

News of 4-H CLUBS

A letter from John McKeen, field biologist for the Oregon state game commission, states that it is likely the club members of Douglas county raising pheasants will be able to secure the eggs between the 20th and 25th of this month. It is expected that Douglas county members will set somewhere between two and three thousand pheasant eggs for this season. The number has been cut down to considerable extent for the reason that exceptionally large projects are not desired.

The Coca Cola entertainers concluded their program for the season Sunday at Loom Lake, where they put on a program during the afternoon. This group began on March 14th and has also put on programs for Green, Lookingglass, Edenbower, Elanrose, Garden Valley, Glenaway, Glenda and Glide. All of these programs have been in the interest of 4-H club work.

As a pre-season program this club will provide the entertainment for the Wilbur academy program Sunday afternoon, June 2nd.

The Kiwanis program will be taken to the Elkhead grange Thursday evening of this week, instead of Tuesday evening, as originally planned. The program will be held in the grange hall belonging to the Elk Creek grange in Yoncalla. This Tuesday night at Riverdale grange hall for local and visiting Kiwanians who are meeting in conference for the day and evening Tuesday. The last Kiwanis program given in the interest of 4-H club scholarships will be held at the Umpqua community hall Tuesday evening, May 14.

4-H club members of Loom Lake held their achievement program Sunday in connection with the community program. As livestock was not to be shown in the spring, nothing but clothing exhibits were exhibited. However, every one of these rated a blue ribbon and was awarded the same at the time of the display.

Leaders of Canyonville are preparing for the 4-H club spring fair there to be held Thursday evening of this week. All club exhibits are to be in place between 4 and 6 p. m. so that the judges may have everything placed and ribbons up before guests begin arriving at about 7:30. Club members from Myrtle Creek, Riddle, Days Creek, Canyonville and Glendale will exhibit at this fair.

Preparations are under way now to provide accommodations for the exhibits and guests at the 4-H spring fair for the north end of the county which will be held in Drain Friday evening of this week. As at Canyonville, all exhibits at this fair must be in place between the hours of four and six. A splendid picture, "Under the 4-H Flag," which is a sound picture and requires about an hour and fifteen minutes to run, will be shown at each of these fairs, and also at the central Douglas fair Saturday evening in Roseburg. No admission is to be charged at any of the spring fairs. Following the showing of the picture, a dress revue for those girls who have completed articles of clothing in divisions 2, 3, 4 and 5 will be held and winners selected.

The Roseburg armory has been secured for the use of the central Douglas spring fair, and will be open by 8 o'clock Saturday morning of this week. Exhibits must be in place by 10 o'clock. Signs will be placed so that each community or each club may find its place of exhibition and get everything in readiness by the hour stated. Judges will begin work immediately after 10 o'clock. The armory will be open all afternoon for people to look the exhibits over and again in the evening for the motion picture, "Under the 4-H Flag," a sound picture. The dress revue will conclude this program in the evening. At the close of the meeting all exhibits are expected to be removed by the owners or someone appointed for them.

One of the outstanding exhibits and of special interest to teachers and pupils interested in art work will be that of the two glide art clubs, which will require a large amount of space, and then coming from a much smaller school, that of Dixonville, which will have also a very excellent showing of art work.

The Twenty Little Weavers 4-H club went on a nature hike Saturday with Carol Smiley as leader. They studied flowers, trees and growth of trees.

As the girls have nearly completed all their sewing, they wish to put it on exhibition at the 4-H fair at Drain Friday, May 10th.

The tenth and final meeting of the Bachelor Bakers of Days Creek was held at the school Wednesday. After the usual business procedure the tenth lesson was read and discussed. A demonstration in the form of a lecture was given by Richard Snyder and Clifford Wooster. The local leader explained how the final page should be filled in. The members showed their stories to the local leader and these were approved to be copied in their record books. The books are to be turned in to the leader Friday. All members are planning to exhibit at the spring fair in Canyonville Thursday evening, May 9th.

This week has witnessed much labor and planning of the Woodcrafters Forestry club. Practically every day the club has spent some time working on their boards. Willetta Hutchinson and Susie Crispian have collected many species of fungi and are working with the assistance of Myrl Barkhurst, science teacher of the school, to identify these. Lester Ferguson and Maurine Matthews are making articles to show the uses of wood. Roy Lloyd and Harry Wright have gathered the different types of lumber on the South Umpqua valley to show Josephine Wright has collected defects of lumber. The Coen Lumber company courteously supplied our desires for this exhibit and the Woodcrafters certainly appreciate it. This club is thrilled with the anticipation of broadcasting over KEX in June.

While the Woodcrafters have been working, the Junior Foresters have not been idle by any means. More wild flowers have been collected and pressed. Those earnest workers have saved and samplered much wood in the past week and are planning to have an extraordinary exhibit at the spring fair.

Another meeting of the Flower Growers was held Thursday. The remainder of reports were given. An interesting report on "The Elements Needed by Flowers," was given by Maxine Wright. She showed the club an excellent picture which illustrated what happened in the absence of each element. Alice Mae Welch told how the use of ashes will prevent insects from preying on a gardener's plants. Another remedy, the use of soap suds, was suggested by Jean Duncan. Three new members were added to the roll call of the club. They are Norma Duncan, Beverly Worthington and Marie Sutton. The leader requested that all intending to exhibit at the spring fair contact her so that she may fill out the questionnaire recently sent out by Mr. Britton, letting him know the number of exhibits to be placed.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

"God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son," John 3:16. One always stands in awe of this verse. It seems too magnificent, too wonderful, too incomprehensible, to be trifled with by human thought or mind. Here it stands the best known verse of the Bible, as a great mountain peak, towering Godward. There are four great truths effectively stated: A great love—"God so loved the world"; a great gift—"His only begotten Son"; a great invitation—"whosoever"; a great salvation—"shall not perish, but have everlasting life." All these gifts are obtained through simple belief. Do you know what belief really means? It is one of the strongest words imaginable. It comes from two little words, "by" and "live." To believe is to live, or to live-by, and that demands all one has of heart and soul and mind. What a wonderful love God had for this sinful world when He gave such a precious gift to redeem it. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." Amen.

Dollar-a-Year Government No More

Days of cheap government in the U. S. are over, as annual cost of federal spending per person reaches its highest level in history. Chart, against background of a federal dam, shows annual per capita cost of government during 17 presidential periods. Lowest in history was during Washington's administration, when government cost each citizen only $1 a year.

Tiller Cinnabar Mine to Resume Work Soon

CANYONVILLE, May 6.—Construction of a 40-ton reduction plant for the treatment of cinnabar has been completed at Tiller by the Tiller Development company. It was announced here by Roy F. Hickman, manager. Construction materials were transported to the mine from Tiller by tractor and trailer, the hauling being done on contract by Carl Hill Jr., of Days Creek.

Operations temporarily have been discontinued, because of unfavorable weather conditions. Mr. Hickman states, but as soon as the road leading into the property can be reconstructed it is planned to resume work. The company hopes to be operating with a crew of 18 or more men by the latter part of May.

Carl Hill Jr. will do the road work with his newly equipped bulldozer and tractor.

This little doo-dad with a glass dial is one of the handiest things ever put on a tractor. It's called an Hour Meter and counts engine revolutions in terms of minutes. In other words, it acts just like the speedometer on your car—when it says so many hours, you grease this—so many more, you change that—and so on.

It sure saves time in figuring costs, too. Just measure your fuel, look at your meter, and Presto! you know how much it costs to feed your "Caterpillar" Diesel.

But that's only part of our story. If you'd like to hear the rest, drop in—we promise not to bore you.
