DAILY DEVOTIONS
DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

When Raphael's great picture, the "Stilted Madonna," was first brought to Dresden it was displayed in the castle in the presence of the king. It was brought into the throne room, the most favorable place in the room was occupied by the throne itself. The king taking in the situation, pushed the throne chair aside, saying, "make room for the immortal Raphael." There he but one throne in the human heart, and the most important question for any of us in life is to determine who is to occupy that throne. Will it be Christ or self? for it cannot be both. It will not be easy to say "no" to self, to put ones foot on self, to keep self in the proper place. If we suppose it to be easy, it is because we have never seriously made the effort. To offer God a divided allegiance means loss of spiritual power and fruitfulness in the Christian life. What then shall I do with Jesus, is the question of the hour. Shall I place Him upon the throne of my heart, and keep Him there? Amen.

Well Hidden.

The walking stick insect represents one of nature's greatest works of camouflage. A bird can alight squarely beside one of these curious, elongated insects, and be unaware of its presence.
