Japan Stays Grab In South Pacific

Expansion Plans Depending on Outcome of Nazi Attempt To Conquer Britain.

HANOI, French Indo-China, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Japan's avowed program of expansion in the south seas is seen here as awaiting a "go" signal from Europe.

Businessmen and diplomats in the Netherlands East Indies and French Indo-China voice repeatedly their belief Japan will take no direct action until Germany's assault upon Britain reaches its climax.

These sources contend Japan and Germany will arrange a partitioning in the orient which will have to wait for pre-occupation elsewhere of the western nations.

In contrast to the unanimity of this opinion regarding European prerequisites to Japanese action is the varying appraisal of the United States' role in the Orient.

Secretly, Indo-China has been trying to persuade United States airplane builders to turn over about 200 planes originally ordered for France, but most sources admit small hope of any American military intervention.

Nevertheless, the Indies particularly have taken comfort in the continued presence of the United States fleet in Hawaii.

Of the two areas, Indo-China is acknowledged to be far more susceptible of Japanese absorption because of her scanty troops, little equipment and a shortage of ammunition. Indo-China, in this strained atmosphere, is imposing air raid precaution blackout tests.

One of the most persistent reports in Hanoi is that before Marshal Pétain's French government at Vichy obtains a formal treaty with Germany, a Nazi delegation, traveling by way of Soviet Russia and China, will inspect Indo-China to determine its worth.

Informed Hanoi sources reason that if such is the case, the envoys would advise Hitler Indo-China is too valuable to give to Japan.

Suez Canal Vital To Britain, Italy

By the AP Feature Service

The National Geographic society calls the Suez Canal the "jugular vein of the British empire." The canal is Italy's only route to her East African colonies.

Britain sends most of the 25-30 ships that go through the canal daily in peace time.

Italy is second largest user of the canal; Germany, third.

If the axis powers could capture the canal and enough of the nearby Mediterranean area, they could get supplies from east Africa and Asia they are not getting today.

Through the canal in peace time go cargoes of rubber, tea, tin, raw silk, sugar, rice, wool, cereals, soy beans, copra, cotton, jute, petroleum, coal, timber, textiles, metals and machinery.

The Suez canal is a ribbon of water 105.5 miles long, 45 feet deep, 70 yards or more wide. The canal, slicing the land bridge between Asia and Africa, has no locks. Ships sail through under their own power in 12 to 20 hours. The speed limit is 6.21 m.p.h. Floodlights enable navigation to go on by night as well as by day.

During the war, England is sending her shipping around Africa rather than through the canal. Ships from London to Bombay log about 5,000 miles more sailing around Africa rather than by Suez.

Douglas Incense Cedar Operations on Increase

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 23.—(UP)—Activity in the incense cedar industry of Douglas county has greatly increased during the past year, the state forestry office reported here.

During the past year more than 1,800,000 feet of incense cedar cut has been cut into pencil stock on 49 of the 110 timber sales carried out by the O. and G. administration, the office said. Cuttings on private holdings have also increased.

Most of the cedar is cut into 24-inch bolts and sold for $8 per cord. The mills cut the bolts into blocks 3 1/2 by 4 inches seasoned and ship the blocks to distant mills for manufacture into pencils.

Most of the cedar operations are located on South Myrtle, North Myrtle and Days creeks.
