

Oaks Seize Lead In Coast League

Third Straight Captured From Wobbly Seals While Padres Are Beaten by Hollywood.

By The Associated Press
After languishing low in the Pacific Coast baseball league's second division for several years, Oakland's Aenas today had their hour of glory. They displaced San Diego at the top of the heap by winning their third straight from San Francisco, 10 to 2, while San Diego's hitless subaltern Padres were being pushed for their first loss of the season by Hollywood, 9 to 6.

The Oaks did not have to work for success. San Francisco's Seals obliquely blew up with their customary loud report, as they have done three games in a row. It happened in the seventh inning, with the game stalled at 2 to 2. Before the hitting ended six Oakland runs had crossed the plate.

Portland Again Beaten
The slugger Seraph of Los Angeles put on another hitting spree at Portland's expense, 6 to 5, but Seattle got tired of being pushed around by Sacramento and staged a 4-to-2 comeback.

The Angels demonstrated they have not set themselves a minimum of four home runs per game—they only joked out three yesterday, for a grand total of 11 in their three games with Portland.

Snohomish, the Russian muscle man of Los Angeles sent one out of the park in the eighth to tie the score at 5 to 5. Then Shortstop Chiock doubled, scoring on Hernandez's single.

It was Novikoff's second homer in the game, his fourth of the series. First baseman Collins also homered as did Portland's left fielder, Rosenberz.

Seattle's right-hander, Barrett, was responsible for the Rainiers' success in breaking a three-game losing streak. The Sacramento bats put over a run in the first and another in the ninth, but that was all. Meanwhile Seattle gathered eleven hits from Freitas.

San Diego outlast Hollywood 11 to 10, but couldn't muster the necessary strength in the clincher to put over its fourth straight win.

The more education a man has the less chance he has of ever going to prison, James A. Johnston, warden of Alcatraz federal prison told a 25th meeting of northwest law enforcement officers, bankers and ecologists here today.

"You would be amazed," he said to a luncheon meeting address, "what a large part education plays in crime."

"Prisons and reform schools are jammed with young men, but half of them or more dropped out of school before they reached the sixth grade. A fourth of them never passed the fourth grade."

Referring to prison management, Johnston said "we never forget we are dealing with human beings, no matter what a man has done."

MONTREAL, Eng., April 5.—(AP)—Boyskar, a race outsider, came from nowhere to win the 192 grand national steeplechase today.

MacMottat was second and Gold Arrow, third.

Boyskar was a 25 to 1 shot in the betting. MacMottat was held at 8 to 1 by the crowd, estimated at more than 100,000, while Gold Arrow was considered to have no better than a 20 to 1 chance.

Athletic Activity Noted at R. H. S.

Spring athletics at Roseburg Senior high school are commanding far more attention than usual from boys of the student body, Coach Jim Watts reported today.

Approximately 45 boys have signed up and drawn equipment for spring football, which will start Monday with three workouts scheduled each week. This is the largest turnout of spring footballists in the school's history.

Spring basketball training already is under way for sophomores, juniors and 9th graders which will play next season. Thirty-eight boys are turning out twice each week for practice at the junior high gym.

Fifteen boys are participating in track and field workouts. Roseburg high school will enter relay and shot putting teams in a meet at Hayward field in Eugene April 12. Negotiations also are under way for a dual meet here with Cottage Grove and a three-way meet between Roseburg, Meritt Point and Conville at one of the Coos county towns at some future date.

Local athletics also will participate in the annual district meet at Eugene and in the Greater Willamette association meet at Corvallis.

Shipowners Get Rap From Bridges

MARSHFIELD, Ore., April 4.—(AP)—Harry Bridges, I. O. O. F. labor leader, coupled an attack on shipowners last night with the charge that west coast waterfront employers are attempting to back a long-time peace agreement with longshoremen and warehousemen.

The employers believe they can weaken the international longshoremen's and warehousemen's union and force concessions in two years by so giving them cheaper operating costs," he told a mass meeting in conjunction with the I. O. O. F.'s annual convention.

A peace plan has been worked out and will be presented to all local unions, he said, explaining it is hoped that opposition of the public and demand will force it into effect.

Hay Fever Fought By Eating Pollen

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)
CLEVELAND, April 4.—People who said they helped their hay fever by eating clover honey in the spring and chewing ragweed leaves in the summer received medical justification today at the American college of physicians.

This curious legend was investigated by the allergy clinic of the university hospitals of Cleveland, with the result that eating pollen was tried as a medical remedy and found quite effective.

One hundred and thirty hay fever victims acted as the ragweed pollen. About half of them took injections of the ragweed pollen, which is a standard method of relieving hay fever, while the other half swallowed capsules filled with the same pollen.

As a result 63 per cent of the pollen eaters were helped considerably, 21 per cent had failed of relief and 16 per cent were not relieved at all. This was almost as good as the results of the regular vaccination method, where 70 per cent experienced considerable relief, 19 per cent had no relief.

The capsule method had one advantage. It was easy to take a capsule every day or two, whereas the vaccination requires going to the doctor or the hospital to be scratched with a needle anywhere from 15 to 30 times.

The clinic physicians said there is still a medical controversy over the pollen-eating method, less than a dozen physicians having tested the method.

When taken in a capsule one hundred times as much pollen may be given as by hypodermic needle. However, even the 100 times multiplication only fills a pill that is small enough to swallow easily.

Livestock Men Dislike Laws on Reforestation

CORVALLIS, Ore., April 4.—(AP)—Western Oregon livestock men withheld Oregon reforestation legislation today but expressed dissatisfaction with reforestation and land classification laws.

The legislation, taxation, transportation committee, headed by Fred G. Knox of Eugene, introduced a fairly sweeping revision to obtain quicker action on the best land uses.

Lynn Cronmiller, state department of forestry, obtained the annual convention's endorsement of a standing committee to study revisions and discuss proposed changes. County livestock associations before presenting bills to the legislature.

Newspaper Ads Best, Housewives Declare

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 4.—(AP)—Professor Frank Hutchinson of the Rutgers University department of journalism said today a survey of 236 New Brunswick and Highland park housewives showed time out or ten believed newspaper advertising more helpful to them than radio advertising.

The survey by journalism students also indicated, Hutchinson said that 92 to 94 per cent of housewives found newspaper advertising helpful in shopping, and that 81 to 82 per cent were aided by the advertisements in "keeping up" with latest styles.

Serial Story

K. O. Cavalier

By Jerry Brondfeld

CAST OF CHARACTERS
VAL DOUGLAS—girl sports writer, shipped on a freighter to find excitement.
EDDIE CAVALIER—a prize fighter headed for the title, has a score to settle with Val.
CAPTAIN STEVE HANSEN—skipper of the Northern Belle.
DUFFY KELSO—Cavalier's manager.

CHAPTER V
Duffy Kelso looked as though he would explode and it was the trainer who spoke up quietly. "Well, lady, if it'll help clear up this mess, we been out doin' a little fishin' on the bay. On our way back from Oakland our motor went dead on the little speedboat we'd rented and we drifted around until dark when someone picked us up and towed us in. And that's where they happened to drop us off."

"I see."

Duffy Kelso, regaining his voice, glared at her. "I don't know who's boss around here, but you'd better have your admiral friend turn this motor over around and take us back to Frisco."

"And what if we refuse?" Val inquired sweetly.

Duffy Kelso once again struggled over his attempts to talk and it was Cavalier who answered for him.

"You'd be an idiot to refuse. Where you bound for anyway?"

"Prince Rupert, British Columbia," she announced calmly. "And you won't be back for at least 12 days. I might inform you, also, that while on board you'll have to earn your keep. We're shorthanded and you'll have to fill in. However," she added, "you'll receive standard wages for your efforts."

Duffy Kelso's cheek almost split the cabin walls. "You crazy dame, you can't do that to us. We've gotta fight in two weeks. Get us off this tub immediately or I'll murder you myself."

"Disregard the sensitive gentleman on your left, Captain Hansen. He becomes violent on the slightest provocation. He's really harmless, however."

"Quit clowning," Eddie Cavalier said ominously. "Do we go back or not?"

"The answer is not. About your fight, if I recall correctly, you and Johnny Massini are meeting to see who gets a crack at the champ. Right?"

"For the first time in your life—yes."

"As much as I hate to say it, you ought to take Massini without too much trouble," she said meditatively.

"Look, lady—what're you driving at?" Duffy Kelso grated. "You're killin' me by inches. Why don't you get it over with and end my agony?"

"Okay, Duffy. Here it is. I said you ought to go through with your fight with Massini, all right, but in so doing you're going to give me the soap of the year. You're going to train for that fight right on board this ship and I'm going to file my stories by ship's radio every day."

"Yowee! What a setup!" she chortled. "The more I think of it the greater the idea sounds. What a story this'll make! What a story!"

Captain Hansen's jaw sagged a full inch. "Val," he said softly, "how in thunder is that box-fighter join' to train on board the 'Belle'?"

Duffy Kelso looked sick. Eddie Cavalier looked at her with eyes that said he longed to get his hands around her throat.

"Miss Douglas," it was Pop Grimes, pleading with her. "Honestly, lady, this is as funny as a crutch. Your admiral there, is right. Even if you don't put around and take us back to Frisco how can Eddie get in shape here?"

She was quite cool and informative in her answer. "Simple stuff, gents. In the first place I know Cavalier is just about in shape all ready. He had a strenuous indoor season. Three fights, if I remember correctly. He doesn't need much training for this one. I know he happens to be all through with his heavy work. Just last week you, Pop Grimes, gave out a work to the effect that Eddie looked over-trained. . . . that you weren't going to have him do much more than road work, some light work on the bars and a little sparring. Right?"

Pop Grimes licked his lips. "Right," he whispered. But . . .

"But nothing," she flashed. "It so happens that Mike Kelly, who you probably remember as a pretty fair heavyweight a few years back, is a seaman aboard this ship. Fortunately for us he has a couple sets of gloves and a light bag which he and some of the boys use in their spare time. Mike'll be as good a sparring partner as you'd want. And Cavalier can do all the road work he wants to around the deck."

Duffy Kelso just sat there and gaped. She looked at him and laughed.

"Before I get through, Duffy, you're going to thank me."

"Shoot you you mean."

"Go ahead," Cavalier said calmly. "This is the most fantastic thing I've come across since Jules Verne."

"We can pitch a ring on the after deck."

Pop Grimes clapped a hand to his cheek and groaned again. "But his timing—his timing, it'll be ruined. This tub probably pitches like a bucking bronco. It'll throw him so far off balance he'll fall flat on his face."

"Wrong again. This vessel is the smoothest floating freighter on the Pacific. And a guy who punches as sharp as Cavalier doesn't have to worry about losing his timing in a few days."

Eddie Cavalier presented her with a mock bow. "Such flattery must come from the heart," he murmured. "To think you might have a good word to say about me."

"Make the most of it," she retorted. "It might be the last one."

Duffy Kelso shook his head mournfully. "Eddie, it looks like this dame is going through with it. Maybe we oughta wire Sam Golden and tell him to cancel."

Then turning once again to Val
