Gymnastic Drill Dated at R. H. S.

The Junior-Senior Gymkhana, a two-hour program of gymnastic drills, acrobatics, pyramids and rhythmic, will be presented to the Roseburg community Monday evening, March 18, at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium.

The program, arranged by the girls' physical education department, gets off to a good start with all the junior high girls marching in intricate design over the gym floor. Three hundred and fifty girls appear from three to five minutes with routines varying from one performer to 200.

Miss Muriel White, head of the department, is directing the program. Announcement of the event has been made as follows:

"There is such a wide range of talent in the Gymkhana that it is difficult to state the most interesting or spectacular. Many will enjoy the huge bar drill while others will be attracted with the beauty of the graceful rhythmic. A few of the highlights are Ruth Ann Ruhl, dazzling in red telephone costume and great telephone ball... Betty Whipple, Doris Abell, Joan Hume, Anita Young, Peggy Cole, Lila Sanders, Patricia Turner, Patricia McClintock with pink wings as they dip and sway by the Whirling Well... Doris Williams, Hilda Wilson, and Lila Sanders performing difficult acrobatic routines... 60 girls building pyramids... Doris Hutchings, Florence Hamilton, Yvonne Schrader, Phronia Perry, Lila Sanders, Oressa Adams in symmetry, a group of still poses... Then all the junior high girls in a hand stand drill.

"The Junior-Senior Gymkhana is different and unusual. It is rare that one is given the opportunity to see so many students working uniformly on the floor at one time."

Popular admission prices will be charged.
