

Conn Decisions Savold but Bout Draws Razzberry

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Billy Conn added no stars to his flaccid crown in beating up Lee Savold and gaining the decision in the Garden last night. As was reasonably suspected, the punch that used to do no worse than wound middleweights is only a minor irritant to a heavyweight—even to a heavyweight no better able to defend himself than Savold.

The Pittsburgh profile punched the Des Moines boy with everything he had for most of the 12 rounds. At times he even leaped off the floor to see if he could get a little extra behind his blows. But at the end Savold actually looked better than the lad who wants to fight Joe Louis next summer.

Conn had a cut under one eye, whereas Savold bore no marks on his countenance except an expression of honest bewilderment. "He is a pretty sharp puncher," he conceded of the lighthweight champion, "but now, he never dazed me. He might do as good against Louis as Pastor did. I dunno."

Promoter Mike Jacobs, even though he saw it all and must have heard the basket of razzberries presented to Billy by the crowd after it was over, refused to concede that his candidate had not furthered his campaign for a title shot. It was pointed out that Savold was only a 187-pounder, and in appearance a trifle muscle-bound, whereas in Louis, Conn would be meeting a great big, limber fellow.

"I thought he did all right," Mike insisted. He licked the guy, didn't he?"

Pinky George, Savold's pilot, was so sore he wasn't speaking to his gladiator for some time after the battle.

"You had him hurt two, three times," he finally yelled, "and what did you do? Nothing." It was true. Savold finally did come out of his trance in the late rounds and hit Billy a few times, and Billy didn't appear to like it much. But Savold didn't know what to do next.

Girl Gets 2 Years For Defiling Flag

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Helga Schleuter, 29-year-old girl sentenced to a term of from one to two years in a woman's reformatory for defiling the stars and stripes, gained her freedom on $2,500 bail a few hours after sentence was passed yesterday.

David A. Veeder, her counsel, announced he would appeal the conviction to the New Jersey supreme court on the basis of errors he said were made in drawing the indictment.

The girl's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. August Schleuter, and a friend, Mrs. Sarah Le Compte of Lakewood, furnished the bond.

She was in jail, preparing to go to the reformatory at Clinton, when bail was furnished.

Miss Schleuter was convicted of throwing the flag on the ground during the state fireman's parade at Lakewood June 29.

Common Pleas Judge Percy Camp pronounced sentence with the comment: "It takes such times as these to prove the importance of respect to the flag."

Her counsel, David A. Veeder, blamed the incident on "too many beers."

Glen Foulks Vacate, Glen Foulks Move In

TILLAMOOK, Ore., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Glen Foulks appeared to be a bit redundant to Robert Houck, vacation cottage proprietor, this week.

No sooner had Mr. and Mrs. Glen Foulks of Newberg, Ore., vacated a cottage to return to their home than another couple appeared and registered for the cabin. They signed the register: "Mr. and Mrs. Glen Foulks." Houck blinked, and made inquiries. The families were related and quite unaware of each other. The newcomers are Canadians.

unconscious shortly after midnight, but were revived and able to walk to their homes.

The mine superintendent emphasized there was no evidence of fire following the terrific detonation, tentatively attributed by miners to ignited gas. He asserted the workings had been thoroughly rock dusted to prevent explosions and that only "permissible" explosives and machinery were used.

Nazi raiders have caused sizable "alterations" in many buildings in London's swank Regent St. shopping district, but, as the sign over Brown's Arcade, above, announces, many tenants in bombed buildings are "carrying on as usual." Street-front tenants have found it practical to replace blasted windows primarily with boards, leaving only a small sheet of glass for display purposes.

Loyal Emery, 48, for many years a resident of Douglas county, died suddenly at Salem today following a long period of illness. Although in poor health for several months, his death came unexpectedly.

Born at Umpqua, Oregon, he was engaged in farming and sheep raising for a number of years, moving about 12 years ago to California, where he engaged in cattle buying until ill health forced his retirement last June.

Surviving are a daughter, Georgia Emery, Los Angeles; his mother, Mrs. L. E. Thompson, Umpqua, and two sisters, Margaret Price, Roseburg, and Helen Hockenson, Seattle.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

France's Syrian Ruler Dies in Downed Plane

VICHY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The French government permitted disclosure today of the death of Jean Chiappe, new high commissioner for Syria, in a French air transport which crashed Nov. 27 after reporting in an SOS it was machine-gunned by a British fighter plane.

The airplane carrying Chiappe was brought down over the Italian island of Sardinia and lost with all occupants.

An official announcement said Chiappe was killed after the plane was machine-gunned in a naval engagement between British and Italian warships midway between the Sardinian and African coasts.

Nazis Blast British Areas in Night Raids

ing, but all were "under control" by early morning, the air and home security ministries said in a joint communique.

The first of the daylight raiders came over the Thames estuary in waves of 30 planes. Anti-aircraft guns barked and fast Hurricane and Spitfire fighters zoomed to the attack, quickly breaking up the Nazi formations and forcing most of the planes back.

Some bombs were dropped in a London residential district. One hit a building and sent a small tower crashing on a taxiab in a main shopping street. Pedestrians dashed to cover.

Convoy Attacked
German planes also attacked a convoy flying barrage balloons. Pyrotechnics on shore heard anti-aircraft firing from the ships and bomb explosions and saw high columns of water.

One raider twice attempted to bomb a convoy off the southeast coast. Explosions could be heard but thick mist and a slight rain hid vessels from above, although barrage balloons accompanying the ships could be seen from time to time.

Exchange Telegraph reported that towns in southern England suffered heavily last night, with six killed in one town, several injured and much property damage.

In London, said the British Press association, mothers and babies escaped when the maternity ward of a London hospital was hit.

British bombers were reported to have had a busy night, too, raiding Bremen and Cologne in Germany, as well as the frequently-bombed "invasion ports."

LONDON GREATLY DAMAGED BY RAIDERS, NAZIS SAY
BERLIN, Nov. 30.—(AP)—About 400 tons of explosives and 36 tons of incendiaries were dumped on London last night by several hundred Nazi planes in one of the Luftwaffe's larger scale attacks, informed German sources said today.

Although no details were disclosed, these sources said the British capital suffered great damage. Secondary raids were said to have been directed at Birmingham, Liverpool and Plymouth during the night while Italian fighters bombed rail and dock facilities at Ipswich.

Day raids, they said, centered on army camps at Lydd, Lowestoft and Great Yarmouth.

The high command declared, too, that "tremendous explosions and conflagrations in extensive storehouses lit up the night" in the attack on Liverpool and Birkenhead.

British night raids on northern and western Germany were acknowledged in the communique. It said "a small factory" which was a previous target was hit again and several persons were wounded.

Germans claimed the edge in planes shot down, four to two.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill celebrated his 68th birthday today and received a gift from residents of the Netherlands East Indies of money to purchase seven Spitfires for Britain's defense.

Oregon Fish Hatcheries To Have Capacity Take
ASTORIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Oregon's fish hatcheries will have a "capacity load" of eggs at the end of the "take" season, Hugh Mitchell said today, pointing out that more than 50,000,000 eggs already have been stripped from chinook salmon.

The supervisor of the state fish commission's hatchery system and fish culture said that silverside eggs also are being taken in volume. More eggs could be handled, he added, but the commission would rather that some salmon spawn naturally.
