

O'Daniel Outruns Rivals in Primary

Texas Governor Piles Up 53.4 Pct. of Vote; Sen. Connally Also Decisive Victor.

DALLAS, July 29.—(AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, Texas' radio orator governor, appears to have piled up enough votes in Saturday's first democratic primary to beat out the campaign tune, "There Ain't Gonna Be No Run-Off." He wrote the song for his bill billy band.

The former four salesman today was far in front of five other gubernatorial candidates, having 53.4 per cent of the approximately 875,000 votes tabulated by the Texas election bureau.

O'Daniel, who needed more than 50 per cent of the votes to escape a run-off, said in Austin that he considered the triumph "not a personal one but one for the common citizens of Texas, of which I am a part."

The 50-year-old governor may have received a larger majority than in his amazing first campaign in 1938. In the primary two years ago, he was given slightly above 51 per cent of the vote.

Returns from 212 of the state's 251 counties, including 71 complete, gave:

O'Daniel 467,503; State Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, 185,423; Highway Commissioner Harry Hines, 95,285; former Governor Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, 72,292; Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler, 48,546; and Cyclopedia Davis, Jr., 3,857.

O'Daniel told the voters that if they would elect him he would drive the "professional politicians" from state boards and bureaus. Due to the state's system of overlapping boards, a governor his first term is unable to obtain control of most state agencies.

Democratic nomination in tantamount to election in Texas.

Sen. Tom Connally was re-nominated for his third six-year term by an overwhelming majority over two opponents.

Nineteen of the 29 national representatives seeking renomination appeared assured of victory.

Rains Repeal Hot Wave Except in East States

Jek Salinger, 10, fell against railroad tracks at Harrisburg, Pa., and had to be hospitalized for severe burns because the rains were so hot.

From the Atlantic seaboard to the plains states thermometers hit high marks Sunday. The weather bureau said the abnormally warm weather prevailed over the greater part of the country—only a few northwest points and the Pacific states reporting temperatures somewhat below normal.

Kansas Spot Hottest

Temperatures in the high nineties were general and readings of above the 100 mark were not uncommon. The weather bureau's map showed Philadelphia, Kansas, as the nation's hottest spot, a scorching 110 being recorded. It was five degrees less at Concord and 101 in Dodge City, both in the same state. Missouri also had 100 plus readings, including St. Louis with 101 and Kansas City an even 100.

The nation's metropolitan centers sweltered. New York City's 91 temperature drove millions to the beaches. Police estimated that 3,200,000 persons—an all time record—sought relief at resorts. In Chicago, with an official reading of 99, beaches, parks and forest preserves were the havens for heat sufferers. Washington had 101.

Painter Survives Fall Of 150 Feet From Bridge

TACOMA, July 29.—(AP)—A 26-year-old painter who hurtled 150 feet from the new Tacoma narrows bridge into Puget sound yesterday when a scaffold rattling broke was reported recovering today.

The man, Peter Krieter of Tacoma, landed on his back with terrific impact, fellow workmen said. However, he was able to swim 40 feet in the fast current to a bridge launch.

Hospital attendants said Krieter was in a "fairly good" condition today and probably would recover. He suffered spinal and internal injuries.

"Get out of there; you're caught."

Out came three small boys.

Arizona's First 'Dognaping' Nets $15

Central figures in Arizona's first recorded "dognaping" are Roy R. Hislop, Phoenix city manager, and his bull terrier Beau. Hislop paid $15 for the return of his pooch, ascertained the identity of the thief, then declined to prosecute when he learned the "dognape" needed money to feed his family.

Roosevelt Seeks Guard Summons Authority

The draft of accompanying legislation would specifically limit such training to one year.

The extra-ordinary authority which would be given the president would expire June 30, 1942.

Under terms of the proposed measure, service of the guardsmen would be restricted to the western hemisphere except for possessions of the United States and the Philippine islands.

Democratic leader Barkley of Kentucky said the bill as submitted by the president, probably would be introduced by Chairman Chandler (R-Tex.) of the military affairs committee. He said speedy enactment would be sought in line with the president's request for immediate action.

Congress Opposes Haste

A delay in congressional debate on Roosevelt's conscription proposal would be introduced by Chandler (R-Tex.) of the military affairs committee. He said speedy enactment would be sought in line with the president's request for immediate action.

While John L. Lewis, CIO president, and Senator Taft (R, Ohio) joined the opposition to compulsory military training, Senator Barkley (D, Ky.), the majority leader, said that he favored giving members time to study the issue.

Barkley made it clear that he personally approved of some part of a conscription program, but his comment raised the possibility that the senate might not take up on Wednesday the Duffe-Wads worth bill, as originally planned.

In the house, influential democrats said that they wanted to "make haste slowly" with the major phases of the defense program. The house military committee will resume hearings tomorrow on the conscription legislation, with Secretary of War Stimson as a witness some time this week.

Compromise Suggested

The senate military committee completed Saturday the text of the training bill, which would authorize registration of 42,000,000 men from 18 to 45, inclusive. It contemplates drafting by Oct. 1 about 300,000 men from 21 to 29, inclusive.

Suggestions for a compromise on a proposal to authorize military training of men between 21 and 25.

John L. Lewis voiced his opposition to conscription yesterday after conferring with Senator Wheeler (D, Mont.), one of the leading foes of the program. The CIO chief said he was "in full agreement with Senator Wheeler on this thing."

Volunteer Try Advised

Senator Taft, like Senator Vandenberg (R, Mich.), suggested trying a "voluntary system" of army enlistment before adopting conscription. Although some military officials have contended that such a plan would fail, Vandenberg predicted that 1,000,000 American youths would volunteer within three months.

No C.M.T.C. Exemption

Service in the citizens military training corps will not provide exemption from compulsory military training under the legislation pending in congress, officials said today.

They added, however, that a man with such training probably would start "on a little higher level" than others drafted for the proposed training period. With such a start, they said, C.M.T.C. men might be given ranks as noncommissioned officers for the compulsory training. They also said that reserve officers would be exempt from conscription because they already were subject to call for active service.

Although congress was proceeding cautiously with the military training issue, it pushed ahead with other defense legislation.

A new $1,800,000 appropriation for the army and navy was headed for quick passage this week in the house, and probably in the senate.

Leaders said that a special $25,000,000 bill to provide more power for production of aluminum for in the Tennessee valley authority airplanes also would be disposed of in short order.

While preparedness problems held the major attention, congressional and treasury tax experts continued work on an excess profits tax bill which President Roosevelt requested July 1. He suggested that the levies be imposed both on corporation and individual incomes, but democratic members of the house tax subcommittee have decided tentatively to make the bill apply only to corporations.
