HALLOWEEN PARTY IS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

MYRTLE CREEK, Nov. 3.—The social committee of the local C. E. society sponsored a jolly Halloween party Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barnes. The rooms were decorated with festoons of crepe paper in spooky colors and illuminated with pale candle light. The guests were ushered in through the woodshed via the cellar stairs and after a mysterious triple knock they were received at the top of the back stairway by a gloomy ghost, who shook hands with a clammy glove, and escorted each victim to the witches cave, where the future was charted out with great and unflinching certainty.

A number of the guests came attired in all sorts of unique costumes such as bandit, ghost, goblin, witch, fat old farmer and wife, ragtags, etc., which added to the fun.

Bobbing for apples, catching swings and apples, and all the time honored Halloween games received attention, but the most hilarious one was played by eight blindfolded boys who stood behind eight seated girls who were also blindfolded, and fed them shelled peanuts from a teaspoon.

Prizes for this difficult feat were awarded to Leonard Skinner and Geraldine Rhodes. Other prize winners were Bertie Blackett, Frank Yocum and Mary Daly.

Refreshments were served to Dick Sanford, Lloyd Wells, Blanche Alcott, Donald and Lillie Applebee, Anna Townsend, Warren Woodruff, Betty Jean Cumbee, Lonella Wallace, Bertha Blackett, Nadine and Billy McLain, Vinnie Williams, Alvin and Ruth Newton, Hope Wynne, Gaylord and Wanda Skinner, Leonard Skinner, Andy McDougal, Frank Yocum, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Daly and daughter, Carmela, Mrs. Mary Daly, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Geraldine Rhodes, Suzie Shaw, Tom and Emory Townsend and Mr. and Mrs. Walter A.
