The Roseburg News-Review

Bert Shoemaker is a senior in Roseburg's high school. He has been identified for years with the school's scholastic, athletic and social activities.

He is in position to suggest, as we do, that all Douglas county students clip the News-Review for their scrap books. In later years these stories will be read by them, and their families and friends with genuine interest.

"The reason I read a newspaper is to get all the latest news dispatches, sports news and news of other current events. The News-Review contains all of this and more, so I think the students of Douglas county high schools should read and get this school material for their civics, history and other subjects from this fine source."
