MASONS INVITED TO ATTEND THIRD ANNUAL CONCLAVE AT MALHEUR CAVE

Burns lodge, No. 97, A. F. and A. M., has issued invitations to all Masonic lodges in Oregon and throughout the adjoining territory to join the third annual conclave at Malheur cave and witness the conferring of the Master Mason degree, Saturday, September 7, under a special dispensation granted by the grand master of Oregon.

Plans are being made for representatives in every Masonic lodge in the state to be present. Lodge will convene at four o'clock in the afternoon, followed by refreshments and the degree at 7:30. Grand Master Earl Snell and members of his official family will be present.

A barbecue buckaroo supper will be served all guests at the entrance of the cave at six-thirty o'clock.

Malheur cave is located 54 miles southeast of Burns and is reached by way of the Crane-Princeton market road. The cave is a half mile long with a quarter mile lake in the rear. The chamber used is several hundred feet back from the entrance, 60 feet wide under an arched ceiling of lava rock. This novel event offers a distinctive and impressive experience for Masons.

There is an interesting Plute Indian legend that has Malheur cave as the sanctuary of a remnant of the tribe, who, being forewarned by the wily coyote, took refuge there and were saved from extinction by a hostile band of attackers.
