GOOD WILL TO MEN

On that first Christmas centuries ago, Across the hills, beyond Judea's plain Three Wise Men waited, while the moon hung low Against a starry sky. Their eyes would frown Have closed in sleep but for that wondrous light And that strange star, It seemed to beckon them, While angels sang the Glory Song that night. It led toward Mary's child in Bethlehem.

A shadow hangs above our world tonight, As terror, hate and greed and lust combine; But while there still remains a love for right Of which that manger scene is yet a sign; While it prevails, there can be laughter still, And Christmas cheer and to all men good will.

MARKET REPORTS

WOOL

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool market which had been distinctly quiet during the first half of this week, has shown more signs of life these last two days, due, in part, doubtless, to the awards by the government against the bids opened December 5 for some 13 million yards of army and CCC fabrics and partly to some civilian business.

"The demand has been fairly well distributed over the various grades and descriptions of wool, so far as they were available, but has favored the finer qualities. A fair weight of scoured pulled wools has been sold and prices generally have been steady.

"There is some inclination on the part of country holders to sell their wool at slightly less money but usually it is difficult to find a mill ready to pay the country asking price.

"Foreign markets are steady with rather less American interest reported. "Sales of mohair in Texas have been moderate at 48 to 50 cents for adult and 60 to 70 cents for kid."
