ANNOUNCEMENT of the opening of the new bus terminal in our neighboring city, Eugene, further calls attention to the terribly poor facilities we have here.

Good facilities have been provided in most of the other cities. Salem, Eugene, Albany, Corvallis, Grants Pass and Medford all have terminals where passengers may leave or board the buses under cover.

In Roseburg the city street in the terminal—so far as loading and unloading is concerned.

In fact that portion of Washington street between Main and Jackson is almost useless as a street when the buses are there—which is several times each day—and that block is an important link in our city street system.

Down through the years rumors and reports have floated about from time to time that new terminal facilities were going to be provided for bus patrons. But nothing ever actually happened.

Meanwhile bus passengers stand out in the rain, their feet in little pools of water on the sidewalks, waiting to get aboard—or to bid farewell to friends or relatives who are leaving.

Obviously we want and need the transportation service provided by the bus company. We hope to see the company prosper and in prospering, improve its service.

It all depends on the point of view—whether you WANT MORE MILK or ENJOY BEATING UP THE COW. Most average Americans want more milk.

HOPKINS adds: "Advance of prices has been less than appeared likely two months ago, and this an expanded volume of consumer purchasing power may be expected."

That is sound reasoning. The lower the price, THE MORE PIG FLEW CAN BUY. WHICH suggests this further thought: The higher the cost of production, the higher the selling price must be. Taxes, inefficiency, industrial wars, etc., all enter into cost of production and so add to the price.

Glendale, Riddle Teams Split Two: GLENDALE, Jan. 6.—The Glendale volleyball and basketball teams divided a double header with the Riddle teams on the Glendale floor Friday evening, the girls losing, 20 to 18, and the boys winning, 16 to 14. In basketball, the Riddle girls opened the scoring in the first few seconds of play and held the Pirates even during the first half, the score at the end of the first quarter being 11-11, and at the half-time 18-12 in favor of the Irish. In the second period, however, the faster checking and brilliant offense of the Glendale squad began to click, and Riddle's defense crumpled before the Pirate attack.

OUT OUR WAY

SAFETY DEPOSITS J.R. WILLIAMS

RAMBLINGS By PAUL JENKINS

If our friends at home could see us now, they'd KNOW we are snoring, blithely stated the Family, as we braced ourselves into the face of the driving mist at the beach yesterday morning. The wind wasn't blowing a gale; but it WAS blowing. The precipitation couldn't be called a rain; but it was fluttering it a trifle to rattle it a mist. While the temperature wasn't exactly fright, it could have warmed up about thirty degrees, and been more comfortable.

It wasn't as chilly at that as it was here the other morning, in Roseburg. "My goodness," said Esther Feldstein to a friend in the "Coff Shop," "it's out outdoors, don't go out—it will freeze your everything!"

Returning via Coos bay, the rain (mist) abated near Marshfield, and the clouds broke away raggedly and the sun shone through; at least until we were well up the Coquille above Myrtle Point. We ran into a thick fog on the summit of Camas mountain and, of all things, a skiff of snow. The latter had melted from the ground, but still was in evidence on fallen logs, and fences, and shed roofs.

After witnessing the premature flowering Scotch broom, and Tegonsia of lush China lilies, we returned, feeling as if Spring were peeping shyly through her fingers at us, with a smiling promise in her blue eyes.

That after all, this is early January; and January, as we all know, is a rather villainous old man. When He humors us, usually it is merely to mock us.
