Every state, county and city official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals a true accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

In this country the present "standing" army is so small that the real defense troops of the nation are the national guard units. These men are citizen soldiers. They attend to their fairly simple military duties one or more evenings each week (for which service each is paid a small sum) and at other times they are not identified as soldiers.

The Roseburg company of the Oregon National Guard is one of the crack units of the Oregon regiment. It has won awards for excellence several times during the past few years. We are proud of the local National Guard company. Now that emphasis is being placed upon the need for additional national defense, the National Guard steps into the limelight.

A few months ago when a sudden order increased the size of the guard companies, the Roseburg company was the first one in the state to announce compliance. The number of men in the company was increased to the required strength almost overnight. It was a brilliant achievement, credit for which goes mostly to the able commanding officer of the company, Captain Robert L. Irving.

But now the local company has dropped below the new strength requirement of 82 men. Several men have obtained jobs in other parts of the country or have been compelled to give up the military work for one reason or another. Possibly the anticipated encampment of three weeks in August of this year has caused some of the men to feel they could not be absent from their jobs for so long a time.

Lately, however, there has been considerable emphasis placed upon the necessity of a good summer encampment training for the National Guard. Employers everywhere have been urged to give every consideration to the summer camp requirement of guardmen in their employ.

The immediate problems, however, is the need of additional recruits for the local National Guard company. This writer has previously urged membership in the guard as beneficial physically and financially to young men. That argument still holds. But now there is a greater and an infinitely more compelling argument in favor of joining the National Guard. The fact is the National Guard has overnight become the very backbone of the national defense program. For the first time in many years, the National Guard has a job to do—this time it is a big job indeed. The work out for the existing guard members is to help the nation get ready—not to go to another land to engage in battle, but to defend our own land against any possible form of attack.

lies in the case as the bombs fell. One man called for more wine in between explosions. Several army officers laid down their forks but others continued to eat calmly.

"A few people went into the basement."

ONE woman, the French wife of an American correspondent, whose apartment was barely mis-ed by falling bombs, explains that the worst part of the experience is the high and piercing scream of the bombs as they near the earth.

"You hear them coming," she says, "and it gives you time to wonder whether this one is meant for you or for somebody else."

RED CROSS nurses stay at their post in doomed Dunkerque through all the hell of air and land bombardment, going about their work of ministering to the wounded. A wounded British soldier is quoted in today's dispatches:

"I can't describe what we feel about those girls. On that dreadful beach, with German planes continually overhead and shells bursting all the time, the nurses have worked without stopping for days past. Angela is the only word you can use to describe them. I have seen some of them killed as they have gone about their work."

War proves, as nothing else can, that human beings are both unbelievably despicable and unbelievably noble.

Local Guard Unit Calls for Recruits

At Least 15 Men Required to Fill Vacancies and Regain Authorized Strength.

Recruits are needed immediately for the company D, 102nd Infantry (Roseburg's unit of the Oregon National Guard), Captain Robert L. Irving, commanding officer, announced today. The Roseburg unit, he stated, has been below authorized strength for the past month, following resignation in a large company with an increase of enlisted personnel to 82 men. The newly authorized strength has not been reached due to the fact that many have exceeded enlistment periods. Captain Irving said a number of men have moved from the state or have obtained employment elsewhere, necessitating their discharge. At least 15 new recruits are needed immediately.

It is imperative, he reports, that there be no delay in meeting the recruiting requirement, as it has been the policy to withdraw units from towns where the full authorized strength is not maintained. The Roseburg company had an excellent attendance record until April 1 of this year, but since that date has not been able to obtain sufficient recruits to fill vacancies as they occur.

Employers' Aid Needed.

"Part of this difficulty is due to a feeling on the part of prospective recruits that they will be unable to obtain employment or that their present employment will be jeopardized if they go to camp for three weeks in August as required," Captain Irving said. "It is essential," he declared, "that employers encourage their employees to enlist in the local unit and to assure them that their jobs will be kept open for them while they are engaged in training or military service. Training is a vital essential of this time and every effort should be made to see that members of the national guard receive this training as a part of the national defense program."

IRVINGHAM CITY, Fla.—Kenneth L. Jones, 21, and Donna Veda Jones, 18, obtained a marriage license. Jones' father is John Jones. So is Donna Veda's father. They're not related.

Insurance

MIAMI, Fla.—An attorney protested when a juror hearing testimony in a $10,000 damage suit fell asleep, so the judge called a five-minute recess.

The sleepy juror appeared wide-awake when the jury filed back in, but soon drifted off to sleep again. The disgruntled judge declared a mistrial, then began over with another jury of six.

This time, however, a seventh juror sat alone in the rear row, ready to serve if one of the regulars couldn't resist a nap.

All Balled Up

CHICAGO—Several members of the county highway police force saw white dots in front of their eyes—1,000 of 'em in fact.

The "dots" were golf balls which the officers tumbled before putting their charges against four men, accused of stealing exactly 1,500 balls from a golf practice range.

Outstanding Ninth Grade Students Get Trophies

Adjudged the best all-around boy in the ninth grade at Roseburg Junior high school, Don King, Jr., won the Donald Bushford Memorial trophy. The trophy is presented and awarded by the Roseburg Rotary club as a memorial to the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Bushford, who, while attending junior high school, was drowned after assisting a swimming companion to safety.

Ruth Ann (Bull) Ingber, recipient of the trophy for the best all-around girl, awarded by Mrs. G. D. Lytle, president of the chapter of the P. E. O. Sisterhood. The award is given by the chapter annually to the most outstanding ninth grade girl and is based on citizenship, scholarship, leadership, activity participation and charm.

Food Stamps in 3 Oregon Counties. With the addition of Clatsop and Marion counties to Multnomah county under the food stamp surplus distribution plan, Oregon now has an estimated additional 1,000,000 surplus dollars available to assist under this program. Typical foods which are designated as staples and which may be bought with the food stamps are apples, butter, wheat cereal, eggs, flour, milk, pears, and oranges.

Oregon's Own and Only Sugar the Best Sugar You Can Buy for YOUR CANNING. It's Berry time in OREGON. Oregon housewives can more fruit per capita than any other state. Why? Perhaps because Oregon's fruits are so excellent and so low in cost. Commercial canning is also important; for instance, Oregon produces 74% of the nation's canned loganberries and 18% of its canned strawberries. Pure Beet Sugar. Use beet sugar and save. Endorsed for canning by the U. S. Government and by leading Oregon housewives and home economists. WHITE SATIN SUGAR.
