Dame Fashion Waves Goodbye To Glamor Girl

By Mary Elizabeth Plummer
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A huge show of western hemisphere style trends hailing New York as the world's style capital proclaims the glamor girl as old-fashioned as her great-aunt's bustle, and the "vitamin girl" her successor.

The 1941 girl is the working girl, who watches her calories and takes her exercises, said Commentator Margaret Case last night at "Fashion Futures," which unrolled for four hours a panorama of what women will wear next spring.

In addition to bidding goodbye to the glamor girl, with her pale face and long bob, the show saluted suits for spring, cape costumes, and hats that "pay the wearer a compliment."

In 18 sequences with scenery and sound effects, it displayed 1,800 representatives of the fashion trade from many cities 500 ensembles ranging in price from $10.75 to $400, all American designs and most of them clothes for the average woman.

These were some of the introductions, before champagne corks popped at a $15 supper: Shorter shorts and longer sweaters for sports wear.

A range of new spring greens, including "the grass green of Belmont park, gray-green of the Arizona desert, sea green of Pebble Beach, Calif."

Much beige and off-white; parma violet, vivid red, many black and white costumes.

Slim, casual suits of green gabardine or blue covert cloth; a softer, more feminine shoulder, succeeding the padded football shoulder, and a family with seven children—all in checks.

Evening gowns were mainly full-skirted, many in silk jersey, lace, and pastel marganza.

After a bow to the fashion influences of South America, Britain, China and Greece, the show ended with a British ball scene, and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Preview of Summer Styles

Made in America—for the maid in America! Fashionists are wondering whether the simple, accoridian-pleated dress, with a link chain outlining the bosom and forming a belt slightly above the normal waistline, will replace the dirndl in the younger set's affections. It might—that is, if designers make it with the pleats stitched down. This model is of yellow wool jersey with gold chain.

American Legion Auxiliary Activities

By Mrs. Walter Fisher

Our motto: We honor the dead by serving the living.

February is National Defense month of the American Legion and its auxiliary. National defense to the members of the American Legion is no new story. With the actual experience of what an unprepared nation faces still fresh in our minds, even after 23 years, the Legion consistently advocated a strong national defense program for the United States. It seems like Father Time has turned back the clock two decades as we find ourselves honoring the boys who are enlisting. These fine young American citizens are doing just as an earlier generation did—doing their part toward the preservation of democracy. The situation seems very natural and yet there is this difference: those youths will have training; they will know how to protect themselves in any emergency. The American Legion has decreed this. For the past 20 years they have consistently advocated selective service. The program to be effective must run along smoothly, without hysteria or undue alarm. This is a challenge to our organization and we have every confidence that we can accept it as we prepare to give every assistance toward the defense of America.

Observing National Defense month, Mrs. Victor Micelli gave a stirring talk Tuesday evening over KRNR. Mrs. Micelli localized the national defense program, outlining the imperative need of the relocation and broadening of our own Pacific highway as well as auxiliary highways, which feed this thoroughfare. One point made by Mrs. Micelli was a decided eye-opener. She stated that by the time the first troops of a uniform army division of foot soldiers reached Rice Hill, the end of the movement would be just leaving Portland in Multnomah county—which is quite something in ineffectual transportation. Mrs. Thomas Parkinson, our national defense chairman introduced Mrs. Micelli.

Umpqua post and auxiliary are looking forward to the date of January 23, when Department President Laura Good and Department Commander Kelly will visit the Drain post and unit and assist in an impressive initiation ceremony. A large group from Roseburg plan to attend this meeting, according to Unit President Mrs. Claude Baker.

Under the capable leadership of Mrs. J. A. Harding, the finance committee of Umpqua unit is doing a grand job. The service shop in the rear of Roy Bellows' store, is open to the public every Saturday. In addition to this activity, the committee is planning a public card party and food sale later in the month. All funds derived from these various events are used by Umpqua unit to further its hospital, child welfare and community service programs.

January is National Legislative month in auxiliary activities. Umpqua unit is fortunate in having as local chairman of this important committee, Mrs. E. B. Stewart, who is busily planning some publicity along this line later in the month.

We believe in keeping all of the bad news until the end. This is membership delinquency time. If dues are not in by the 31st, a member is unfortunately dropped from the membership list. Our fine, energetic little president, Mrs. Claude Baker, will contact any possible delinquent members in the next few weeks. We doubt if any eligible person will allow her membership to lapse.

And while we are at it watch our junior auxiliary grow. Under the leadership of Ethel Van Voorst, livewire little president, this group promises to be one of the most active junior organizations in the city.
