Increases in Fall Th first fall rains of each year

Th first fall rains of each year see a great increase in the activi-ties of sheep-killing dogs, accord-ing to Tom Fletcher, enforcement officer for the county dog control hoard. No explanation has been obtained why destruction of sheep and goats should show such a mark-ed increase with the change of season, but records show that losses to sheep owners are greatly losses to sheep owners are greatly increased each fall, immediately following the first rainy weather.

following the first rainy weather, Fletcher reports, During October dogs killed 15 sheep and four goats in widely separated parts of the county and injured 27 sheep and three goats. During the month 20 sheep-killing dogs were killed and 14 stray dogs were picked up and either either head York-271 Madison Ave. Chi--360 N. Michigan Ave. -San claco-220 Bish Street-De--3084 W.
