LAST evening the largest crowd ever to attend a home talent benefit show saw the Lion's Club Minstrel show at the Indian theatre.

It was a good show. It had been well advertised and people obviously enjoyed it. Originally planned for only one showing, the entire troupe of 70 persons had to be kept in costume to a late hour playing to a second show of overflow crowd. Believe it or not, the theatre management was compelled to display the "sold out" sign before 7:30.

The ordinary benefit show, home talent or otherwise attracts no such audience. Nor can it be said that there was anything spectacular promised in the advance advertising for this show that would pull such a crowd.

Then why did the people turn out in such numbers for the Lion's Minstrel Show?

Our answer is that it was a benefit event for a cause that is exceedingly popular. The money raised is to go toward providing a swimming pool for Roseburg. To date, without any organized campaign or without the benefit of a definite plan, business concerns and individuals have contributed voluntarily hundreds of dollars to this fund. That fact plus the huge turnout for the swimming pool benefit show certainly proves beyond a doubt that the citizens of Roseburg want a swimming pool—and they mean they really want it.

Nearly a year ago it was proposed that the Roseburg school district build and operate a pool. The money was to come from PWA—most of it—and the remainder was to be raised by a small direct tax. There was no bond issue—no debt of any kind proposed. The proposal was actually approved by a majority of the voters but the margin was so small that the plan was abandoned. As is usual in such matters, the opposition was out in force and the proponents were careless, many not voting at all.

Perhaps the school district plan was not the correct one. At least we may as well assume that to be the case. That leaves the matter up to the city administration.

It seems to us the city mayor and council should now assume leadership in the matter of locating and financing the swimming pool. The fund being accumulated can be well used to help pay some of the "trimmings" necessary to such a project. Though it is conceivable that enough money could be raised by donations and a series of benefits that would take too long. Furthermore, the pool is for the benefit of all of the people and in our opinion most of the cost of it should be borne by all the people—by taxation.

of harboring the desire to conquer Leningrad and restore the Romanoff dynasty.

LENINGRAD, before the first world war, was St. Petersburg on the maps, but in the early days of the war, when Russia was an ally of Britain and France, St. Petersburg sounded too Germanic, so they changed it to Petrograd. Later on, after the revolution, they changed it to Leningrad. Any day now it may be changed to Stalingrad.

THE Russians, however, aren't the only saps. Back in the world war days, we found ourselves gagging on sauerkraut, whereupon we changed it to LIBERTY CABBAGE, after which it was all right and quite nourishing.

Aren't human beings funny?

YESTERDAY'S laugh:
The British censor disclosed that for two weeks England has been having a cold snap, with the Thames frozen over and people skating on it. The newspapers were forbidden to mention it lest some spy, up to that time ignorant of the fact, might read in the papers that the weather was bad and tell the Germans about it.

Feathering Its Nest

WAKEFIELD, Mich.—Wakefield lumberjacks are losing their caps to a nocturnal raider. A week ago one of them came into camp declaring he had been attacked by a bird which flew away with his cap. The other jacks laughed at the story but since then, four others have reported losing their headgear and two have suffered cuts on their heads from the talons of the bird, believed to be a great horned owl or hawk.

Nazi Tars Sneaking Across Sea, Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The future of 512 seamen from the scuttled German liner Columbus was hidden today in official silence and surrounded with reports that they were being spirited across the Pacific in small groups aboard Japanese fishing craft.

German consular spokesmen denied reports that any of the men had left Angel island, immigration station in San Francisco bay, where they have been quartered since their arrival from the east Jan. 19.

The officials refused, however, to state when the men might be started homeward again, saying any such information must come from the German embassy in Washington.

U. S. immigration department spokesmen said last night all the seamen "are present and accounted for on the island," but one official declared it would be a violation of American neutrality to reveal information of their departure.

The nazi sailors, headed by Captain William Daehne, master of the Columbus, had intended to reach home via the Pacific, Japan and Russia, but British seizure of 21 other Germans aboard the Japanese liner Asama Maru caused cancellation of their plans.

The Chronicle said it had learned reliably that one group of the Columbus' seamen already had been taken to San Pedro for the voyage to Japan via fishing craft. Other groups, the newspaper said, would be picked up at Portland and Seattle.

Barrymore Omits Ad Lib, Stirs Gossip

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP)—John Barrymore, the great "ad libber," is back in town, but he doesn't "ad lib" here any more.

Broadway's playgoers obviously were licking their chops last night for some of the impromptu wise cracks that marked the long Chicago run of the farce, "My Dear Children," but the unpredictable Barrymore tooled them by playing his leading role mostly "straight." It was his first Broadway appearance in more than 15 years.

Early today, he left a cabaret with Elaine Barrie, his estranged wife, and that started tongues wagging as to whether a renewal of their tempestuous Ariel-Caliban romance was in the offing.

Elaine was in the restaurant when Barrymore and his daughter, Diana, arrived after his show. She came over to their table, and Diana left it, in somewhat of a huff, spectators thought.

Barrymore father and daughter went into a huddle, and emerged beaming. Soon after John and Elaine left in a taxicab, but didn't say where they were going, and wouldn't answer questions as to whether it was a reconciliation.

When Barrymore made his first entrance in the play, he winced once or twice at a noisy guffawer in the gallery. Later, he gulped a long drink and declared he wished it were coal.

At the end of the play, when Barrymore came on stage to acknowledge the enthusiastic applause, a man in Hamlet costume, his face painted in the white and black mask of a clown, leaped across the footlights and began babbling to Barrymore about Shakespeare.

Barrymore took him by the neck and escorted him into the wings. The man, identified as an unemployed actor, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

The critics were unanimous in their approval of Barrymore's work.

Wallis of Portland, and 1st Lt. Weldon H. McBee of Medford. Sgt. Charles A. Allwander of Portland will be enrolled for the non-commissioned officers' course from February 26 to May 24.

Hintz of Portland, and 1st Lt. Arthur H. Earnshaw of Portland. Enrolled in the non-commissioned officers' course at the same school from February 10 to June 8 will be Sgt. Roland H. Jensen of Portland.

Three officers of the 249th coast artillery will be enrolled in the coast artillery school at Fort Monroe, Va., from February 7 to April 30. They are 1st Lts. William R. Clary of Ashland, Faye H. Stewart of Cottage Grove, and Ernst C. Knapp of Salem.

Rep. Angell Scores Trade Agreements

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Reciprocal trade agreements have caused "great injury to the lumber industry" of the Pacific northwest and left Oregon farmers "in distress," Rep. Angell (R-Ore.) said last night.

Angell urged that congressional approval be required for the agreements. He said he approved the trade agreements purposes but charged they "are not being accomplished."

"It was never contemplated," he said, "that the lumber markets of America should be thrown open to imports of forest products from Canada and other countries, depriving our own lumber producers of a market for domestic lumber, of which we have a surplus. Furthermore it was not intended the bars should be let down for the importation of cattle and beef products from Canada and Argentine to displace our own western cattle."

"Reciporcity" he declared, "means receiving compensating benefits for those we give up. We have only 7 per cent of the population of the world but we have the best markets in the world and we can not, in justice to our own people, open our markets to the other 93 per cent, without some protection for our own people."

Many Oregon farmers are not receiving the cost of production for their products and many sawmills have been forced to close down as a result of the government's reciprocal trade agreements program.

Returns to Washington—Samuel Scott left this morning for his home at Sumner, Wash., following a two weeks' visit in this city with his sister, Mrs. Ellen Dawson, on Fowler street.
