ODDITIES

Seeing America First

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—Two women tourists stopped Ranger George Kenneough. "Where can we see the rest of the monkeys?" He explained that the monkeys couldn't stand the climate but the guests insisted "we just saw two." A moment later Kenneough was hit by a pine cone. Then another, and another. "Two monkeys were firing the cones at him from a tree. He found out that the monkeys were escapees from a traveling zoo."

Discrimination

ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK, Colo.—Two elderly women tourists drove up to the park gate just as Ranger Walter O'Brien handed a gun back to some other tourists. The gun had been sealed during their stay in accordance with park regulations. O'Brien waved the two women on but they appeared hesitant about driving into the park. Finally one asked: "Ranger, aren't you going to give us a gun, like the other cars?" O'Brien patiently explained that neither Indians nor white men constitute a park hazard.

A Northwest Product

You'll pardon Elsie for taking personal pride in evaporated milk made by Borden's. She's the one responsible for its smooth flavor and richness.

But to Borden's must go the credit for evaporating this good milk, irradiating it with sunshine Vitamin D, and identifying it for your use with the familiar blue and white Borden label. Look for it today.

You'll discover several cans to be an economy.

"TWINS INSURANCE"

Certain New York stores have a "twins insurance" scheme whereby parents order a complete outfit for one baby and secure duplicate articles free of charge if twins arrive. One store supplied 76 layettes under this arrangement in a single year.

Officers Elevated In Oregon Guard

SALEM, Aug. 1—(AP)—Appointment of 39 new officers and promotion of 27 others in the Oregon national guard was approved today by the war department, this authorization being the largest of its kind in the state's history. Major General George A. White said today.

Similar increases also were granted to the national guards of Washington, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, but the figures for these states were not available here. The guardmen of the five states constitute the 1st division, commanded by General White, which begins three weeks of maneuvers at Fort Lewis, Wash., next week, and which then will be mobilized for about a year.

major will be promoted to lieutenant colonel, seven captains will become majors, and seven lieutenants will be promoted to captains. The 39 new officers will be appointed first and second lieutenants, and all must have served at least two years in the ranks.

General White called on regimental commanders today to submit recommendations for promotions and appointments.

He said there would be more promotions and appointments if the 1st division is increased from its present strength of 10,000 to a time strength of 20,000.

Prowling Cop

ST. LOUIS—For several nights, police patrolled a restricted residential district on complaint of residents that a suspicious looking man, carrying a club, had been seen there.

The cops caught up with the "prowler." He was a recently hired private night watchman.
