Farmers Guests Of Exchange Here In "Open House"

More than 400 Douglas county farmers and members of their families were guests of the Douglas County Farm Bureau Exchange today at its annual Open House. The guests were entertained morning and afternoon with talking motion pictures, demonstrations of cut-away farm tractors and implements and machines.

During the noon hour the large crowd enjoyed a cafeteria lunch, furnished by the exchange.

Claude E. Banning, manager of the exchange, and members of his staff were assisted by wives of the employes, who prepared and served the bounteous lunch. Factory representatives were present to conduct demonstrations and show pictures of John Deere farm machinery and Caterpillar trucks and tractors.

Factory representatives cooperating with Mr. Banning were M. L. Spiker, Paul Hansen, E. P. Robb and Leonard Marty, all of the Portland branch of the John Deere company, and Dick Overpack and Clare Shaw, San Leandro, California, of the Caterpillar company.

Louder Alarm Provided For Roseburg Fire Dept.

The signal is much louder than has been previously used and can be heard for a distance of several blocks.

Oregon Youth Lays Escape To Failure to Get Books

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—(AP)—James D. McLarty, 17, who says he walked out of an Oregon reformatory because "they wouldn't give me books to complete my high school education," remained in the county jail today awaiting a decision as to whether he will be sent to a federal reformatory.

The youth was sentenced in federal court recently to two years on a charge of stealing a federal check for $22.50 in a Santa Rosa hotel. Judge Martin I. Welsh has under consideration his plea for probation.

McLarty said he was committed to a state reformatory in Oregon for taking $3 from an unlocked house while hitch-hiking to his grandmother's home in Portland.

Check-Deposit Record at Douglas National Mounts

Year-end reports from the Douglas National bank are that check and deposit activities in 1940 were the greatest in its history, in keeping with the increase in the number of individual depositors.

It was pointed out that while loan activity is high, the bank finds its chief problem to be loaning its funds. While many loans are being made, the availability of loan money is the highest recalled.

In comparing the resources of the Douglas National bank to a composite statement of Roseburg's three banks of 1933, its resources are almost equal to the total of the three banks reporting in that year.
