Sprague Sees No Peril From Nazis

Governor Says Situation Does Not Require Re-election of President Roosevelt.

PORTLAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Governor Charles A. Sprague said last night that America is not in such imminent danger as to require the re-election of President Roosevelt.

Asserting in a radio address that the Germans have been unable to invade England in four months, he asked "by what rule of military mathematics may it be said we are in immediate danger from Germany, across 3,000 miles of water?"

"I believe our real war threat is more apt to arise a year or two years from now. There is ample time for a new leader to pick up the reins, particularly when the leader in sight is as swift in action and as clear in judgment as Wendell Wilkie."

After saying that all nations soon will be in a "race for power in a mad scramble with fate," the governor asked:

"Should we enter that race with a spent horse? The presidency of the United States is said to be the most exalted job on earth."

Is not this rather the time to summon a new leader?"

The governor said the new deal has no right to claim credit for most of its social reforms, asserting that many of those reforms were initiated by Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

"Labor's gains," he said, "have come as a result of labor's own efforts, made in republican administrations and democratic administrations. And labor makes a mistake if it ties itself up to any political party."

Governor Sprague concluded his speech with an appeal to Oregon voters to pay tribute to Senator Charles L. McNary, Wilkie's running mate, by putting Oregon in the republican column next Tuesday.

Medical Center Is Dedicated By F. R.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt dedicated the new plants of the national institute of health and national cancer institute near here today with a speech asserting that the present need for health conservation "is greater than at any time in the nation's history."

The chief executive went into nearby Bethesda, Md., to make the dedicatory address at the adjoining sites of the two great new medical research centers.

"I voice for America and for the stricken world," he said, "our hopes, our prayers, our faith in the power of man's humanity to him."

Mr. Roosevelt noted the medical, dental, nursing and other professions to do their utmost in helping advance the work of the special health committees in the national defense commission.

"We seek the same partnership that we seek for industrial production in the defense commission," he said.

"Neither the American people nor their government intend to socialize medical practice any more than they plan to socialize industry. In American life the family doctor is the general practitioner performing a service which

Top Goal Set For U. S. Army, Navy

Nation's Military Strength to be Increased Five-Fold at Cost of Many Billion.

WASHINGTON—When the first number came out of the ink bowl in the draft lottery on October 29, the United States embarked on a peacetime program that in five years may increase our military might five-fold, on the average, and make us the heaviest-armed nation on earth.

The draft itself will contribute the most powerful element in the program blueprint for congress by the army and navy. For, if continued for the five-year period prescribed by the selective service law, it will provide the nation with 4,000,000 trained military reserves.

These reserves will cost a cool billion dollars a year, or five billion dollars by 1945, not counting equipment, but adding in food and transportation.

Our first line army will number more than 1,200,000 men. It's built on the plan calling for a five-pronged instrument of war—a foreign garrison force of 75,000, a coast defense force of 50,000, an air force of 150,000, a mobile army for the continental United States of 500,000 men, and an overhead force (hospital, administration, replacements, etc.) of 125,000.

The reserve will consist of the national guard assuming it serves only one year, and the selective service men who have served their year.

The biggest step-up in military might will be the air force. From the 7,000 planes we now have in both the army and navy, we will have jumped to 40,000 planes. We'll have 10,000 men to fix them and run them in 1945, instead of the less than 10,000 now available in both branches.

Naval manpower will jump from about 100,000 to more than 500,000 and tonnage from nearly two million tons of fighting ships, to three and a half million tons in 1945.

Subject to Change
The program may be altered at any time. The best observers on Capitol Hill, for instance, suggest that a sudden end of hostilities abroad that would also end the threat of totalitarian powers would scuttle most of this expansion program into the legislative wastebasket within a week or two.

Other experts suggest that the immediate threat of war, on the other hand, would find the program stepped up in speed and scope. For instance, it would be feasible to plan for a first line force of 1,000,000 men within two years, if the nation decided to go to war with a definite enemy at a certain time.

Ouch for Taxpayer
The cost of this mighty instrument of war to the taxpayer will be astronomical. No competent bookkeepers have dared yet to reckon it. All you can do is gauge fragmentary costs. It is possible to say, for instance, that congress has authorized defense expenditures of about $17,000,000. That may keep parts of the plan moving about two years. The cost of the drafted army alone will range close to a billion dollars a year, on that basis the total

California Major Prize of Election

GOP Victory Hopes Based on Split Among Democrats, Who Lead in Registration.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Cross-currents have so distorted the reflecting power of the presidential campaign on the Pacific coast that it scarcely can cast an image of what it may look like the day after election, but the democrats still hold a 1,000,000-vote edge in registration in California, one of the biggest prizes west of the Mississippi.

"President Roosevelt will carry California by a majority of 400,000," said William B. Malone, democratic state chairman.

"We can and will win California," says Republican State Chairman Thomas Kuchel, "if the magnificent fight on behalf of Americanism, in which the Wilkie voters and the regular organization have joined hands, is carried right up to election day."

The republicans are expecting the democratic registration advantage to be offset by the pro-Wilkie efforts of Senator Hiram Johnson and John L. Lewis, plus a split in the democratic state party leadership and the anti-new deal and anti-third term democrats.

Malone asserts the president's recent speeches replying to republican campaigner had resulted in a "rush" of on-the-fence voters to the Roosevelt side and that the Johnson and Lewis speeches have arranged against the Wilkie-McNary camp. He said California's 22 electoral votes were "safely in the Roosevelt column."

Demos Split Vital
But the democrats haven't worked as intensively as the republicans. The democratic split, which has been a wide-open affair since Lieutenant Governor Ellis E. Patterson, a left wing leader, told Governor Culbert L. Olson to "go to hell," worried National Chairman Edward J. Flynn, who suggested a reconciliation for the sake of the Roosevelt cause.

Subsequently Olson, who is national committeeman, announced the appointment of John C. Packard to head of committee to handle the presidential campaign in populous southern California. The appointment presumably was the choice of the democratic national organization.

Since the formation of the Packard committee, the democratic committee of Los Angeles county, which contains nearly 42.5 per cent of the state's 4,652,835 registered voters, has confined campaigning mainly to state and local issues. It reportedly was short of campaign cash.

Old Story Revived
The republicans also have dragged out the story about Senator Johnson's history-making role in the 1914 presidential campaign when Charles Evans Hughes, the republican standard bearer, visited California. Hughes failed to call on Johnson, who then was governor. Johnson did nothing to help Hughes. Hughes lost the presidential race because he failed by a narrow margin to carry California. Woodrow Wilson was re-elected.

Johnson now is up for re-election to a fifth term. In the primary he won the democratic and progressive as well as the republican nomination. He is opposed only by a communist, Anita Whitney.

Accord Will Free French Prisoners

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Gradual release of 1,000,000 French prisoners by the Germans is provided in an "agreement in principle" reached with Nazi leaders by Vice Premier Pierre Laval of France, diplomatic sources said today.

This agreement, those sources asserted, is Laval's ace-in-the-hole with which he hopes to win at least temporary approval and support of the mass of French people for the Vichy government's program of collaboration with the axis powers' "new order."

That collaboration, with the means put over for later discussion, was agreed upon last week when Marshal Petain, France's chief of state, conferred with Adolf Hitler.

Petain on Wednesday foreshadowed some action affecting French prisoners when he told his people that, as part of France's deal with her conquerors "in the near future the suffering of our country may be lightened, the fate of our prisoners ameliorated, the charges of occupation eased."

Diplomatic sources said there was no doubt that Laval had obtained the release agreement during his recent Paris talks with German officials.

When he plans to play his ace card remains in doubt, it was said.

Election Returns Will Flash Over Air From KRNR

Complete coverage of one of the most important presidential elections in the nation's history will be broadcast over the coast-to-coast Mutual network including KRNR at Roseburg, on Tuesday, November 5, continuing through the early hours of November 6.

Philo Lewis, Jr., and Boake Carter will head a staff of trained newscasters, analysts, announcers and special features men who will be posted in some 20 key cities and state capitals.

The network plans two main operation points—Chicago and New York. However, from such strategic hot spots as Los Angeles, Boston, Baltimore, Harrisburg, St. Jefferson City, Mo., Detroit, San Francisco, Denver, Des Moines, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Lincoln, Hartford, Columbus, and Lexington, Ky., will come other rapid reports to give listeners a balanced view picture of America at the polls.

Win, lose or draw, Mutual will have lines installed at Hyde Park, New York, where the president is usually to be found on election day, republican national headquarters in New York's Hotel Roosevelt, and democratic national headquarters in New York's Hotel Baltimore. It is expected that Wendell L. Wilkie will be in New York.

Other newscasters on Mutual's roster will be Quin Ryan, Arthur Sears Henning, Arthur M. Evans and Cedric Foster.

Soviet Hand Falls on Three for 'Slander'

MOSCOW, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A. D. Mitskov, former director of the south and central department of black metallurgy (coal industry), was sentenced today to death by a firing squad as leader of a "slander ring" which the government said conducted a campaign of demoralization against communists.

Convicted with him were A. I. Karposhin, engineer of the Leningrad mechanical institute, sentenced to 12 years imprisonment, and P. P. Potushkin, engineer of the Uralian geological department, given five years.

The court decided to indict a number of other persons involved in the testimony.

The prosecution charged that the SKAD (state police) had received since 1935 a stream of letters attacking communist party members and others of "subversive activities" and "helping the enemy." All such charges were false, it was said. The ring was said to have had units in many cities, with members known by such names as "Grandmother Revolution."

Mother Carries 3 Tots From Fire but One Dies

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Charles Barker, 8-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barber, Portland, died today as the result of inhaling smoke during a fire at the Barker apartment home yesterday.

Two other children, Richard, 2, and Robert, 5, were in "fair" condition at a local hospital.

The mother found the children unconscious late yesterday and carried them from the third-story apartment. She said the fire, which did little material damage, was started by Robert who was playing with matches.

The fire household's office said the death was the first civilian fire fatality of the year here although two firemen died June 5 while combating a blaze.

News-Review to Close Business Office Each Saturday at 2 p. m.

Because of recent further limitations on working hours resulting from application of the federal wage and hour law, it has been made necessary for the News-Review to reduce the period of labor for all employees. It becomes necessary to close the business office of the News-Review at 2 p. m. each Saturday, beginning November 2. Patrons having business at the News-Review office are requested to arrange to call prior to the new closing hour.

Assuming that this mighty armament will not be used to fight, what is its value to the nation?

Primarily it's insurance—at a very high premium. When the ambassador of a foreign power addresses our secretary of state in 1945, he may be talking to the representative of the world's No. 1 military power.
