan also was looking for Betty Mary's signals. Hope realized that. He didn't recognize
was jealous, thoroughly jealous.
But he would not have admitted
this.

He touched his starter
and rolled back toward town. He
strong cause. He didn't recognize
was jealous, thoroughly jealous.
But he would not have admitted
this.
