Every state, county and city official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

WE as a people are extremists. We are either 'way up' or 'way down. We go all the way.

That is not without its advantages in a world which runs with emotion for gasoline. But it has its fallings.

It is necessary to rise to high pitches of emotion and enthusiasm. But it is also necessary to follow through—to set a goal and hold grimly to it after the initial enthusiasm begins to ebb away.

Take the matter of defense, for instance. For 20 years, right in the face of a Europe and Asia that were feverishly preparing for the wars that now desolate both, we yawned, and allowed that it was all pretty terrible but it couldn't touch us. During all those 20 years we never built a battleship. We let the army go to seed. We held our air forces, good though they were in quality, down to minimums.

War came to Asia, then to Europe. Even for the first six months of Europe's war we dawdled. "Phony!" some said. Plenty of time.

Then, in all its fury the war broke bounds. Hullabaloo! Hysteria! Laid-off appropriations! All of a sudden, quick like a bunny, were we going to grind out four airplanes a day from one plant. Nobody even stopped to multiply that by 200 and to realize that it means a million and a half planes in a year, requiring three million pilots and ground staffs of 15,000,000.

Now we are settling down to reality. Level-headed General Marshall, the chief of staff, has pointed out that we have two problems of defense, not one. The first is to get into some kind of formation the defense forces we now have. This is already being done. Bases have been reinforced and further protected. Small forces have been assembled and consolidated into effective units. Reserve officers, of whom we fortunately have a sizeable force, are being called up. National guard training is rapidly being placed on a realistic basis. The country's readiness for an instant emergency is far greater than it was even six weeks ago.

But no long-term program can possibly be ready in time to affect the outcome of Europe's present crisis. That program is aimed at enabling the United States to live in comparatively security in whatever kind of world emerges from the present. That is where the follow-through comes in.

NOW it is certain members of the American Legion who are proposing a "private army."

It has been said before, and must be said again and again, as often as necessary—"One people, one government, one army."

Band adherents drilling "private troops" for their own kind of "police duty"—that's out. Communists drilling squads for "riot work"—that's out. Jewish war veterans organizing "Jewish Legion for U. S. border defense"—that's out. Even American Legionnaires purchasing some kind of a "supplementary army" under their own direction—that's out, too.

Such defense forces as the country may need, for strictly military and even for home defense, will be organized by the proper government agencies. Any other efforts to form anything remotely resembling an army, no matter how well meant, must be discouraged and prohibited. Only confusion can come from it. "One people, one government, one army."

pool their resources to carry out enterprises that would be beyond the capacity of ONE PERSON ALONE. Corporations have their place, and a very important place it is, in American life; but their place ISNT in politics.)

EVERY candidate, doubtless, would like to finance his campaign by means of $1 contributions from hundreds of thousands of people. It can be ACTUALLY ACCOMPLISHED only by a candidate whom millions of people trust.

Willkie's nomination at Philadelphia was foisted by the evidence so spectacularly presented there that millions of ordinary people believe he is the man for the job. Maybe he is the kind of man who can finance his campaign by means of $1 contributions from vast numbers of people.

If he can it will be a REAL ACHIEVEMENT.

PAUL MALLON, Washington columnist, says Willkie would like to make his campaign from a trailer, traveling the highways of America and meeting people at first hand, talking TO them instead of AT them.

It sounds like one of those things that are too good to be true, but if it could be got away with it would be a natural if Willkie is the kind of man those of us who admire him from a distance think he is.

N. Y. Yankees Still Awaiting Buyer

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—The original "deadline" for the sale of the Yankees, to satisfy government inheritance tax demands, is nearly two months past, and there still is no indication that a deal is anywhere near being closed.

Almost daily comes a report from somewhere that the champions have changed hands, with Postmaster General James A. Farley the most popular purchaser. Yet Ilyon Clark, Jr., the man who will handle the sale when it is made, says "there has been absolutely no development."

Brooklyn Defeats Boston, 20 Innings

Associated Press Sports Writer) The Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday posted a 6-2 triumph over the Boston Bees in a 20-inning marathon.

Extra-inning games are getting to be a habit with the two clubs. Back in 1929, they played the longest ever—a 26 inning 1-1 tie. Last year they fought through 23 innings to a 2-2 deadlock.

Roosevelt Gives World Peace Basis

Disarmament Listed as One of 5 Essentials; Corporate State More Efficient

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt yesterday named disarmament as one of five essentials to permanent world peace.

At a press conference he listed these objectives which he said must be realized before a permanent peace could be assured.

- 1. Freedom from fear, so that people will not be afraid of being bombed from the air or attacked by another nation. That, he said, means removal of the weapons which cause fear, or disarmament.
2. Freedom of information. That is important, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, because the whole country must be able to get news of what is going on in every part of the country and in every part of the world, without censorship. He said that it meant not freedom of the press alone but freedom of every means of distributing information and that without it there could not be a stable world.
3. Freedom of religion. Under democracies, the president said, this freedom has been maintained fairly well but not in countries living under other systems of government.
4. Freedom of expression. A person should be free to voice his opinions, the president said, so long as he does not advocate overthrow of his government.
5. Freedom from want. That must be accomplished, Mr. Roosevelt declared, by removal of cultural and commercial barriers between nations.

The outlining of these objectives, the chief executive said, raises the question of whether we are going to seek the five "freedoms" or give them up, or, in other words, in opposition, those nations which have removed them in order to achieve a somewhat more efficient government.

He admitted frankly that what he termed the corporate state or government, as maintained in Italy, Germany and Russia, was more efficient than a democracy.

Delays are inherent in the American system, he said, because of its system of checks and balances in the legislative, executive and judicial branches.

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

Evil has its corroding and destroying effects upon life. It has always been so. It always will be. It manifested itself in Israel as a nation. We see its degrading effects in human depravity all about us. Isaiah speaks of the dissatisfaction and distress of life when God is left out of life's program. Man without God is desperate. The heart is deceitful above all things, unless guided by the spirit of God. He knows the heart of every one. He comes in the person of Christ to change the heart. If we will only allow Him to have His way in us, He will set us free from all that is wrong. The sinful man lies upon a bed of discontent, and he lies without protection. In God alone we find comfort and life. His love hath no limitations, and He delights to comfort those who put their trust in Him. Many centuries ago the emperor of Rome sent a fine Christian young man on a dangerous mission. He bravely overcame all difficulties and met his responsibility. The emperor gave to him a beautiful ring within which was inscribed the name of the youth, the Latin words "Semper fidelis," and then his own name "Caesar." May we too so live that the Master of men may be able to say of us: "Faithful unto death." Amen.

Angelenos Surge Up to 4th Place

(By the Associated Press) The Los Angeles Angels, only last Monday in next to the last berth in the Pacific coast league, were back in the first division today and apparently going places.

The Angels' upward flight in league standings was aided by San Diego's 6-1 triumph over Sacramento, shoving the Solons to fifth place.

Seattle gave the luckless Portland team a going over, 18-8, the fifth straight victory for the Rainiers at the expense of the Ducks. The league leaders collected 19 hits off four Portland hurlers.

The Ducks themselves garnered 15 hits off two Rainier pitchers, driving Willkie from the box in the fifth, thus breaking the southpaw Ronkie's string of six victories. Scribner took over Willkie's duties and was accredited with the win.

Oakland swamped San Francisco, 5-0.

Grants Pass Splits Two Games With Crescents

GRANTS PASS, July 6.—(AP)—Grants Pass and Crescent City, Southern Oregon Baseball league leaders, split two exhibition games at the California coast city's three-day celebration. The Crescents won the first 6 to 4 but dropped the second 10 to 6.

Sunday, Medford goes to Crescent City for regular league play. Grants Pass travels to Roseburg, and Gold Hill draws a bye.

First game: Grants Pass 11 9 9 Crescent City 6 10 4 Ostrom, Di Sordi and Wood; Yamor, Wilson, Deo and Fern.

Second game: Grants Pass 10 14 3 Crescent City 6 10 11 Stout, Di Sordi and Arquette; Deo, Spahn, Yamor and Rose.

Oregon's Biennium Revenue Increases

SALEM, Ore., July 6.—(AP)—State treasury receipts during the biennium ended July 1 totaled $140,071,913, compared with $131,649,590 during the biennium ended July 1, 1938. State Treasurer Pearson said yesterday.

While receipts from most state taxes and fees increased, most of the gain was caused by larger federal grants.

The total amount of cash in all funds on July 1 was $11,592,621, compared with $11,414,810 on July 1, 1938. The general fund dropped from $7,757,778 to $6,590,389, but the highway fund increased from $1,985,498 to $4,300,000.

Gasoline receipts, largest single source of revenue, increased from $22,165,890 in the biennium ended July 1, 1938 to $23,932,478 in the biennium ended July 1, 1940.

Income taxes gained from $9,974,500 to $10,115,000, while inheritance taxes fell from $1,542,596 to $946,652.

Liquor revenues, used mostly for public assistance, rose from $18,208,105 to $19,605,127. Motor vehicle registration fees increased from $6,309,333 to $6,620,184, and motor carrier fees, paid by truck and stage operators to the public utilities commissioner, increased from $2,994,294 to $2,326,215.

Game commission fines and fees gained from $1,016,874 to $1,211,862. Insurance department fees went up from $1,618,296 to $1,749,868, while corporation fees dropped from $662,862 to $620,829.

Seattle Joins Tacoma in Infantile Paralysis Fight

SEATTLE, July 5.—(AP)—Infantile paralysis cases in Seattle rose to five today as Tacoma counted two more dead in its five-week epidemic.

Deaths of Raymond Sumell, 16, and Judd Morrison, 13 months old, yesterday raised the fatality toll in Tacoma to nine. Both cases were far advanced when they were admitted to hospital Tuesday, physicians said.

Latest victim of the disease to be admitted to the hospital was Carl Woeck, 15 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Woeck, whose sister, Jeanette Woeck, 19, was admitted Wednesday.

Two of Seattle's three other victims were reported to be past the acute stage in the hospital today.

The fifth victim, Verna Belcher, 16, was in a critical condition in an iron lung in the hospital.
