MRS. J. E. CAMPBELL ANNOUNCES OPENING OF PIANO STUDIO HERE

Mrs. J. E. Campbell has announced the opening of a piano studio at her residence on Cobb street.

Among her musical activities, she has taught music in the public schools for nine years and holds a teachers' life certificate, having been supervisor of music in St. Helens schools, accompanied for Genevieve Toward, prominent Portland singer, assistant organist at the Marian Protestant church in Portland for two years and organist and choir director of the Methodist church at St. Helens, as well as three years radio work with Miss Howard and Miss Helen Bell, singer of Eugene, over KOIN and KGW.

While in college and normal school Mrs. Campbell was active in music and dramatics and organized and directed the Kappa Kappa sorority which proved very popular on the campus and also conducted an orchestra. Her early training in piano was taken under Winifred Westwell, Albany, now dean of the A. G. of organists, and later studied under Loral Burghard, instructor and organist of Albany, and this past summer attended under J. S. Vann, prominent Portland organist.

Mrs. Campbell plans to have one Friday afternoon a week on Saturday mornings free to all private pupils for interesting musical activities including tone work, note singing, games, harmony and rhythmic hand work.

Arrangements for supervised practices may be made for both normal pupils who do not have a piano.

Since coming to Roseburg, Mrs. Campbell was official organist for the Eastern Star in 1935 and has been active in the Roseburg Choral club and the Methodist choir. Mrs. Campbell plans to continue her musical studies this fall at University of Oregon.

MISS NAOMI SCOTT ANNOUNCES OPENING OF VIOLIN STUDIO

Miss Naomi Scott, prominent Roseburg violin instructor and well known as a very talented violinist, has announced the opening this week of her violin studio in the Kohlman building on North Jackson street. Reservations of pupils is being held this week. The studio opens at nine o'clock mornings.

Miss Scott taught violin in Roseburg for five years, before going to Wyoming to teach in Thermopolis, returning here two years ago to reopen her studio.

During the past summer months, Miss Scott has been studying with the noted violinist, William Wallace Graham, of Portland, which enables her to bring to her pupils here the very latest methods in instruction of the violin. She will teach students of all ages, both beginners and advanced.
