

Seattle Claimed By Indian Tribe

Cash Settlement Amounting to $3,076,000 Demanded on Basis of Old Treaty.

SEATTLE, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Because they contend the government failed to live up to provisions of the treaty of 1855 and provide the Indian tribe of Indians with a reservation the tribe now is laying claim to the land on which the city of Seattle with all its skyscrapers now stands.

The tribe, however, does not want the land back, Chief Peter James explained today, but would accept a cash settlement of $3,076,000.

To press their claim the tribe has retained Attorney Arthur E. Griffin of Seattle, whose appointment was approved Saturday by Superior Judge J. T. Ronald. Griffin will press the claim before congress.

He will seek action on a bill introduced at the last session by Senator L. R. Schwelbensch authorizing per capita payment of $3,076,000.

James, who because of the lack of his own reservation has resided on the Lummi reservation 50 miles north of here for the past 40 years said there are approximately 500 members of the tribe scattered about the Puget sound country.

James, now a leader in Pacific northwest Indian affairs, said that under a treaty signed by Gov. Isaac I. Stevens of the territory of Washington in 1855 the government promised the Indians certain lands. The government went to war and was killed and the treaty provisions were never carried out, James contends.

Before the white man came, James explained, his tribe claimed ownership of all the land on which Seattle and King county now are located.

Some time ago Attorney Griffin obtained a substantial settlement for Yakima Indians on a similar claim and he will also represent several other Washington tribes in actions against the government.

A clothing club has just been organized at Hattie with six girls, each carrying the first division. They selected Miss Betty Corbett as their leader. Members of the club are: Joan Williams, president; Bernice Dinsley, vice-president; Mary Hansotter, secretary; Ellen Hansotter, Phyllis Smith and Ruth Walker.

An art club has just been formed at the Dixonville school with Mrs. Noma Childers, teacher of the school, as leader. Membership of the club is composed of Donald Drumbarth, president; Helores Cary, vice-president; Esther Carroll, secretary and Lillian St. Olson.

Four members of the Tyee school have sent in for material on home woodworking. They will work as "individuals" and will make at least five articles of wood for use in the home. These members are: James Clayton, Fredly Brownell, Patsy Powell and Dorothy Wood.

The moving pictures sponsored by the Douglas County Fire Patrol, the Umpqua forest service and F.H. club agent, will be taken out to several communities for evening programs this week. These shows are sponsored by F.H. clubs at each community, which groups invite their parents and friends as guests at the shows.

Tonight the show will be shown at Canyonville, tomorrow evening at the Roseburg high school gymnasium, Wednesday evening at Willits school, Thursday evening at Loom Lake school, Friday evening at Loom Lake school. Friday evening billing has not been definitely decided upon, but the pictures will be shown at Elkton play building on Saturday night. These pictures include: "The Great Dictator", "The Sign of the Cross", "The Sign of the Cross", "The Sign of the Cross".

"Gas models" was the principal topic discussed at the Thursday meeting of "The Umpqua Balsa Builders." Several reports were given on the progress made by a few owners of them.

By Geraldine Stephens
At a meeting of the "Gleaners" Friday, Donna Laphan was a visitor. The members discussed the progress of their project. The girls have about one more month and they will be through. It was decided to have a Valentine party and invite friends. The date has not yet been set.

By Beverly Nichols
The Nifty Novelties met at the home of Mrs. Cyril Nichols in Brockway Tuesday, with Elton Pratt as hostess. The members worked on their weaving. Those who attended were: Helen Pratt, Nancy Nichols, Gertrude Hixon, Beverly Nichols and Patsy Nichols. Refreshments were served.

By Josephine Wright
The Woodworkers Forestry club held its usual meeting Wednesday. The educational section of the meeting was given by Susie Crispin and Lester Ferguson, when they submitted a report on "Some General Aspects of Forestry," including forest as a crop, woods, watershed, landscape, recreation, game and wildlife and community asset. Josephine Wright presented a report on "Smothered Trees," in which she brought out the necessity of conserving our roadside trees as well as our forests.

Wilhelma Hutchinson reported an offer to sell plywood to our club for 3c per square foot. Then, we calculated the number of square feet that would be needed and computed the cost for each member.

At the next meeting Roy Boyd and Maurice Matthews will report on the forests of Oregon; their extent and use, their industrial importance, water power, forage, recreation, game and wildlife. Wilhelma Hutchinson will give an account of the pamphlet "Planting and Care of Trees."

Josephine Wright introduced a new book that our school library has recently purchased and which pertains to the trees of the Pacific northwest. This is closely related to our project and will be used quite extensively.

The members discussed the feasibility of a trip to our plot February 10th. It was decided that if the weather permitted we could go. Plans to survey the entire plot and a road which will later be "paved" are being made. When we have completed our surveying, we will be ready to begin our experiments.

Mr. Hill, local leader expressed a desire that the members begin experimenting on different ways of preserving wood. The purpose of this is to learn how to save the wood specimens for exhibit as it will be as good years later as it is today.

We plan to have another meeting the last of the week.

ing the last of the week.

The girls' cooking club of Days Creek held its regular meeting Wednesday. The preliminaries of the meeting were observed. Each member told what she had done during the week's absence from school. Most of the members accomplished much towards completion. Record books were brought up to date, and it was found that many of the girls have finished their work and are filling out the final reports.

The Woodworkers Forestry club held a special meeting at the school Friday. Mr. Hill, local leader, stated that he thought it would be very beneficial to have the members answer roll call by giving something pertaining to forestry. The president suggested that at the next meeting we would answer roll call by giving a forest law. We were informed by the local leader that Mr. Cronmiller, former state forester, would be present February 10th to go on an all-day trip. Mr. Hill said that he anticipated that Fred Sorenson, supervisor of the Douglas County Fire Patrol, would also accompany us on this excursion. The club secretary was instructed to invite E. A. Bolton, county club agent, to also make the trip.

At our next meeting we will devote the greater part of our time to the study of the proposed change in the forest service department from the hands of the secretary of agriculture to those of the secretary of interior. This question is of vital importance to our club. President Josephine Wright appointed Susie Crispin, Roy Boyd and Harry Wright to plan the lunch for the proposed trip.

The Bachelor Bakers postponed their weekly meeting until next week due to absence of some of their members.

The Forest Scouts held a short meeting Wednesday. The reports were postponed until next meeting due to tests.

Mrs. Pitney Winkelman held a meeting with the girls of the Cooking Club of Gladstone. A demonstration on making summer pudding was given by Mrs. Winkelman. Mrs. Martin and Hazel McNeal and their all records were brought to date.

Alma Betty Louise Westerman recently received a silver pin for her work showing in the state revue at Days Creek last spring on relative's meeting day.

Mrs. L. M. Allen held a meeting with the Cooking Club girls. Miss Betty Lou Miller gave a demonstration on making summer pudding and Mrs. Cooper made a demonstration on making banana pudding. Records were brought forward.

Miss Laura Benson and Mrs. E. Gardner held a meeting with the Sewing Club girls. They did the finishing on the two towels and most of them finished their items. Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Miller made a very nice quilt. Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Brown, Beth Allen, Mrs. Earl Harbison, Ann Lee Rayle, Lottie Lorraine Clark, Fay Place.

Fire at The Dalles Razes High School

THE DALLES, Ore., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Fire apparently spreading from an explosion in the printing shop or the chemistry laboratory destroyed all but the brick walls of The Dalles high school today.

Paul R. McCulloch, superintendent, said the loss of the building and equipment was about $250,000.

Firemen saved the home economics unit, the heating plant and the new $100,000 gymnasium.

The electric clock in the gymnasium, attached to the demolished building, stopped at 2:35 a. m. There was no sign of flames at 2 a. m., the hour Ed Spenser, night watchman, left the building.

Although Fire Chief Leon Mohr discovered no evidence of incendiary, he dispatched a request for an investigation to Jack Hayes, deputy state fire marshal.

Mohr said he had frequently warned the school board the 25-story structure was a fire trap and expressed the opinion casualties might have been high had the blaze occurred during school hours.

Superintendent McCulloch announced the junior high school students would be housed in grade schools, a church or the municipal auditorium may be leased to care for the remainder of the 500 students.

The building, erected at an original cost of $150,000, and the equipment were insured.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

In the long ago, there came a testing time to the children of Israel. The vote stood ten to two. Ten for fear, two for courage. The ten representative men could hardly be wrong, but might they not be? Yes, if they were voting for fear. How wrong were they? Just the moment the vote was announced, organization was at once started for a march backward along the path the people had come. So we find here the majority was certainly wrong, for the kingdom of spiritual progress is always forward. Who has the Christian's attention today? The few, the courageous or the many fearful? How is it in the church where you worship? Do you count the voices or rate them on their quality? And how with yourself? Do you hush to the voices that look toward the land of better things? Or are you more impressed with the voices that would back-track the wilderness way? Fear is the worst enemy that ever gained a foothold in the heart of man, because it robs him of his efficiency along the pathway of life. Amen.
