knew how to do it. But actually doing it is the perpetual problem. The first principle—find the person who has the disease—is not a matter of diagnosing who looks are it. Tuberculosis, an incidious arourge, hides behind apparently healthy looks for months and does its destructive work. Finally, of course, symptoms appear, and the tethic lis forced to seek medical beth. By that time, though the disease is entrenched in the body. The time to find tuberculosis is before symptoms appear.

Early tuberculosis can be cured. The earlier it is found, the easier and quicker it is to cure. Advanced tuberculosis is difficult to cure and comitives expensive years of final tuberculosis in time to cure it.

The second principle—prevent the special of the disease to other the special of the disease to other in also far ensier to say than to accomplish. During the months when inherenlosis is entrenching fixed in the body unknown to the victing the disease. Hence, the two principles become part of the same thing, as so the two bars become art of the cross.

The two principles are furreaching. This we can see the extent of the cross.
