BENEFIT PLAY HERE DRAWS BIG CROWD

A large audience enjoyed the play, "Our Town," presented by the University of Oregon players at the senior high school Saturday night as a benefit sponsored by the Roseburg Kiwanis club for the Roseburg school building fund. The three-act play, written by Thornton Wilder, and which won the 1938 Pulitzer prize, was reported to be one of the most enjoyable plays to be presented here in a number of years. Horace Robinson, director, took the part of the stage manager in the play was supported by a most able cast of University players. Mary Margaret Gedney, a former Roseburg girl, was in the play. Adding to the enjoyment of the play, were local residents taking part by reading their lines from the audience.
