Whiskered Team Super Showmen

Wizards of Basketball Will Play Roseburg All-Stars Wednesday Night.

What is reported to be one of the nation's most colorful basketball aggregations, the Whiskered Wizards, representing the House of David religious sect and whose members wear beards in deference to religious principles, will play in Roseburg at the senior high school, Wednesday, February 28, against a local group of all-stars.

The Wizards excel in showmanship. They exhibit a beautifully rounded attack that picks up with tremendous speed when in scoring territory. Most of their scoring opportunities are created by their dazzling passing and bewildering ball handling. The globe trotting group will have played over 150 ball games and traveled thousands of miles over this country, Canada and Mexico by the end of their season the last of March.

The lineup of the whiskered cagers is star-studded. Leading the array is Pecos Finley, 6-foot-2 forward, who formerly played for New Mexico A. & M. college. He excels in dribbling and passes the ball with split vision so that opponents never know which way it is going. Another is Captain Jim Neely, 6-foot-3 guard, formerly of Hardin-Simmons university and a member of the All-Texas conference team. Neely is reported to be an amazing shot with his high one-handers.

Coach Bob Rich, a 6-foot 209-pounder, played three years of basketball at Texas A. & M. college and handles the coaching job. Another is Bob Sims, forward, from New Mexico A. & M. He is the group's center, played for Texas Tech and is a long shot and corner shot artist. His amazing ball handling will stupefy the crowd, according to forecasts. Robert Lofland, 6-foot-4 utility player, completes the group. He is billed as a juggler deluxe and presents a special act for the audience.

Whiskered Basketeers Dated Here

The House of David's "Whiskered Wizards" basketball team, pictured above, will play in Roseburg at the senior high school, Wednesday evening, February 28, against a quintet of local hoop stars. The tall bearded quintet is composed of former college stars, all well over six feet. Left to right are Bob Rich, Bob Sims, Jim Neely, Pecos Finley, Robert Lofland and Bob Hale.

News of 4-H CLUBS

The motion picture program sponsored jointly by the Douglas county fire patrol, Umpqua national forest service, and 4-H clubs, will be given for the first time for March on Friday of this week at Green school. The program will include sound pictures and will feature "Winter Wonderland" and the 4-H club summer school activities. Other films will also be shown. The second showing for this week will be at Melrose grange hall Saturday evening. On Monday evening of next week it will be shown at the Riddle high school. All these programs are sponsored by local 4-H clubs and free to the general public.

The shows are dated one and two a day for the entire period of the first sixteen days of March, there being only a few afternoons and one evening still open for dates.

A clothing club of eighteen members has been enrolled at Drain, with Mrs. E. H. Lakey as leader. Each member will carry the first division in clothing. Officers of the club are: president, Leona Hickethier; vice-president, Wuanita Laswell; secretary, Jean Farley. Other members are Anna May Sneed, Madene Lemon, Roberta Sawyers, Jean Roach, Joan Lyons, Gladys Barron, Lois Farley, Maxine Linch, Joan Geary, Patsy Spencer, Frances Lamp, Mary La Grander, Evelyn Keeney, Gwen Hand and Rhea Hannold.

Two camp cookery clubs were organized at the South Deer Creek school. One of these clubs is for girls and will be led by Mrs. Ada Melton. Officers are: Lorraine Stritzke, president; Lilly Mae Jones, vice-president; Eleanor Melton, secretary. Other members are Wilma Melton, Lena Mae Gilliam, Ila Jones and June Hall.

The second club is for boys and is led by Mrs. William Bailey. Officers are Robert Stritzke, president; Richard Stritzke, vice-president; Arthur Bohme, secretary. Other members are Charles Bailey, Charley Melton, Hugh Jones, Clifford Jones and Robert Mathis.

A third livestock club, organized at Lookingglass, consists of ten members, each one carrying a sheep project. George Marsh was selected as leader of the club, which has for its president June Barter, vice-president Bonnie Jean Matthews, secretary Dean Eckes. Other members are Martha June Buell, Pauline Wimer, Jean Petrequin, Phillip Teltorce, Billy Matthews, George Barter and Pauline Dowling.

By JOSEPHINE WRIGHT

At a meeting of the Woodcrafters Forestry club of Days Creek Wednesday, roll call was answered by each member discussing a state law regarding machinery in or near the forests. Our local leader, C. C. Hill, reported on the visit of Mr. Cronemiller, extension forester for Oregon. Because of weather conditions, the entire club was not permitted to take the trip. Between rains Mr. Cronemiller, Fred Southwick and Mr. Hill viewed our plot. We were promised by our state forester another visit as soon as weather permits. A week-end trip was planned, at which time surveying and burning will be done.

The Days Creek library has recently purchased a new book which pertains to woods and how to treat woods. It is proposed to use this as a basic text for our division of forestry.

For some time the members have been studying the type of an exhibit that each individual shall make. Some have chosen their subjects. They are as follows: Susie Crispen, finishings of wood; Lester Ferguson and Maurice Matthews, oddities of wood; Josephine Wright and Wiletha Hutchinson, defects of wood. The remainder of the members will soon pick their subjects and begin collecting specimens for their exhibits.

Roll call for the next meeting will be answered by each exhibiting one specimen to be used for exhibits and explaining why it is classed in a specific division.

Each member was given a booklet that Mr. Cronemiller donated to the club. This contribution pertains to the methods used and how to identify trees.

At a meeting Wednesday of the Junior Foresters of Days Creek each member contributed a suggestion as to the type of an exhibit to be had for achievement day.

The leader, Mr. Barkhurst, has illustrated very well the method that our forests have been handled in the past. He has drawn this picture on the board in the science room, and members of both forestry clubs have been taking advantage of this opportunity to learn how the forests of the United States are managed.

It is planned to have another meeting the latter part of the week.

At the meeting of the Master Marketeers of the Days Creek school Thursday, Zelma Davis read her completed essay. She has written a story carrying paper from the raw material to the finished product. The members of the club corrected and criticized her work, but unanimously agreed that it was an excellent essay.

The lesson of the week was read and discussed. More essays are planned to be completed by the next meeting.

At the home of Mrs. J. M. Bartley, refreshments of cherry jello and cookie hatchets were served to her group of 4-H members on Washington's birthday. Roll call was answered by each girl telling things about George Washington's life.

The roll call responses for next meeting are naming and describing some kind of wild flower.

Several girls have completed sheets and will now work on pillow slips, quilts and decorated blankets. The others will finish sheets this week. The samples of material for further work will be ordered and ready for approval at the next meeting.

By JOYCE BARTLEY

The Breakfast Chatters held their weekly meeting Wednesday at the home of their leader, Mrs. R. L. Matthews. After repeating the club pledge, the group gave a yell and learned the words of a song.

Reports on finished work were given. The "Price List of Foods" in record books was filled out. The cereals which had been studied during the past week were thoroughly discussed. Making milk dishes will be the work for the next week.

The game which the group enjoyed during the afternoon was "Up Jenins." Mrs. Matthews passed large yellow apples to all of the members.

By PATTY HOLMQUIST

The Seven Little Women of Elgarose 4-H club, under the leadership of Nettie Woodruff, have a new member, Doris Jean Burch. She is taking the place of Barbara Becker, who moved to Glengary. Doris is in the second division.

Some girls of the second group have finished their dresses and aprons and are ready to begin their potholders. The girls of the first group have completed their luncheon cloths needle cases and are working on their handbags.

On March 16th Mr. Britton is putting on a moving picture show at Elgarose school for the benefit of the girl going to Corvallis.

By DOROTHY FELT

The Marketing club at the Elgarose school is on the seventh lesson. The members are Paul Backlund, Dorothy Felt, Freeman Williams and Evelyn Garber. We all plan to attend marketing day in Roseburg.

The Elgarose Health club meets every Thursday. Our last lesson was health topic reports about cleanliness from each pupil. We weigh each pupil every month and measure height every three months.

By PAUL BACKLUND

Every Tuesday the boys of the Elgarose school have their Bachelor Sewing club day. Some have made their hot dish holders, emergency kits, camp cook aprons, and are now learning how to patch overalls. Mrs. Ritzman is our leader.

By BETTY LOU VOGELPOHL and JEAN EMERY

The Sutherlin 4-H Hobby club met Friday. The girls decided they would take turns in the program committee. Part of the "Leave a Note" boxes were gotten ready to saw. For the rest of the period we sewed. The members present were Jean Turner, Clela Cooper, Julia Sabala, Patty Jordan, Gloria Beeroft, Cora Wolfe, Edna Real, Earle Wolfe, Virginia Beller, Pat Emery and Betty Lou Vogelpohl.

We have separated into three groups—division one and two cookery clubs and the girls' hobby club. We decided on embroidery work.

By VERNA PUNDT

The Umpqua national forest service, the Douglas county fire patrol and County Club Agent E. A. Britton are planning on entertainment of moving pictures of the 4-H summer school held in Corvallis last summer. It is open to the public and will be held in Reedsport. We are looking forward to it, but we do not know the exact date.

Friday the 4-H girls of the fifth grade met at the school to do their sewing. They are now working on their bags in weaving.

The sixth grade 4-H club which has been giving its reports with the Little Weavers now have their own reporter.

We now have a new 4-H group of boys from the fifth to the seventh grades. Their local leader is Mr. John Bailey. Officers are: Bobby Myers, president; Billy Collver, vice-president; John Bleid, secretary.

A demonstration was put on by Donna A. Bernhardt and Delores M. The title of it was "Weaving the Bag." It was first put on in the fifth grade and repeated in the sixth. Donna was the leader for this. It was her second time on the committee and Delores' first attempt. It was very successful both times.

We now have had five meetings and have five to complete. Our motto was decided upon to be "Friends to All."
