

National Guard to Drill on Sundays

Outdoor Maneuvers Will Occur at Rifle Range; New Arms Awaited for Mock War.

The regular weekly drills of the local national guard unit will be held outdoors Sundays during the balance of this month. This action has been taken to give training which is not possible in the armory. Next Sunday drill, called for 8 a. m. will be held on the rifle range east of the city.

Although all of the new weapons have not yet been received by the local unit, considerable progress has already been made in training of the men assigned to the use of those weapons. During the field camp, scheduled for August 1 to 24, inclusive, the local unit will be called on to furnish support for the battalion during the four-day mock battle, not only with the 50 calibre machine guns, as they have done in past years, but also anti-tank defense with the .50 calibre machine guns and indirect fire on defiladed positions with the 81 m.m. mortars.

Advance information received by the local unit indicates that this camp will not be devoted to the usual ceremonies and parades but will be entirely for training under actual field conditions, which will include overnight marches, bivouacs, night operations, scouting and patrolling, security measures, concealment and anti-tank and anti-aircraft defense.

As soon as the new allowance of ammunition is received it is planned to give every man an opportunity to qualify in marksmanship for the weapons with which he is armed. Marksmanship with the machine gun will be with 30 calibre ammunition this year instead of .22 calibre, as in past years.

Recruits Needed By Guard Co. Here

Additional recruits are still needed by national guard company D of Roseburg to reach the authorized strength, Captain R. L. Irving, commanding officer reports. The strength of the unit is now only 75, with several applications on file awaiting completion of the required physical examination. The applications on file will balance several expected losses during the next week which will not permit the local unit to reach the authorized strength unless additional applications are received.

Lieut. Wm. E. Long, recruiting officer, and a staff of assistants are on duty each evening at the armory to handle promptly all applications received. The medical examinations will be at the armory Thursday evening and all applicants are being directed to report for examination at 8 p. m. Efforts are being made to have sufficient applications on hand Thursday evening so that the active strength will be completed at that time.

In addition to receiving applications for men for the active list, applications are also being received for men to enlist in the inactive national guard. Members of the inactive list are not required to attend drills, but are available for duty if the local unit is called into federal service at a strength in excess of the present authorized strength. It is expected that if the president orders the guard into federal service the local unit will be authorized to recruit up to a total strength of 123 men, which is the peace strength of regular army units. In order to have men available and to make necessary an intensive recruiting campaign at a time when all members of the unit will be very busy with other matters it is desired that 11 men be enlisted in the inactive national guard. Men so enlisted will be assigned to the local unit and will be called to active service in event of a mobilization or other emergency. Reports have been received that a number of men would enlist if the local unit were to be called into federal service but do not feel they can attend drills. These men should enlist in the inactive national guard so that they would be called when the unit is ordered out and they would not have to complete the enlistment papers during a rush period, Captain Irving states.

They would also be assured of a place in the local unit with men that they know. In an emergency they may be assigned to other units if they volunteer at a later date or wait until a draft law is passed by congress.

Hunting Rules To Be Drawn in July

Regulations for the 1940 hunting season will be formulated next month by the Oregon state game commission. The annual hearing on this subject has been set in Portland July 13.

Questions have been forwarded to all sportsmen's organizations with the request that they be filled out and returned to the commission office as soon as possible.

Perhaps the most controversial subject to be determined by the commission will be whether the antlerless deer season in the Marquette creek district in Grant county will be continued. Open season on antlerless deer was provided in a bill passed by the 1939 legislature and authority was granted to the commission either to continue or discontinue the season in 1940. No provision was made for providing a limited kill. If the season is left open in this district an antlerless deer of one-tined horn and one antlerless deer.

Other subjects to be considered include the issuance of special tags for taking of cow elk in the northeastern part of the state; open and closed seasons on Chis-

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

The necessity of faith in God, a faith full and unwavering, is one of the most important lessons to be derived from the teachings and works of Christ Jesus, our Lord. How often were his healing words posited upon the faith of the one in need. Of the century who came to Jesus to heal his servants, the Master declared: "Verily I say unto you I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israhel." And the servant was healed. When the disciples, having failed to heal the lunatic lad, inquired why they could not heal him, Jesus replied: "Because of your unbelief. Again and again, throughout the scriptures is the need for faith in God emphasized, ever posited as a fundamental necessity in the application of scriptural truth to the solution of human problems. Faith in its deeper meaning that is, faith in God, is potent in proportion as it is based upon understanding God, upon definite knowledge of God, of His Christ, and of man in His image and likeness. Faith thus founded becomes a strong factor in overcoming sin, in overcoming any hindrances that would deprive us of the fullness of the presence of God in our lives. It is this type of faith that removes mountains of difficulties. Amen.

Estimated Fruit Crops Announced

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—The 1940 apple crop is average or above in all sections except the south central.

The agricultural department, in its crop summary of conditions on June 1, predicted a pear crop of 30,853,000 bushels. In 1939 it was 31,047,000 bushels. A cherry crop of 174,870 tons of all varieties, 6 per cent below last year's record crop, was forecast. No production figures were given for apples, but the department said that in the 38 states having commercial production the condition was 67 per cent of normal, compared with a condition of 69 per cent on June 1 last year. Better prospects than last year are indicated in Oregon with a light crop in view for California, except for later varieties. In Washington, Oregon and California, which usually produce about two-thirds of the country's pear crop, Bartlett production was placed at 13,598,000 bushels. It was 11,529,000 bushels in 1939. Production of fall and winter pears in these three states was indicated to be 6,345,000 bushels. It was 6,921,000 in 1939. For the second successive year, a record crop of sour cherries was in prospect. Increases over last season were expected in all except four including Oregon. Sour cherry production was estimated at 108,120 tons and sweet cherries at 66,750 tons.
