

Proposed 'Pioneer' Trek Frowned On

Plan Won't Work, Grants Pass C. of C. Tells Head; Tract Near Glendale Involved.

GRANTS PASS, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—Grants Pass chamber of commerce directors told R. J. Wilson last night that if his plan appeared to have a reasonable chance for success they would welcome heartily the 200 families he proposes to bring to southern Oregon—but they don't believe it will work.

Directors discouraged Wilson, president of the Long Beach, Calif., "Pioneer club" at a special meeting Tuesday evening, but their advice had little apparent effect on his good humor and intention to bring 200 migrants to make a cooperative livelihood from logging in this region, to be followed eventually by agriculture and industry.

Wilson said that on Wednesday he was to make down payment in his own name on 530 acres of timber land nine miles from Glendale in Douglas county, where 20 families would be settled. The migration is to begin from Long Beach by automobile on June 29.

Objections Listed
Niel R. Allen, state veteran leader and lawyer, summarized five reasons "why this board does not think your plan will succeed."

1. The $1,000 to be set aside for transportation home if the club fails, $1.67 per head, is not a sufficient amount.

2. The $3,000 allotted to feed the members for the initial five-week period, which would mean $1 a week or less than five cents a meal, is an insufficient amount.

3. The club cannot market its products locally, in the directors' opinion, and cost of renting it for cash would be too high to be feasible.

4. The club cannot obtain logging equipment on a percentage of profits basis locally, in the directors' opinion, and cost of renting it for cash would be too high to be feasible.

5. The club will be unable to enforce its by-law that any member may be assessed to the limit of his assets should the funds be needed.

Wilson, who said he had not yet collected the required $25 per family, reported he had bought a $300 donkey engine at Port Orford for $200. He agreed with Charles R. Colby, local lumber dealer, that logging is practiced here only about four months of the year, displayed letters from the Portland chamber of commerce and state education department, claimed approval of the Long Beach Better Business Bureau, heard in turn a letter from a bureau officer which disclaimed approval, and revealed that at the start of organization he appealed to the "state relief association of California" for $25 a family to come here.

He said that body refused because it would be "unfair to Oregon."

of Medford, special music being furnished by the Gideon trio from Klamath Falls. In the afternoon a fellowship dinner was served at the Holland hotel with approximately 45 in attendance. Rev. Oscar Lowry, well-known evangelist, brought the message of the afternoon. Other speakers were W. R. Greene, president of the Roseburg camp, who presided, and H. H. Schroeder and E. E. Elmarson, camp presidents from Eugene and Klamath Falls respectively.

The Gideons are the Christian business men who place Bibles in hotel rooms, hospital wards, prisons, schools and other institutions. These laymen voluntarily spend their time and effort in this work and are assisted financially by Christian people of all denominations.

The following residents of Roseburg attended the rally: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Hoffmeister, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Neufeld, Joel Feun, N. L. Conn, Mrs. E. P. Woods, J. E. Newberry, Miss Violet Rose and L. W. Ingels.

OXFORD, O.—Joseph William Smith is the first Miami university student in 101 years to graduate with a perfect scholarship record. He received a grade of "A" in every subject for four years. Smith, the eighth student in the history of the school to graduate summa cum laude, is the son of Dr. W. E. Smith of the university's history faculty.

S. F. Italians Said Teaching Fascism

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—(AP)—Carmelo Zito, editor of an Italian language newspaper here, asserted today that prominent San Francisco Italians were spreading fascist propaganda in northern California and teaching fascist policies to Italian children in "after hours" schools.

Zito, talking to interviewers, said Italy's entrance into the European war had split San Francisco's large Italian colony into two sharply opposed factions, but he said only 10 per cent of the 60,000 Italians here were fascist sympathizers.

Zito, who left Italy several years ago because he opposed Mussolini's policies, is editor of Corriere del Popolo, which circulates in the densely populated north beach Italian sector.

Zito said he had gathered textbooks used to teach children in after school hours, and that they were full of profascist passages, such as:

"Duce, if the fatherland needs us, call us and we shall come!" "When I am big and when at last I am a soldier, I too, as my father, shall fight for the fatherland!" "I shall take many flags and many prisoners. I shall earn I don't know how many medals. This is the duty of all Italian children. This is your duty too, little Italian child!"

South America Not Ready For Modern War

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In any combined operation to defend the new world against invasion, the bulk of the work would have to be borne by the military forces of the United States.

On paper, the republics of South America can muster fairly impressive defense forces. Their standing armies total better than 240,000 men (a force smaller than the combined Belgian and Dutch regular armies); their navies include five battleships, 13 cruisers, 27 destroyers and 23 submarines. In their air forces are upward of 350 planes.

A breakdown shows this strength more apparent than real. These forces are scattered all over the continent, divided into 10 national groupings. Much of the naval strength is badly out-dated and many of the armies are not fitted to engage in modern warfare.

A B C Nations Strongest
As might be expected, the "A B C" powers—Argentina, Brazil and Chile—come the closest to having real military strength.

Brazil, for instance, has a standing army of 70,000 officers and men, organized into 13 regiments of infantry, 29 of cavalry and eight of artillery—including one mechanized battery. In addition, the nation has a military police force of 38,000 men, classed as an army reserve. Brazilian navy includes two battleships, two cruisers, one destroyer, five submarines, 14 destroyers, three submarines and 29 minor craft.

Chile has 16,000 soldiers, organized in three infantry divisions and one cavalry division. Her air force includes one bomber group and two flights of amphibians, totalling perhaps 29 planes; in her navy there are one battleship, three cruisers, eight destroyers and nine submarines, plus 18 miscellaneous vessels.

Many Vessels Obsolete
These naval strengths are not as impressive as they look. The two Brazilian battleships were built in 1919; those of Chile and the Argentine date back to 1915. Argentina's cruisers and most of her destroyers are modern; so are her submarines, three of Brazil's and three of Chile's. The rest of the vessels are practically obsolete.

Peru owns two obsolete cruisers, two old destroyers and four up-to-date submarines. Columbia has two modern destroyers, plus a handful of gunboats useless for a fight with a major power. Venezuela's fleet of five gunboats include one pre-Spanish war vessel and one ex-American yacht built in 1900. Uruguay's navy consists of light patrol craft; Paraguay's of four river gunboats.

U. S. Missions at Work Now
Steps to remedy the situation are being taken. U. S. naval missions are currently working with the governments of Brazil, Colombia, the Argentine and Peru. The U. S. army air corps has a mission in the Argentine, and Brazil is pushing an army mechanization program with the advice of a mission of five U. S. army officers.

It is likely that before long U. S. military missions will be in most if not all of the Latin American nations, devising an organization, equipment and training.

But if the United States itself were recently revealed as unprepared for a major war, it is a striking example of readiness by comparison with its sister republics to the south.

Here's Vegetables To Plant in June

What chance has the June planted vegetable garden?

This is a question asked by many a late starter these days, and the answer is—good. Almost all of the vegetables can be planted with success in late June. Some of the cool weather leaf crops, such as lettuce and spinach, will not do so well, but almost any of the root crops, the vines, etc., will thrive.

Here is a list of vegetables that can be planted even in July: Kale, sweet corn, carrots, bush squash, beans, summer and fall radishes, celery, cabbage, turnips, swiss chard, beets, cos lettuce and endive; and there are no doubt others. Remember, when sowing late, always sow early (quick maturing) varieties.

The thing to remember about late plantings is the length of their season. In some of the extreme northern climates, where the season is very short, some of these vegetables might not be successful if an early frost gets to them. In practically all communities, however, the list may be planted with complete assurance well into July.

Crops May Be Forced
The short season may be compensated for by forcing your crops with good care, plenty of moisture and plant food. The fact that the weather is warm will cause them to germinate quickly, and if fed properly, or if planted in a rich soil they will make considerably faster progress than the spring planted crops.

Sweet corn is one of the best crops to plant late. It is a fast grower in warm weather, and although an early frost might get the best of it, the chance of success is well worth your efforts. Such crops as turnips and squash will not be affected by a slight frost.

Hint on Late Planting
If you get started very late, you can always buy plants of the most tender crops, such as tomatoes, cabbage and Brussels sprouts. Growing them yourself in little boxes is better. If you will remember that a late planted garden must have extra care in order to bring it to maturity in a shorter time, your June or July plantings will be successful. Good cultivation, plenty of moisture and an application of 1 pound of balanced plant food to each 100 square feet, are the three watchwords.

Finders Keepers

PITTSBURGH—A worried man called at the lost and found department of the Pittsburgh Railway's company to ask if anyone had returned his lost gall stones.

He explained that the stones—souvenirs of his operation—were in a little bag he had left on the street car on the way home from the hospital.

Heave Ho!

HARTFORD, Conn.—The Connecticut health department has devised this slogan for its annual anti-hay fever campaign: "Rayweed is here—let's all pull together."

Ungrateful

SAN PEDRO, Calif.—Policeman J. H. Meier spied a sea gull "arounded" by oil and tar on its wings.

He wiped the stuff off. In return the gull seized his nose in its beak.

Meier wound up in emergency hospital.

Beware the Noodle

MINNEAPOLIS—To the long list of domestic hazards, add the noodle.

Mrs. Celinda Rasmussen was treated at a hospital for injuries suffered when a dry noodle, unwarily handled, pierced her under a thumbnail.
