Every state, county and city official or board that handles public money should publish an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent.

What do the drivers of the large freight trucks think about as they roll along the road? Well, they probably think about a great many things because they certainly have plenty of time for thought.

This editor had the good fortune to be a guest of the annual Safety Award Dinner of the Consolidated Freightways line the other evening. We all joined in singing some very excellent company songs.

It would seem, according to the thought expressed in that verse, that there are two sides even to the question of driving on the highways.

Several of the men honored with safe driving awards have driven more than a quarter of a million miles without having an accident of any kind. When you realize that in their language the word accident means even a scratched or dented fender no matter whose the fault—250,000 miles is a considerable distance.

One thing was explained at the above mentioned Safety Award Dinner that was enlightening to this guest at the dinner—and it seems worth passing on. Most truck line drivers give a blinking light signal to a car behind that the road is all clear and that passing is in order.

Is that the potato was too hot for Hitler to hold.

Significant note from Spain—Franco (Hitler and Mussolini stooge) announces in a speech that Spain's historic mission is to "REGAIN GIBRALTAR from Britain."

What he really means is that Spain, being too weak to resist, must let Germany and Italy use her soil for a German-Italian attack on Gibraltar.

MEANWHILE the riddle of Russia and the Dardanelles remains unsolved. All we know is that the diplomats are working feverishly on it.

When the diplomats work feverishly, look for skulduggery somewhere.

Prepare Supplies For Red Cross Call

Supplies for the annual Red Cross roll call, which starts Armistice day and ends Thanksgiving day, are being prepared for distribution to the various communities of the county, according to Ellen Post, executive secretary.

Six girls from the Umpqua Campfire group have been assisting at the local office in sorting supplies for the roll call and have packaged materials to be distributed at a later date.

Mrs. Walter Coats of Tenmile visited the office Friday and made arrangements for a speaker at the meeting of the ladies aid society of the Tenmile church Wednesday, October 23, at which time the supplies for Tenmile will be delivered.

For the convenience of individuals and representative groups desiring to do war relief work, Mrs. Bess Coleman, production chairman, will be at the Red Cross headquarters each Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Stanford, Huskies Lead Grid Race

One of Those Teams Bids Fair To Enter Rose Bowl Tilt; Oregon State Defeated.

By RUSSELL NEWLAND SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Pigskin preview and review: The football capital of the far west shifts to Palo Alto this Saturday where Stanford's undefeated team faces Southern California's unbeaten but twice tied eleven in the week's most important conference game.

If Stanford hurdles Southern California its next opponent will be the University of California at Los Angeles on the latter's field. The following week will bring Washington, like Stanford now, undefeated and untied, to the Palo Alto battle ground.

The Washington-Stanford set-to now looms as the classic which will determine the Rose Bowl's western representative. Stanford's trail to this game is filled with more formidable obstacles.

Cougars Downed, 26-14. Those who rooted vainly for Stanford to win a conference contest last year are tooting loudly behind a victorious combination this season. The second league triumph and fourth win of the schedule was celebrated last weekend, a 26-14 setback to Washington state.

Axis Balkan Plans May Help Britain

Attempted Drive Toward Suez Canal Will Absorb Greater Supply of Dwindling Food.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 19.—The Turkish radio (government controlled) warns the axis powers that if they attempt a drive across the Dardanelles to Egypt and the Suez canal they will find Turkey a tougher nut to crack than the Netherlands, Belgium or France.

The threatened axis thrust down the Balkans into the near east naturally creates another danger to the life of the British empire but, on the basis that it's a nasty war which doesn't cool the fevered brow at all, I can see some benefit for England—much benefit if Hitler and Mussolini start their push and are stopped at the Dardanelles.

In order to make this clear I must remind you again that England is depending on her control of the sea to sail her through the war. Her banking on her naval blockade to strangle the enemy.

This being so, the destruction or diversion of enemy supplies, while the blockade prevents re-placements, is all to good for Britain. That's simple arithmetic.

Now when the Nazi and fascist armies are on the move they're burning up precious military supplies. The minute actual fighting starts, stores melt like ice through onto a red-hot stove.

Hitler Acquires Burden. But that's only part of the picture. When Hitler occupies a country, he has to maintain it, and supply it with food. It's equally true, however, that the occupied country soon is exhausted by this extra burden and becomes a liability to Nazism.

Exactly that has happened in every one of the countries which Hitler has overrun in western Europe. He simply will have to feed them out of his own pantry, let them starve, or persuade somebody else to feed them.

But there's still more of it. Every one of these countries when free was working like a beaver to create supplies for the omnivorous German market. In rendering them impotent to do this, Hitler has killed the goose which was laying the golden egg.

Farm Labor Diminished. The fruit and Balkan lung have been among Germany's essential sources of supplies, especially for potatoes and kumquat oil. Rumors is the only state thus far occupied during little Albania which Mussolini transferred from one pocket to another, but carried total production throughout the peninsula has been curtailed by the necessity of maintaining horse armies for defense. Men who should be tilling to soil are carrying rifles.

Restrictive Laws Hit French Jews

VICHY, France, Oct. 19.—(AP)—France followed the lead of most of Europe today, establishing strict anti-Jewish measures for the first time in her history.

Persons with three Jewish grandparents or with two Jewish grandparents and married to a Jew were excluded from all public administrations, from the press, the motion picture industry and radio, from holding an officer's rank in any branch of the armed forces, from working in the law courts in any other capacity than as a lawyer and from the colonial administration.

Official estimates placed the number of Jewish citizens of France and the colonies at slightly more than 400,000. Estimates of the number of foreign Jews in France were slightly higher.

The only exceptions made to the rulings of the Vichy government were for Jews who were decorated either in the wars of 1914 or 1939 or for Jews who "rendered distinguished services" in literary, artistic or scientific work.

The government also promulgated a decree giving local prefects the right to confine any foreign Jew to concentration camps to be set up in each department or to fix the places of residence, similar to the central European ghettos.

More severe measures already have been taken in Paris by German authorities. The activities of Jews there have been strictly limited, even in commerce, and they are not permitted to pass from the unoccupied to the occupied zone.

The new French measures forbid Jews to hold any company authorized by or holding public funds.

The only other concession to the Jews was permission to work in liberal professions. But recent governmental measures aimed at newly naturalized Jews forbade anyone working in the medical or legal professions if their parents were not French citizens.

The statutes give Jews who fall in the newly-established categories two months to leave their positions. Retirement pensions and compensation according to the length of service were granted.

Pension Leader to Speak in Roseburg

Arthur L. Johnson, national executive and legislative secretary of the General Welfare Federation of America, who is the recognized leader of the "reasonable" pension forces in America, will address a gathering of pension-minded folks at Roseburg at the courthouse Tuesday, October 22, at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Johnson is completing a fourth nationwide tour on behalf of the general welfare act, H. R. 5620, a $20 per month pension measure introduced in congress by Representative Warren G. Magnuson (D.) of Washington and being sponsored for action by the bipartisan steering committee of 100 congressmen. The federation's announcement said. It is claimed that the measure, when Mr. Johnson wrote, now has 212 signatures of congressmen on a discharge petition calling for a floor hearing and vote. To discharge the ways and means committee, which has had the measure for a year and a half which held an exhaustive Friday hearing on it in the spring of 1939, 218 signatures are necessary.

The measure provides for a guaranteed federal pension of not less than $20 per month to all retired citizens over 60, regardless of state matching, and carries a maximum of $80 per month from the federal government. This would be in addition to any amounts paid by the states or by local governments. It is proposed to finance such a federal pension program on a "pay-as-you-go" basis by levying a 2½% tax on gross income and the cost of all materials, goods or property sold.

What will happen to the whole program, this measure is at present extremely uncertain. It depends partly on the way the current war situation develops, partly on the outcome of the approaching election, partly on the vigor with which the agriculture department pushes for action.

But one thing is uncertain: here is the broadest and most comprehensive piece of "social planning" for good or for ill that the Roosevelt administration has yet brought forward.

Use of the word "escort" being outmoded, the co-eds announce they will now refer to the boys' friends as "dates." And to some of the less satisfactory dates, as "prunes."

Improved—Mrs. H. O. Parzinger is reported to be improved in health at her home on Claire street, where she has been ill for several days.

Funeral Arranged Here For Mrs. Dena Shuler

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Douglas Funeral home for Mrs. Dena Shuler, 68, who died at her home in Roseburg Saturday following a short illness.

Born in Clinton, Iowa, Oct. 23, 1873, the daughter of James and Isabelle White, she was married April 16, 1915, to William Edwin Pass, civil war veteran, at Moscow, Idaho. Mr. Pass died August 5, 1939, and on June 18, 1938, the widow was married to Thomas Shuler, who died January 30, 1939.

Mrs. Shuler was a member of the Christian church and of General Logan camp, W. E. C., at Grants Pass. She was a member and active worker in the local Townsend club.

The services will be conducted by Dr. R. L. Dunn and interment will follow in Civil Bend cemetery.
