Every state, county and city official or board that handles public money should publish an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

EVERY day for the last ten days, while there has been comparative quiet in the European war, a dozen or more naval plane crews have met death in raids on England. They and their fellow pilots—those who returned home—did what they could to people on land. Apparently very little worth mentioning in a military way has ever been accomplished by these raids. They seem to be utterly useless, yet hundreds of young fliers have been thus deliberately killed off by the German leader, Hitler?

Loss of life in desperate battle is understandable. Men have been fighting and dying in battle since the world began. But these useless raids—this useless slaughter of people are new developments in warfare.

If the Nazi high command figures to frighten the people of the British Isles by sending over a hundred airplanes or so each day, it is engaged in a badly planned endeavor. The British, whatever their other faults may be, are not cowards and are not to be intimidated by a few bombs.

Meanwhile British defense plans are being carried to completion. Each day sees the islands just so much better able to withstand the Nazi thrust—if it ever comes. Some time quite soon, however, if we may believe reports from Italy, the axis powers will "solve an ultimatum" on Great Britain. Turning that statement around a bit, what it really means is that Italy and Germany are beginning to wonder if they really can conquer the British Empire. So they will issue an ultimatum—in other words they will suggest peace.

But the British have two and one-half million men ready to fight for their homes. They have 1000 warships roaming the high seas at will. They are daily exacting a heavy toll of enemy raiders and they have a vast empire around the world ready to give aid in the final hour of desperate need. The case of the British is by no means hopeless, and the useless daily plane raids have not frightened them. But each day a dozen or more German mothers are desolated over the loss of their sons and each German mother whose son is in the flying soldiers knows no hour of peace, but lives each day and each sleepless night in dread of the announcement of death.

That's a far cry from the doctrine of scarcity and LIMITED production under which we've been operating in this country in recent years.

IN this country we're facing the stern necessity to produce a tremendous volume of armament in a short time, which means that we must take off the hobbles and strive for unlimited production in order to meet our plain needs. When the pinch comes, the doctrine of scarcity is shown up for the delusion that it is.

SALEM'S city hall, built in 1893, has JUST BEEN PAID FOR. Its FIRST COST was $54,975. Its FINAL COST, including interest on warrants, interest on the original set of bonds and interest on two sets of refunding bonds, was $138,450.

Butchers, Oakland Win at Softball

By EVERETT CROUCH. Butchers, the pennant winners in the first half of the city softball schedule, trounced Oakland's Transfermen, 10 to 2, at Finlay field last night, as the second half of the season was opened.

The Transfermen were held scoreless in all except the second inning when Fred Schermer singled and scored on a triple by Phil Laurance, who, in turn, felled on an outfield fly.

Pengra with four hits for five trips to the plate, and Munny with three for four, led the 15-hit attack on Kenny Laurance, hurler for the Transfermen. Every player on the Butcock team collected one or more safe hits. Phil Laurance with a triple and a single led the Dumham hitters.

Oakland Downs Indians. Oakland also had a field day in defeating Hub's Indians 9 to 6 in the second game. Waldo Campbell, pitching for the Indians, had a tough time in the first inning, when he allowed two hits and led off three walks, which, with a fielder's choice, gave a total of nine runs. After the first inning Campbell's pitching was perfect and the Gobblers were held without a hit or a run.

The Indians struggled valiantly to overtake the Gobblers, but the nine-run margin was too big. The five hits by Oakland were collected by J. Stearns, Reeves, F. Roberts and Jacobs. Rynd will two for three and Mills with two for four led the eight-hit attack on Reeves, Gobler hurler.

Expert Picks Negro To Whip Jenkins

NEW YORK, July 16.—(AP)—At the risk of being disbanded from the local chapter of the ex-Texasian association, I will advise you that I believe a Negro fighter named Jenkins is a better bet than any other Negro fighter to win the world title. I believe he is a better bet than any other Negro fighter to win the world title.

Dempsey Kayoes Ex-Cop In Weird "Boxing" Bout

DETROIT, July 16.—(AP)—In a weird combination of boxing and wrestling billed as a "boxing exhibition," Jack Dempsey added Wrestler "Bill" Curry, former Hartford, Conn., policeman and one-time boxer of sorts, to his list of fighters today. The former heavyweight champion of the world knocked out Curry after one minute and five seconds of the second round with a left to the midsection—the only punch he was able to land during four minutes of wild disorder.

HIGH TIDE

By Frances Hanna

YESTERDAY: Jan gets Derek to work in her kitchen. The other, annoyed by Derek's puzzling behavior, want Jan to tell him to "clear out." Chapter Eight. Job for Derek. "I won't fall in love with him," Jan assured her brother and Norma. "I'm much too level-headed, too busy, too practical. Besides, he informed me last night he was thankful I wasn't beautiful. He seems not a bit impressed by me or my musical talent. He heard me playing Schubert this afternoon and looked at me as if he'd like to lock me in a deep, dark dungeon!"

Coast League Sees 3 Shut-Out Games

Attendance Comparatively Poor Despite Donation of All Receipts to Red Cross. Charity, in the form of the American Red Cross, has had its day in the Pacific Coast League, but the generosity of the clubs last night was not matched by the outpouring of fans.
