Gorgeous dahlias and autumn autumn dahlias, pink roses and ferns were used artistically about the room. The guests enjoyed playing Chinese checkers and musical guessing games, with prizes going to Miss Janet Pickenscher and Miss Eleanor Eastling.

A very unique presentation of the gifts was enacted by the hostesses. The guest of honor, Miss Leoper, was blindfolded and led through an enchanted wood. Bells tolling the announcement of Price Charming, also warned of an approaching shower, which occurred when Miss Leoper was led to a most-revered seat placed under a large bell holding colorful autumn leaves. Daily Devotions DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

Why do men and women suffer? When pain tortures our bodies or the bodies of those we love; when disappointment and misunderstanding bring separation and heartache; when tragedy and loss come to us, in our despair and loneliness, we try and say, "What answer may we find that will completely satisfy?" Some make a cowardly retreat from life and suffering by giving up altogether or some say, with all the fortitude that human will can summon, "I'll accept my portion and be brave. But the best way we know of is, we may know the personal friendship of the Saviour, who Himself made of sufferings the redemptive power which showed the heart of God's eternal love for all men. St. Paul wrote, "If we suffer with Him, we shall also be glorified with Him; therefore let us rather glory in our sufferings." "Beneath the Cross of Jesus I fall would take my stand, The shadow of a mighty rock within a weary land; A home within the wilderness, a rest upon the way, From the burning of the noon-day heat, and the burden of the day."—Amen.

And Mrs. H. T. Bloom, members. The next meeting will be October 10 at the home of Mrs. Hatfield.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM GIVEN AT FACILITY WEDNESDAY EVENING

Old time dancing and mountain music featured the program presented by Mr. Ernie Crane and his troupe, at the auditorium of the Veterans' hospital facility, Wednesday evening, and, as usual, the songs and dances included on the program literally "brought down the house."

The clever steps performed by the dancers, Miss Marjorie Gehman and Messrs. Crane and Hatfield, the latter of whom, by the way, has passed the eighty-year mark, brought round after round of applause from an appreciative audience of veterans and personnel of the hospital.

Walter Norris and his son, Lloyd, the latter being just eight years of age, furnished considerable entertainment with the "Columbia" and his own music. And the old time tunes, produced by Messrs. Norris and Gehman, together with the performance of the youngsters, delighted the entire audience, eliciting the appreciation which the entire program richly deserved and guaranteeing a request for a return engagement in the very near future.
