Roseburg News-Review

Issued Daily Except Sunday by the News-Review Co., Inc.

Member of The Associated Press
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and to all local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

HARRIS ELLSWORTH .....Editor

Entered as second class matter May 17, 1920, at the post office at Roseburg, Oregon, under act of March 2, 1879.

Represented by

WEST-HOLLIDAY

New York—271 Madison Ave. Chicago—360 N. Michigan Ave.—San Francisco—220 Bush Street—Detroit—3084 W. Grand Boulevard—Los Angeles—433 S. Spring Street—Seattle—603 Stewart Street—Portland—520 S. W. Sixth Street—St. Louis—411 N. Tenth Street.

Member OREGON NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION

Subscription Rates

Daily, per year by mail.....$5.00
Daily, 6 months by mail..... 2.50
Daily, 3 months by mail..... 1.25
Daily, by carrier per month..... .65
Daily, by carrier per year..... 7.80

Every state, county and city official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

THERE have been wars before. There has been devastation, and slaughter, and burning. There is nothing new in that, especially to Europe, which has treated itself to one of these self-made holocausts every few years for centuries.

But never before has Europe seen the wholesale expulsion from their humble homes of literally millions of people. Never before has a whole continent swarmed with a homeless, hopeless throng of millions who have not only been driven from what homes they had, but who have literally no place to go.

Many of these, of course, will soon be able to return to what were once their homes. To the shattered house, the scarred acres, the broken orchard, they can return again, and blindly take up the task of rebuilding.

* * *

But others are not so fortunate if anything of good fortune can be seen in such a picture. Literally scores of thousands of the refugees in France are men and women driven from Germany to seek refuge in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, the Netherlands and France. Many are Jews, and many more are simply people who fell afoul of the secret police.

Driven from one country to another, always only a single breathless step ahead of the onrushing nazis, these people are now without passports or credentials. They can do little now but await in terror the arrival of secret police agents who will ferret them out among the refugees and exact some summary penalty for "offenses" committed perhaps years before in another country.

* * *

From the Urals to the Atlantic, Europe presents a picture of organized horror that one would have to go back to the Thirty Years' war or to the invasions of Genghis Khan to match.

Whatever can yet be done by the United States and by other countries yet free to relieve the distress and offer new hope should be done. We can send money and food. We can cut the red tape binding present immigration quotas and procedure, and perhaps raise those quotas temporarily. We can offer asylum to innocent children threatened with death from the sky.

Surely we must have a better answer to these things than Cain's churlish and evasive "Am I my brother's keeper?"

IT is almost certain that by the time another presidential election rolls around, wide circles of voters will not only read about the candidates in the papers, hear their voices on the air, but see them in action via television.

Much speculation is now aroused over the possible effect of this on political campaigns. For to all the many talents now required by high political aspiration will be added the ability to "mug" convincingly while speaking or campaigning.

One thing this may do: It may shorten the time needed for a political campaign. In former days it took many months to acquaint the public with a rising political figure. Now all this can be done in weeks. His record is already quickly available through the daily papers. His voice now follows you into your living room. Soon his every characteristic gesture, a quick smile, a hand run through the hair, a habit of blowing cigarette smoke out the ears, will become overnight a commonplace to every television-conscious home.

We will become more quickly acquainted with our public figures. But there is also a danger that we will tire of them sooner, too.

Editorials on News

(Continued from page 1.)

ministration after conquest, the empire he is building so swiftly and so spectacularly will go the way of innumerable other empires built in the same manner.)

RUSSIA, in a rumor mentioned in today's dispatches, is said to be beginning to fortify the new Russian-Rumanian frontier along the Prut river, which divides the Rumanian area seized by Russia from old Rumania.

When one gangster begins to build defenses against another gangster, it is a sign that trouble is brewing.

(BUT don't jump to conclusions. there is an old saying to the effect that all signs fail in dry weather.)

"HIGH sources" in Washington are saying this week that FDR has decided definitely to accept a third term nomination and wants State Secretary Hull as his running mate.

This writer is guessing that FDR doesn't know whether he will or will not accept the third term nomination the democratic national committee will hand to him on a platter.

KRNR

Mutual Broadcasting System
1500 Kilocycles

REMAINING HOURS TODAY

4:00—Sheep and Goats' Club, MBS.
4:30—Tea Time Dance.
5:00—Carlos Molina's Orchestra, MBS.
5:30—Democratic Pre-Convention Round-Up, MBS.
6:00—Raymond Gram Swing, MBS.
6:15—Dinner Dance.
6:30—John B. Hughes, Avalon Cigarettes, MBS.
6:45—Modern Melodies.
7:00—Tonight's Tune.
7:05—News, Calif. Pacific Utilities Co.
7:10—News-Review News Flashes.
7:15—Mutual Maestros.
7:30—Lone Ranger, MBS.
8:00—Exposition Fantasy, MBS.
8:30—Gus Arnheim's Orchestra, MBS.
9:00—Alka Seltzer News, MBS.
9:15—Jimmy Joy's Orchestra, MBS.
9:30—Fulton Lewis, Jr., MBS.
9:45—To Be Announced, MBS.
10:00—Sign Off.

THURSDAY, JULY 11

7:00—Stuff and Nonsense.
7:30—News Review of the Air.
7:40—State and Local News.
7:45—Rhapsody in Wax.
8:00—"Good Morning Neighbors." Neighbors of Woodcraft, MBS.
8:30—This and That in Melody
8:45—Carters of Elm Street, Ovaltine, MBS.
9:00—Rhythm Roll Call, MBS.
9:15—Symphony.
9:30—Man About Town.
9:45—Keep Fit to Music, MBS.
10:00—Adventures of Uncle Jimmy, Copco.
10:15—Ma Perkins, Proctor and Gamble, MBS.
10:30—Francis Craig's Orchestra, MBS.
10:45—Bachelor's Children, Old Dutch Cleanser, MBS.
11:00—Our Friendly Neighbors, Alka Seltzer, MBS.
11:15—Women World Wide, MBS.
11:30—Joe Hart's Orchestra, MBS.
12:00—Luncheon Dance.
12:15—Sport News, Dunham's and Healy's.
12:25—Rhythm at Random.
12:45—State and Local News.
12:50—News Review of the Air.
1:00—Henninger's Man on the Street.
1:15—Frank Gagen's Orchestra, MBS.
1:30—Johnson Family, MBS.
1:45—Let's Play Bridge, MBS.
2:00—At Your Command.
2:30—Lawrence Salerno, MBS.
2:45—American Legion News Barrage, MBS.
3:00—Fulton Lewis, Jr., MBS.
3:15—The Prophet Trio, MBS.
3:30—The Quiet Hour.
4:00—Wythe Williams, MBS.
4:15—Jack Teagarden's Orchestra, MBS.
4:30—American Family Robinson.
4:45—Old Fashioned Melodies, MBS.
5:00—Dance Orchestra.
5:15—Talk by Arthur Mann, MBS.
5:30—Shatter Parker, MBS.
5:45—Blue Beetle, MBS.
6:00—Raymond Gram Swing, MBS.
6:15—Dinner Dance.
6:30—John B. Hughes, MBS.
6:45—Modern Melodies.
7:00—Tonight's Tune.
7:05—News, Calif. Pacific Utilities Co.
7:10—News-Review News Flashes.
7:15—Mutual Maestros.
7:45—Tommy Reynolds' Orchestra, MBS.
8:00—Calif. Melodies, MBS.
8:30—Plantation Airs, MBS.
8:45—Twilight Trails, Avalon Cigarettes, MBS.
9:00—Alka Seltzer News, MBS.
9:15—To Be Announced, MBS.
9:30—Fulton Lewis, Jr., MBS.
9:45—Billy Bisset's Orchestra, MBS.
10:00—Sign off.

OUT OUR WAY

By Williams

Citizen Students Learn Use of Guns

Approximately 25 youths from Douglas county are included in the nearly 700 citizen student soldiers attending the Oregon-Washington-Idaho training camp at Vancouver barracks. Their routine consists of learning how to handle army rifles, pistols, automatic rifles, machine guns, road maps, scout and patrol.

For the next two weeks the students will receive intensive daily instruction and drill in preparation for their week on the firing line at Camp Bonneville, the 7th infantry target range, 16 miles northeast of Vancouver. While at the range the students will have an opportunity to put into actual practice what they have learned about the infantry.

The athletic program which is planned to give the youths hours of vigorous exercise and recreation is in full swing. Students each day participate in supervised sports from 2 to 5 p. m. Team competition in softball, baseball, volley ball, basketball, tennis, golf, track, swimming and boxing provides the youths with a diversified program.

Pomona Grange to Hold Picnic July 14

The annual Pomona grange picnic will be held Sunday, July 14, at the Fisher grove at Kellogg, with every indication of an unusually interesting program, according to Paula Anderson, Kellogg, lecturer. A drill team contest will be held at 10:30 a. m., while the usual races and recreational stunts will be provided for all youngsters present.

A picnic lunch will be enjoyed during the noon hour. The county unit of the Young Grangers' association will have charge of the refreshment stand.

A lecturer's program will be presented in the afternoon, starting at 1:30 o'clock. The Rev. Perry Smith of Roseburg will be the principal speaker. W. E. Ott will direct the Pomona grange orchestra. Jerry Saylor of Portland is expected to be present to lead community singing. Special numbers will be presented by each of the Douglas county granges.

The Azalea Y.G.A. has accepted a challenge from the Melrose Y.G.A. for a softball game, which will follow the program.

A small charge will be made for each carload of grangers and friends attending, as has been customary in the past, to defray the expenses of the picnic.

U. S. Treasury Plans to Borrow 650 Million

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today the treasury would borrow $650,000,000 Thursday through the sale of 2¼ per cent bonds.

Maturity dates and other details will be disclosed Thursday.

The secretary said $500,000,000 of the new bonds would be sold to the public and $150,000,000 worth to government investment accounts.

The borrowing will boost the federal debt to a new high of approximately $47,700,000,000, or within $1,300,000,000 of the borrowing power available for non-military expenses. Congress, however, recently voted authority to borrow $4,000,000,000 on special obligations to finance national defense.

Hero

FAIRBANKS, Alaska—Strike off a medal for whiskers, a little black dog owned by the Sherman Noyes family.

Their 5-year-old daughter, Dierdie, was left at a cabin on the Yukon while the mother and friends went out on a boat.

Pretty soon Whiskers' barking attracted their attention. They saw, with horror, Dierdie attempting to play with a large black bear.

Whiskers, however, barked and leaped at the bear's flanks and so distracted it that it finally shuffled off into the brush, leaving the girl unharmed.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

An indefiniteness of thinking as to what constitutes personal responsibility in religion is at the root of most of whatever impotence there may be in the church. We are definite enough as to what God and the church should do for us, but not always so committed to our duty to God and His church. Remember Jesus said: "And whosoever would be first among you shall be your servant." This is not receiving something, but doing something. Well rendered service enlarges the possibility of a still greater service, and enables us to attain worthy proportions. Life may be arduous and filled with problems and burdens, but it should be committed to noble tasks. Even limited personalities may find some field of definite service. We should sincerely pray to be saved from being a floater in religion or in society, and we should try to find a place where our ability can be utilized creatively. God will empower us to do what we ought to do. God will definitely lead us whither we should go, and what we should do, even though it means great sacrifice. May our motto be: I will do some definite Christian service today without thought of reward. We will then

Lawsuit Involves $480,000 Diamond

LONDON, July 10.—(AP)—Treifus brothers, London diamond merchants, sought an injunction yesterday to restrain Harry Winston of New York from disposing of a 725-carat Brazilian diamond known as the "Getulio Vargas."

The Treifus firm also asked damages for alleged breach of contract and an accounting of profits derived by Winston in purchasing the stone, which was originally valued at 120,000 pounds sterling (about $480,000.)

Winston denied that the diamond was purchased secretly or in bad faith. Sir patrick Hastings, attorney for the plaintiffs, said the Treifus brothers and Winston were to buy the stone jointly, "but Winston bought it himself."

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—Harry Winston denied here he had acted in bad faith in purchasing the 725-carat "Getulio Vargas" diamond, described as one of the largest ever discovered —as heavy as the famous Jonker diamond, though of inferior quality.

Denying the allegations of Treifus brothers, London diamond merchants, Winston said they informed him they held an option on the stone but he learned at Rio de Janeiro, this was not the case, and bought it.

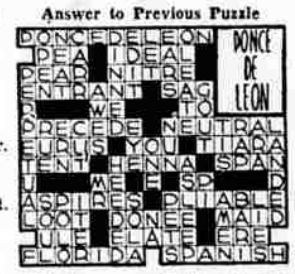
Bessarabia asserted its independence after the fall of the Czarist regime in Russia in 1917 and voluntarily united with Rumania. Since early Christian times Bessarabia has been invaded by the Thracians, Goths, Huns, Avars, Bulgarians, Ugrians, Turks, Kumans, Mongols, Moldavians, Tartars and Russians.

MILITARY MEMORIAL

HORIZONTAL

1,7 War memorial, Tomb of the ——.
13 Mentally sound.
14 Part of a stair.
16 Norse mythology.
17 Footlike part.
18 Blackened with ink.
19 Sward.
20 To encounter.
21 One that plagues.
23 Plat of ground
24 Call of distress.
25 Striped cloth.
27 Black bread.
30 Thrashed.
33 Sleeper's couch.
34 South Africa (abbr.).
35 Tiny forest.
36 Belated.
37 Circular fortification.

Answer to Previous Puzzle



39 Earth.
40 Silkworm.
41 High mountain.
42 Sneaky.
43 Sea robber.
46 Thermometer divisions.
52 Not artificial.
53 Whirlwind.
56 It is located at —— Cemetery.
58 Musical note.
59 To hurl.
60 Thing.
61 Three figures, Victory, —— and Valor are carved on it.

VERTICAL

1 Plural pronoun.
2 Back of neck.
3 Leg joint.
4 Birds' homes.
5 Written documents.
6 Baseball team.
7 Observes.
8 Trying experience.
9 Loses hope.
10 Heathen god.
11 Taro root.
12 Sun god.
15 Card game.
20 It is made of ——.
23 Smartly.
26 Sack.
28 12 months.
29 Border trimming.
30 Imperfections.
31 Not as tight.
32 Bad.
34 To strike.
38 Small herring.
44 On top of.
45 Harmony.
46 Dower property.
47 Snaky fish.
48 Hastened.
49 Work unit.
50 Ell.
51 Courtesy title.
53 Circle part.
54 Sheltered place.
57 Northeast (abbr.).

HIGH TIDE

By Frances Hanna

YESTERDAY: Jan's household includes two boarders—Norma, a school-teacher, and Johnny, a trumpet-player—and her brother Lance, a former test pilot who was injured in a crash. The man Jan rescued tells her he is not at all grateful.

Chapter Three
Derek

Norma had left for her school and Johnny and Lance were still sleeping at nine the next morning. Jan was washing breakfast dishes when he came into the kitchen wrapped in a pink bed quilt whose color fought with his red hair. He had contrived a shave, probably with Johnny's razor, and his hair was dampened and brushed into quiescence.

"I don't want much to eat," he said. "Just some orange juice, bacon and eggs, ten or twelve pancakes and a pot of coffee."

"You'll eat oatmeal and toast and like it, young man," she asserted, placing a cup on a shelf away from the jeopardy of nervous fingers. "I suppose I'll have to get you some clothes."

"What, no flour sacks? I've always wanted to wear 'Fisher's Blend' across my chest — of course, 'Climax' would do. You look much better this morning, young mariner! It's a shame you didn't take heed of Coleridge's morbid tale and forego your first albatross."

"Meaning exactly what?" she asked, inordinately pleased he had noticed her careful toilette. She had smoothed her recalcitrant curls and tied them in place with a blue ribbon and donned a seldom-worn housedress, also powder and a touch of lip rouge.

"Don't tell me you didn't have to memorize 'The Ancient Mariner' when you were ten years old?" he drawled.

"Oh, I begin to see a glimmer of light. You fancy yourself an albatross, is that it?"

"And so will you when I've hung around your neck long enough!" he retorted.

"Stop fencing," she commanded, looking very young and determined and very pretty in her blue cotton dress. "You must have a place to turn to. You can't stay here."

"Wrong. I left yesterday for China." Pulling up a chair he sat down by the big round table near the cookatove and stared grimly at his dish of oatmeal. "You pulled me out of a 'watery grave' against my will and you're responsible for me from now on. Here I am and here I stay. One thing, though—I won't answer questions. How about some coffee? And jam for my toast, I prefer strawberry."

'No Good'

"You might at least tell me your name."

"Derek."

"Derek. It suits you, somehow. Is that all of it?"

"All you're going to know." Seeing a look of exasperation cross her features, he chuckled. "Don't fret, there won't be any rewards out for me. I'm not that important to anyone."

She said slowly. "Any man that's any good at all has friends who care what becomes of him. If he has no friends, he's no good."

"Exactly." Unperturbed, he sprinkled heaps of sugar over his cereal, covered it with thick cream and spooned it heartily. "You promised me fried chicken yesterday," he reminded her. "Any left?"

She went to the icebox and brought him a few leftover pieces. "I suppose you don't care for dark meat," she said with light sarcasm.

"No, but of course beggars and so forth. Would you mind telling me where I am? Not that it matters; I'm just wondering how far I swam. I was having the most delightful adventure when you so rudely hailed me yesterday. I was lying there in a beautiful state of half-conscious twilight, remembering, per tradition, all the events of my past and congratulating myself on escaping my future, when you came!"

"I don't see how you can sit there and joke about it!" she snapped. "You ought to be glad to be alive."

"Laughing is better than weeping, you know. More coffee, please, and again, where am I?"

"Sea Tide, California. The sun shines year round except when it's foggy. You are twenty-five minutes from Los Angeles. This old beach settlement isn't swank enough for Hollywood, so it entertains only trailer tourists and the city's hoi polloi. The exclusive beach clubs are up a couple of miles at Santa Monica—you probably know that."

"No. I'm just a lone, captured albatross. Sea Tide—I came quite a way. Don't get that quizzy look in your eyes, for I've no idea of telling you where I plunged in."

Rudely Reticent

"I don't want to know."

"Oh, yes, you do."

"I do not!" The buzzer over the kitchen door made a fearful racket. "Lance wants his breakfast," she murmured, reaching into the cupboard for a colorful lacquered tray.

"Lance!"

"My brother." She dished up oatmeal from the double boiler, slipped two slices of bread on the toaster, deftly sliced a grapefruit and sprinkled it with powdered sugar. A tiny quirk of amusement touched her sweetly curved lips. This Derek was bursting with questions concerning her and Lance and this strange household, but, almost rudely reticent himself, he evidently hesitated to ask her, anything. He didn't, either, until she returned to the kitchen some fifteen minutes later with a cigarette for him, when he said:

"Shall I snoop or will you tell all?"

His easy bantering tone pleased her, she realized suddenly. She had feared he would be dour and tragic. "Lance wants to see you," she told him. "His room is directly across from yours. If he likes you, he'll tell you anything you want to know."

"I'd rather hear it from you. I sense mystery here. Why do you wait on him and why doesn't he come downstairs?"

Her eyes saddened. "He's crippled. He was a fine pilot, one of the youngest and best test pilots in the country. He was never afraid. He had brass-lined nerves. He took a job as test pilot for a plane factory near here at an enormous salary. Something went wrong with a ship on trial flight and he crashed."

"But surely surgery?" he asked intently, soberly.

"They tried. Several of the best surgeons in the country. They patched up everything but his knees—he can't even use crutches. And he's so young, so pitifully young, to spend the rest of his life in a wheel chair. He's just thirty."

Derek's dark brows drew together. "I'm twenty-six and I'm not young. I'm ninety. I'll wager that brother of yours has wished more than once he was dead. Hasn't he? Don't try to tell me a man could go through that and be a male Pollyanna!"

(To be continued)

Britain Getting Much U.S. War Material, Report

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—(AP)—The Call-Bulletin, in a copyrighted article, said yesterday vast amounts of United States war equipment from the San Francisco bay area and Nevada "have been and are still being shipped to the British under circumstances of utmost secrecy."

In all, 42 carloads of vital war materials, including light firearms and ammunition from the Benecia, Calif., arsenal, have been shipped, the article said, adding:

"High explosives, including big shells, have been shipped from the military dump at Hawthorne, near Winnemucca, Nev. . .

"The first shipment was about 20 days ago, and shipments continued for 10 days. Some of the latter are still en route. . . .

"These war munitions have been shipped by American rail to a point about 75 miles below Winnipeg, Canada, from which point they are being trans-shipped across the border, with New Brunswick as the receiving point."

Four Swedish Destroyers Damaged in British Error

STOCKHOLM, July 10.—(AP)—Four Swedish destroyers, purchased from Italy, entered Swedish waters this morning, a communique said, after being seized and damaged by a strong British naval detachment, released, and subsequently attacked by British warplanes.

The communique said the destroyers, not equipped for combat, were seized June 20 off the Faroe Islands by a "strong British naval detachment" and taken to a British port.

Their release was effected after a Swedish protest. Britain agreed to pay for damages which involved the seaworthiness of the vessels, it was announced.

Thereafter, on July 8, four bombs were dropped as the ships proceeded off the Norwegian coast, but no hits were made, the communique reported.

The British government expressed regrets, saying the action was a mistake.

The communique said German authorities "in many ways," facilitated the homeward voyage of the destroyers by advising them of mine areas.

Freshman Week Will Open Sept. 4 at U. of O.

EUGENE, July 10. — (AP) — Freshman week at the University of Oregon will open September 24 and run for four days, during which all beginning students will complete necessary entrance examinations before enrolling in regular classes.

Those who wish to receive bids to become pledges of Greek letter living organizations must come to the campus earlier, however. Co-ed "rushing" will open September 18, while fraternity men will open their drives for new members two days later.

Foxy Fox

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y.—A gray fox, exhibited in a pen for three years at the Trailside museum, has his freedom now but won't take it.

Set loose three weeks ago along with three red foxes, the gray fox wouldn't leave and had to be pushed out.

Now he has a lair in the museum garden, from which he emerges regularly at feeding time and gets a hand-out.

Fleet Will Not Be Moved From Pacific

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that there was no present plan to move the United States fleet from Hawaii to the Atlantic.

His assertion at a press conference came after he had conferred yesterday with Admiral J. O. Richardson, commander of the fleet, who made an unheralded flight here from Hawaii.

Asked about Admiral Richardson's statement that he knew of no plan to move the fleet into the Atlantic, the president said that there was no such plan at the present time.

Reports that the main body of the navy, in the Pacific in recent years, might be moved into Atlantic waters, arose after the surrender of France to Germany.

Asked whether he had discussed with the French ambassador today the status of the French island of Martinique, in the Caribbean sea, Mr. Roosevelt said he had received nothing about that island in about four days.

British ships have been reported off Martinique, waiting to pounce upon French war vessels and munitions ships based there.

In response to a question as to whether United States warships were on watch near Martinique, the president said they were not on duty there particularly—that they were all over the place in the Caribbean.

Union Prayer Service to Precede Camp Meeting

A union prayer service, in preparation for a scheduled union camp meeting, will be held Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Pilgrim Holiness church, 477 S. Jackson street, Roseburg. The service, it is reported, is sponsored by the Free Methodist church, The Church of the Nazarene, The Pilgrim Holiness church and members of the Douglas County Holiness association, which organizations are joining for the union camp meeting to be held soon. The Rev. Albert Schocke, Narazene pastor, will be in charge of the service Thursday evening.

Max Frye Joins Staff of Radio Station KRNR

Max Frye, a recent arrival in Roseburg from Eugene, has been employed as a member of the staff of radio station KRNR, Marshall Pengra, manager, announced today. Mr. Frye was graduated this year from University of Oregon, where he was a student of journalism and advertising. During his school year and since graduation he has been employed in the advertising department of the Eugene Register-Guard. Mr. Frye will be engaged in advertising and announcing with KRNR.

What's in the Air

Why am I so easy to get along with? That's easy. I never miss listening to
OUR FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS
Monday Through Friday,
11:00 A. M.

"Naw, ya don't have t' be smart to know what's goin' on dese days. I always listen to dat John B. Hughes feller."
JOHN B. HUGHES
Monday Through Saturday,
6:30 P. M.

A perfect way to start the day. A good breakfast then listen to
GOOD MORNING NEIGHBORS
Tuesday and Thursday,
8:00 A. M.

HI-LIGHTS ON WEDNESDAY'S PROGRAM
5:30—Democratic Pre-Convention Round-Up.
6:00—Raymond Gram Swing.
6:30—John B. Hughes.
7:30—Lone Ranger.
8:00—Exposition Fantasy.
8:30—Gus Arnheim's Orch.
9:00—News.
9:30—Fulton Lewis, Jr.

KRNR
DIAL 1500

EVERYONE WELCOME

Pomona Grange Picnic

Fisher Grove at Kellogg
Sunday, July 14th, 10:30 a. m.

Fancy Drill — Races — Soft Ball — Good Program — Refreshment Stand

CHARGE OF 25c PER CAR