

CHAMPIONS GIVE WINNING RECIPES

Wives of Roseburg Kiwanians who attended the Kiwanis meeting and enjoyed the poultry consumption given by the Misses Geraldine de Lancy and Hildegarde Schoeller, state champion demonstrators from Marion county, requested that they be given the recipes of the dishes prepared during the demonstration. Following are the three recipes:

Our Chicken Fricassee (Chicken Hawaiian)—1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple, 4 tablespoons fat, 1 four-pound chicken, disjointed, seasoned flour, water, and 1 avocado. Drain pineapple, saving syrup. Broil chicken with seasoned flour, brown, add half cup water. Simmer 1 hour. Add half cup pineapple juice and continue to simmer. Add second half cup fifteen minutes before serving. Saute pineapple slices. Cut avocado in half slices. Arrange on chop plate.

Cream Chicken on Baked Onions—Four tablespoons butter, 5 tablespoons flour, 1 can chicken stock, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, paprika, 2 cups diced cooked chicken, 1 cup chopped mushrooms, 2 tablespoons chopped pimento, 2 egg yolks, beaten. Make sauce of butter, flour, stock and milk. Season. Add the chicken, mushrooms and pimento. Heat for 5 minutes, add the beaten egg yolks. Cook slowly for 2 minutes.

Baked Onions—Four eggs, half teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cup milk. Beat eggs slightly, add salt, milk, stirring. Pour into mold. Set into pan of hot water, bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.), for 40 minutes. Test by inserting sharp knife in center. When custard is done, knife comes out clean.

V-8 CONVERTED INTO CITY FIRE ENGINE

SPRINGFIELD, Ore., July 31.—(AP)—Once it was nothing but a plain 1934 V-8 chassis with a rickety old fire engine No. 2.

The main bulk of the fire engine's fire season is the creation of Fire Chief Hugh Jelliff. He's now the master of the auxiliary unit which will travel 60 miles an hour. The Jelliff carries 800 feet of regular fire hose, a booster tank with a capacity for 175 gallons of water, a hand-made ladder and an extinguisher.

Then there are the "extras." First is a blue crew bar which Chief Jelliff uses to pry open the doors. Instead of crushing them, he saves expense by using the rod to gain access to a hinge.

Then there's a big axe. The chief pointed that out too. To let pedestrians and common trucks and motorists know there's a fire and that No. 2 is on the way, a siren and a red light were attached to the vehicle. A bell is now needed to complete the job, Springfield citizens think.

One engine might have been enough, except while the volunteer fighters were away on "ambulance" blazes the town's 2,000 souls were left without protection. The outfit works, too. Just the other night it saved a barn!

AAA LISTS 87 PCT. OF DOUGLAS CROPS

Approximately 87 per cent of Douglas county's crop land is included under this year's AAA farm program, according to a summary compiled at the county agricultural conservation office in Roseburg.

This represents 85,234 acres of land on 1900 farms said Leo Sparks, chairman of the county agricultural conservation committee.

Mr. Sparks pointed out that farmers receive benefit payments only by carrying out conservation practices on these lands, preventing soil losses and building values for the future.

"The government payments are not all profit for co-operating farmers," he declared. "Usually the cost of carrying on the conservation practices is greater than the payment received."

Operations of eighty-seven per cent of all Oregon farms had indicated their intention to participate in the 1939 farm program, according to word from the state AAA office at Corvallis. This represents nearly 12,000 farmers who operate 3,800,000 acres of crop land.

The information was compiled on the basis of "farm plan and estate sheets" which all farmers were required to sign if they wished to take part in this year's program.

"We have uncovered a wealth of material," one member said, "particularly about conservation on the Pacific coast."

SERIAL STORY BORDER ADVENTURE

BY OREN ARNOLD

CAST OF CHARACTERS: BETTY MARY JORDAN—Pretty young Border Patrol service secretary.

SHERIDAN STARR—Handsome Border Patrol officer.

HOPE KILDAKE—Starr's fellow officer, also a bachelor.

LUIS BARRO—Mexican smuggler.

Yesterday, Betty sends a letter to the officers, telling them of her discovery that a woman and child are involved in smuggling. Then she signals that she is safe.

CHAPTER XIV

Betty Mary deduced accurately that El Casino Teoloteo and The Place of the Sleeping Monk, two establishments with excellent meals and excellent cuisine, really were Luis Barro's favorite hangouts when he was in Jurupa. But he appeared to have business out of town a great deal of the time.

Betty liked The Place of the Sleeping Monk better. It was quieter than the first spot. It did not have a big gambling room adjoining. It seemed to enjoy a better class of customers from among the many tourists who came across from El Paso.

A detail too was the fact that Luis Barro had ordered the proprietor and employees there to show Sennetta Jordan every possible courtesy whenever she came in. She discovered that his order meant she could never pay her check, nor indeed pay for anything, despite the meticulous service they gave her. In a way she didn't like this, but in her capacity of detective she knew it was a valuable lead.

It's stretching there often, and eating there at least once a day, she struck up a pen pal friendship with the manager, who sat in the cashier's booth. The fifth day of her stay in Mexico, she picked a moment in mid-morning when the place was almost empty, and when Luis Barro had not been around for more than a day, then slipped her purse in the cashier manager's presence.

"Oh, dear, I must have left my compact in the hotel," she lamented.

As a woman would, she distastefully out of manner of purse tripping. Lipsitch, Handkerchief, Pencils, Coin purse, Note pad, Tissue, Nail file. A snapshot of her father, Mirror. And the 22 caliber rifle cartridge she carried in her pocket.

Instantly the man turned to his cash register and pressed a button. "Cling-clang!" the machine sounded, and a "No Sale" sign popped up. From a drawer he solemnly took a 22 cartridge of his own, handed it to her, and she saw, dropped it back, and closed the drawer. Betty Mary felt her pulse quicken. This was the third person today to whom she had exhibited her cartridge, and this time it had worked. The other two, a waiter and the traffic policeman outside El Casino, had shown no response.

"You—you are one of us," she murmured, tentatively.

"No one is here, but he best not talk too much in a public place," he suggested. "Luis gets careless, I think. He is too sure of himself."

"He is quite capable," Betty Mary said.

"Of a certain, senatorial! But caution is always good!"

"Sincerely, sorry, I am, uh, new in his organization, as you doubtless know."

"Don Luis never speaks to me of his helpers," the cashier said. "I am interested in narcotics," she said quite frankly. "I know where perhaps a cargo worth a hundred thousand can be had cheap."

"A hundred thousand pesos? For how much?"

"No, dollars. American dollars. For a tenth of that. Can—can Don Luis send it safely across? Do you think I should tell him where he might contact this cargo? I do not wish to—uh, interfere too much in his plans and affairs. He might not even be interested in narcotics now. Heretofore I have helped only with aliens."

"What Sennetta is indeed new with the grand one! He has sent in more contraband chemicals than men. He ships it in sacks of beans. He ties it on the underside of freight cars that cross on the railroad. He even has little boys transfer it to the American side when they go walking in the Rio Grande! He is the smart one, this Don Luis!"

"Then when I am sure I can get the new cargo for him, I will tell him," Betty Mary was not looking at the man, but her eyes revealed something of the excitement she felt. "A best of this, she should be profitable to us all!"

"It would seem it by submarine, no doubt. It is the safest way."

"Oh, You mean—"

"Si senorita. To the Peraltas. They have—back here are people coming! We talk too much!"

He turned to his cash register again, using a coin as if for a meal, and was giving Betty Mary some small change when four people filed in. Betty Mary took the money and departed.

By submarine?

The Peraltas?

She wished she had learned more, using a coin as if for a meal, and two together here, but she had enough to know that Luis Barro and several agencies for smuggling dope, and that his submarine was considered best.

Would it mean employment of an agent submarine off the Pacific Coast, up to California? Hardly that, she knew, it would be far too expensive as well as impractical.

Well, it was not yet noon. She

NAZIS FEEL STRAIN OF SCARCE LABOR

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—The commerce department said today recent dispatches indicated an "increasing strain of the economic resources of Germany."

Shortage of skilled laborers, it was stated, has spread to Austria and Sudentland and about 49,900 workers are reported to have been brought in from Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia.

In order to meet the shortage of farm labor, the summer term at German universities and colleges has been curtailed by two weeks to release some 25,000 students for harvest work.

The tendency, especially in the provinces, for women to take over men's jobs in public service has become "much more pronounced," the department reported. About half of the 420,000 newly employed this year were women.

A recent decree of the reich commissioner indicates that a cut in building wages is contemplated to induce return to farming of those who in the past have attracted to towns by higher wages.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Robertson and son, Donald, returned Thursday from a trip to Portland. E. H. Rothwell was in charge of the drug store during their absence.

Lyle Smith drove to the Dalles Wednesday to be with his wife, who is to have an operation soon. Phil Starr is in charge of the barn while Mr. Smith is gone.

LOCAL BOYS ATTEND CITIZENSHIP CAMP

Five Roseburg boys, Harold Cacy, Robert Phillips, Jimmy Briggs, Tony Anderson and Jack Gorthy, left Saturday night for Portland, where they will attend the Beaver Boys' State at Hill Military academy.

The Beaver Boys' State is a one-week camp, at which boys between the ages of 14 and 20 years practice self-government. The camp is run entirely by boys on a system patterned after that of the federal and state governments. Instruction is given in Americanism and good citizenship. The camp is sponsored by the American Legion.

Sixty-five boys in all are attending from southern Oregon. They traveled in two cars attached to the train which passed through Roseburg Saturday night.

The general public is invited by the sponsors to visit the camp at any time.

HENRY FORD HAS QUIET BIRTHDAY

DETROIT, July 31.—(AP)—Without fuss or fanfare, Henry Ford celebrated his 76th birthday anniversary yesterday.

The motor magnate does not allow birthdays to interfere with his routine, and except for a flood of congratulatory letters and telegrams it was just another day in an active life.

Tip TO NEW CAR BUYERS from a used car lot!

Over the country, thousands of Ford V-8's have matched the 3 real-life stories quoted above. Remember what they say, as you choose your new car. There's more to a Ford V-8 than the many exclusive fine-car features it gives you at its low price. There's also a matchless record behind every Ford V-8. More than 27,000,000 cars ago, the Ford business was started to give low-cost transportation at its best, and in the 1939 Ford V-8, it's doing just that today!
