ADAH MARIE RUHL VOTED OUTSTANDING STUDENT FOR 1940

Miss Adah Marie Ruhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ruhl of this city, was voted by the faculty of the Sacramento Junior college as being the most outstanding woman student in the 1940 graduating class of 500. Miss Ruhl's name will be inscribed on a bronze placque in the main archway of the college administration building.

According to an announcement made by the dean of women, Miss Belle Cooledge, during the commencement exercises, Miss Ruhl was selected because of her high scholastic record, personality, ability to cooperate with both faculty and students, character, and real service to the school. Mention was also made of the fact that thirteen other Roseburg students are now attending the junior college.

Miss Ruhl is now spending a few days visiting her parents and friends in this city, but will leave Saturday for Granville, Ohio, to attend a two weeks' training course at Dennison university. Following this, she will spend six weeks of actual field work in a small community of the middle west. Of the hundred college students selected for this work from all over the United States, Miss Ruhl is the only junior college representative. The service clubs and church groups of Sacramento have pledged the total amount of her expenses for the summer's work, and she was also awarded the partial scholarship offered by the Methodist churches of the Pacific southwest area.
