AN exploding heater yesterday caused the death of a woman who lived on a farm near Vancouver, Washington. Just recently a Roseburg woman died as a result of burns received when her clothing caught fire from a room heater. These two tragedies make it easy to believe the statement appearing in a national weekly magazine recently that five women are burned to death each day as a result of their clothing catching fire. It was pointed out that the loose folds of ordinary feminine apparel make such accidents possible and numerous.

The aprons, skirts, dresses, etc., are so easily blown about—even the ordinary movement of these garments in walking—that danger is present wherever there is an open blaze. The presence of this risk is not unknown of course, but the number of deaths—five each day—gives rise to the thought that it is not sufficiently guarded against.

Tragedy, however, quite often is hidden in the most innocent doings of we humans. It is not always the great and glaring danger that takes the heaviest toll. For example, yesterday the press wires reported that a small boy has lost the sight of one eye as the result of snapping an ordinary rubber band. Obviously that was a freak accident but the eye is gone as surely as if it had been injured in some other way.

It is a fact that more personal injuries result from accidents in the home than from any other source. A slippery bathroom floor, according to statistics, is more dangerous to have in the home than a pistol or revolver. It is a matter of habit and care—we know a gun is dangerous but we seldom think about a slippery floor until it is too late.

About the only conclusions that may be drawn from this rather gloomy discussion of the peculiar troubles that beset us are: (1) You just never can tell and (2) a person cannot be too careful.

MORAL. If you want to get somewhere, find something you're good at and then work at it hard.

BARCELONA (Spain) celebrates with a great fiesta the first anniversary of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's capture of the city from the revolutionists.

Does that mean that the people of Barcelona are strongly pro-fascist and anti-Communists?

Probably not. Franco's victory, whatever else it meant, BROUGHT PEACE TO BARCELONA.

Peace is what common, ordinary people want.

BRITISH home families (according to today's dispatches) will hereafter be square instead of round, in order to save wood. Wood has to be imported in ships, and Britain has no ship space to spare for that purpose.

War, you see, means forcing on you the things you don't want and making you do without the things you do want.

 (Ask any housewife about square broom handles.)

SOMEDAY (a long time hence) common, ordinary people will learn the truth about war and will thereafter thumb their noses at the war makers.

RAMBLINGS
 By PAUL JENKINS

THE ladies in Roseburg (who, proverbially, are thin, or thin-ish) must surely be getting thinner. Or something.

Now, don't get me wrong. They have plenty to eat—too much, maybe. They don't lack the calories; but they do lack the goddess of Slyph.

Witness: Walk down any street at 8:30 a. m. and listen to the radios blaring their sidewalk message. A gentleman by the name of Wallace, with a voice kinda like honey of vinegar, is putting 'em through their exercises.

Upsey and downsey, and side-way and whatsey, this gent sure irts their muscles. If you see a gal limping down the street, remember what I've told you.

The first I knew of this was, as I walked my way to work, my ears were assailed by a monotonous chant and, looking, I saw a nearby house, from which the notes seemed to come, swaying gently and rhythmically upon its cement foundations.

What foundation the swaying above had, I could only guess.

I called up the radio station to find out who the gent called Wallace was, and, looking, I saw a nearby house, from which the notes seemed to come, swaying gently and rhythmically upon its cement foundations.

Wallace seems to be popular with the ladies, which seems to bring up the supposition that, to be popular, extremely popular, with 'em, you must hurt 'em.

That's all right for Wallace. He's miles away; but just YOU try it.

Indians Will Face Tough foe Tonight

R. H. S. Basketeers to Battle U. of C. Frosh, With Record Of Ten Victories So Far.

One of the feature basketball treats of the season is set for tonight at 7:30 o'clock when Coach Jim Watts' Indian quintet meets the outstanding University of Oregon Freshman team on the senior high school maple court. The Ducks, winners in 10 out of their last 11 contests, are considered to be one of the strongest teams in several years to represent the first year class.

The towering Fresh quintet, led by Wally Horvick, 6-foot-8 forward Redport high center, and Warren Taylor, 6-foot-5 forward from Banks, present a formidable opponent for the local cagers. Most of Coach John Warren's squad is composed of elongated hoopers, besides those already mentioned, including several players who have played on the local court—Ralph Fuhrman of Coquille and Van Lydegraff of Springfield, among those better known.

Indian Lineup Listed.
 To offset this tremendous height advantage, Coach Watts will probably start Royal Denton, 6-foot-5 veteran center, playing his first game for Roseburg after being ineligible last semester. Denton is fast developing into a good shot and is a fine defensive man around the key-hole. Aiding Denton will be Earl Ward, 6-foot-3 letterman forward; Jim Finlay, 6-foot-6 forward and the mid-jet of the crew, and Little 5-foot-8 "Wild" Samers, the lightning-fast ball-hawk. Lovell Baker, 5-foot-7 teammate of Samers also might start.

Aiding these men will be Bill Goodlow, 6-foot-11; Ed Hughes, 6-foot-11; Lowell Atterbury, 5-foot-8; Tomble's game assumes additional importance in the "double" of the members of the Indian basketball squad for they have been invited to a pre-game dinner at the high school, will accompany their boys to the dressing room and assist them to get ready, and will then occupy a special section on the players' bench during the contest.

Hostak, Hand Hurt, Defeated by Zale

By TOM SULER
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The middleweight boxing title picture, muddled these many months by two claimants to the crown, appears destined to remain so for some time to come.

The championship situation cannot be clarified under present circumstances until Celerino Garcia, recognized as titleholder by the New York and California commissions, and Al Hostak, the National Boxing Association champion, get together in the ring.

Last night the setup was modified. Hostak, Seattle, Wash., slugger in a month's fight in the Chicago stadium, Zale and Hostak put on a rough show for five rounds until Hostak, suffering a badly sprained or broken left hand which left him virtually helpless, the remainder of the fight. Both weighed 162 pounds.

Zale, rated the No. 5 contender by the N.Y.A.A., knocked Hostak into the middleweight picture by his hardy showing against Hostak, battered around the ring and knocked down in the first round. Zale came on to give Hostak a stiff test in the first half of the fight and then proceeded to win easily when his rival was injured.

Hot School Lunches at Drain Are Authorized

DRAIN, Jan. 30.—W.P.A. hot lunch project has at last been completed and definite word has come from the W.P.A. office in Eugene that actual service will begin February 1. Mrs. Edith Spear has been certified as cook for the project, which has been held up for some time due to the necessary check and re-check of the government on numerous details.

Mr. Bloomquist, who has been working on this project, has already made arrangements to secure some hot lunch supplies from the Federal Commodities corporation.

Evangelist Ross Brown Dated at Glide Church

A series of three evangelistic meetings will be conducted at the Glide Christian church Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by Rev. Ross Brown of Eugene. The Rev. Proceeding the Thursday evening service, a monthly fellowship supper, starting at 6:30 o'clock, will be held. It is to be followed by a brief business meeting. The church is inviting all residents of the community to attend the services.

Minnie Bell Injured in Fall Down Flight of Steps

Miss Minnie E. Bell suffered severe injuries last Saturday evening when she fell down a long flight of steps at the A. N. O. Co. home, in company with Mrs. C. A. Edwards, who was departing from the Oreg. bus following a visit there when she lost her footing at the head of the concrete steps and rolled down the entire flight. Following the accident she was removed to her home on East Lane street.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS
 Whatever else may be used in the future generations to characterize our generation, the one outstanding mark of its identification will be our attempt to streamline everything we use in order to be up to date. The same attempt that we make in the realm of things material, Jesus made in the realm of religion. "You cannot put new wine into old bottles, lest they burst." Jesus was continually trying to impress upon His generation a new order of things. Time was, when the old was fully adequate, but time brings changes and makes new demands. And we must never allow our religious prejudices to run so deep as to prevent us from making whatever adjustments our times may demand. It is the divine discontent that sends us out to bring in a situation wherein things are as they ought to be, that we may bring grace and in the progress of the kingdom of God. "A new order I give unto you, said Jesus, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you." Amen.

O. S. C. Basketeers Beat Huskies, 45-26

By The Associated Press
 Oregon State college, hard after the northern division, Pacific Coast conference basketball championship, looked to be in an impressive position today after crushing the Washington Huskies last night, 45 to 26.

The Orangemen, now a name-and-a-half ahead of second place Oregon with an exceedingly favorable schedule remaining, were overwhelming favorites to crush Washington again tonight on the Beaver court.

Oregon state dominated his dynamic in the second half after trailing, 14-13, at the recess last night. In the first 13 minutes of the second half the tall Corvallis quintet converted a 17-13 deficit into a 37-21 walkaway.

The Orangemen were sustained by the Orangemen without a letup utterly exhausted the Washingtonians, who scored only four field goals in the half. Scoring heroes were shared by four Beavers, Hunter being high with 10, and by Lind of Washington who not only scored but was Washington's third in a row on its current Willamette valley road trip.

County Health

A. N. Johnson, M. D., Director
 Douglas County Health Department
 The war on medical quackery, patent nostrums and other harmful remedies has been announced as the objective of the fourth national Social Hygiene day, Thursday, February 1, 1940 by the American Social Hygiene association. The weekly bulletin of the Oregon state board of health this week reports the following about venereal disease quackery:

"Venereal disease quackery is on the increase and today constitutes one of the major obstacles to the public health control of syphilis and gonorrhea officers of the U. S. public health service stated last Tuesday in a nation-wide NBO broadcast.

"Drug store 'back counter' prescribing has increased substantially during the past several years. The daily 'different' 'patent remedies'—produced both locally and on a national scale—are on the market and sold in large volume. There is indication that the sales curve has been rising during the past six or eight years.

"Large numbers of unethical practitioners—'men's specialists', herbalists, mail order experts—are active although quack advertising has apparently decreased in volume.

"More persons evidently are going to drug stores and quacks for diagnosis and treatment of venereal disease than are going to reputable physicians. Exploitation of persons who are—or think they are—sick of gonorrhea or syphilis runs into tens of millions of dollars annually.

"These trends were reported today in a survey conducted by the American Social Hygiene association in cooperation with the United States public health service.

"Personal interview by trained investigators posing as 'friends' of presumably infected persons were carried on in 1,151 drug stores in 35 cities in 26 states. Sixty-two per cent of the drug stores visited diagnosed the diseases and offered to sell remedies for venereal syphilis or gonorrhea, especially the latter. Thirty-one per cent did not attempt to diagnose, but stocked and were willing to sell bottled remedies, especially when asked for them by name. About half of those who sold remedies urged the inquirer to see a doctor. Only 7 per cent of the entire number refused to diagnose or sell remedies.

"About 30 different preparations were found to be generally available as remedies throughout the nation. Only 3 or 4 were recognized drugs, the remainder consisting of completely worthless mixtures as far as any effect on syphilis or gonorrhea was concerned. Mixtures made from such ingredients as
