

Stimson Announces New Army Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson announced today that the first 30,000 selective service troops would be inducted into the army on or about November 15.

Between that date and next March 5, he said, 600,000 recruits will be called.

Stimson announced the dates at a press conference in which he said that Wendell L. Wilkie had been "misled" into making statements that were neither fair nor accurate as to the progress of housing for the expanding army.

The "great majority" of the new housing facilities for a total land force of 1,200,000 men will be ready by December 15, Stimson said.

The war secretary announced plans to form two new armored divisions next June. They will be the army's third and fourth of that type.

One will have headquarters at Pine camp, New York, and the other at Camp Beane, Oregon. Each will have a strength of about 11,500 men. A $8,555,824 contract was let, he said, for new housing at Pine camp.

The dates on which Stimson said it now is planned to induct the selective service trainees follow:

November 15—30,000; December 2—60,000; January 3, 1941—60,000; January 15—90,000; February 10—100,000; March 5—200,000.

Beyond these dates, Mr. Stimson said "only God and Hitler know what is going to confront the United States" and create the conditions which will determine the rate of calling up more men.

Stimson also gave dates when it was contemplated the remainder of the national guard would be mobilized for a year of field training.

About 126,000 officers and men, comprising 8 divisions, 81 regiments and other units, will be ordered into service between January 3 and January 15, he said, and the final 1,000 guardsmen will be called about February 3.

Two guard contingents have been put into active service to date. The first, numbering 60,000 men, was mobilized September 16, and the second 95,700, October 15.

Govt. Hindrances To Business Scored

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—W. P. Phillips, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, asserted today that "government interference to business is a real hindrance to the country's defense program."

In an address prepared for the 25th annual convention of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, he maintained:

"If this emergency is so acute as to warrant the drafting of our young manhood for national defense, and the conscription of industry in the preparation for that defense, then it is particularly crucial to give defense the strongest national flight of way."

"If defense does not come first, now, the nation may come later. Defense is not coming first when the present emergency is used to try to enforce the Wagner act by extra legal means, to realize solutions for the mastery of free private enterprise or to reward the faithful. Nor is it found wanting if it is sacrificed in any fashion for so-called social aims."

Phillips said that there were now 212 commissions in the federal government which if they are not soon eliminated by some congressional enactment "will destroy our liberties with their insupportable list of powers."

"In our desire to protect our freedom against external aggressors we must not allow the gov-

Copy of First Version of National Song Acquired

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The library of congress announced today that it had just acquired a real patriotic rarity—a copy of the first published version of America's national anthem—The Star Spangled Banner.

The small broadside, or handbill, 8 by 6 1/2 inches and containing the full text of the song, together with a short account of how it came to be written, is one of only two known to exist.

The library obtained it from Jesse L. Caspard, of Baltimore, who found it in an old scrapbook in his attic. The only other known copy is in the Walters art gallery in Baltimore.

The first printing of Francis Scott Key's famous poem happened to be a broadside because at the time of its production in 1814 all newspapers in Baltimore had suspended publication while every able-bodied man in the city shouldered a gun against the British.

The library of congress now has virtually a complete collection of early editions of the Star Spangled Banner, including the first printing with music, engraved by Thomas S. Ar of Baltimore. About the only thing it lacks is the first full manuscript draft, of which the Walters art gallery also is the proud possessor.

Local grocers are arranging special displays of Snow Flakes in their stores throughout the campaign.

Bank's Publicity Held Hatch Act Hit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Representative McCormack of Massachusetts, house democratic leader, asked the senate campaign expenditures committee today to investigate what he called a $30,000, 000 "hate Roosevelt movement."

In a letter to Chairman Gillette (D., Iowa) McCormack forwarded what he said was a photostatic copy of an advertisement placed in the Chicago Tribune on October 10 by the First National bank of Englewood, Ill.

The advertisement contained a statement of the bank's condition and ended, McCormack said, with:

"In a last stand for democracy every director and officer of this bank will cast his vote for Wendell Wilkie."

"It is generally known," said McCormack, "that the republican national committee and the various Wilkie groups, who are trying to obtain control of the federal government for their own special interest, has spent tremendous sums of money to date, and before the campaign is over it is conservatively estimated will spend directly and indirectly thirty million dollars in a 'hate Roosevelt movement' in an effort to defeat President Roosevelt."

"This tremendous expenditure will be artfully concealed in many ways, one of which is through the use of advertisements as employed by this particular bank."

McCormack urged that the senate committee recommend to congress, "legislation that will meet this abuse" if the Hatch act does not already prohibit it. He termed the bank advertisement "a specific instance of a flagrant violation of the Hatch act and employ intimidation and direct evidence of how the republican national committee is being assisted in flaunting the Hatch act by indirect expenditures."

Homing Pigeon Bill Gets Veto From Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt vetoed today a bill to "safeguard the homing pigeon" because he felt "that this is carrying national defense a little too far in times of peace."

The bill would have fixed a penalty of $500 for hunters and others who killed or removed the leg bands from a carrier pigeon. Harry H. Woodring, when secretary of war, had approved the legislation because he said, the pigeons were vital to defense.
