by Anne Adams

Of course you can lead your normal, busy life—right up to the big day—in Anne Adams' Pattern 4271. Order it in your own size, for it grows WITH your figure instead of letting your figure grow INTO it. The wrap-around skirt is easily adjustable at the buttoned waistband. The smock, which may be long or short, has a nicely-shaped yoke that holds smooth gathered fullness from below. Make long and full sleeves, with a lace-edged collar of self-fabric, or have short sleeves and crisp white collar and cuffs. To use with the skirt in wool, make several tops in gay prints. Then, for dress-up, have a matching skirt and top of crepe or silk.

Pattern 4271 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34 and 36. Size 16 takes 5 1/2 yards 39 inch.

POET'S CORNER

THE ANTIQUE SHOP

By Beatrice Smith.
On the busy street she wandered alone
So feeble and withered and bent;
Hoping to catch a friendly glance
From the busy shoppers who came and went.

But it seemed no one had time to smile
Or could take a moment to stop
She was shoved and jostled till she came at last
To a little old antique shop.

She stepped inside, hoping to see
Someone, or perhaps something
That could spare a little time for her
Or some happy memory bring.

She wandered among old books
And some of them seemed to know
That she too, had lived in happier days
Even though it was long ago.

Till she came at last to a shelf
That held
A little porcelain doll
With golden curls and arms outstretched
Standing against the wall.

Not far away a soldier boy stood
Rusty with age for it was he
Who had kissed her goodbye long years ago
And she had waited his bride to be.

The old lady sighed as she saw them there
For she remembered how, long ago
Her own soldier boy had kissed her
And how she had loved him so.

For like many others who have waited long
For someone who would never return
The wordless story the two dolls told
Of faith and courage, we all must learn.

So perhaps each one could find somewhere
If they would only stop,
Their own story, told in the same sweet way
On the shelves of an antique shop.
