

R. H. S. Hoopsters Lose to Medford High by 30 to 17

A bunch of tired Roseburg high school Indians were nursing their wounds today as they prepared themselves for another southward invasion tomorrow night, when they go to Grants Pass. Beaten twice last week by Ashland and Medford, the Indians are now in a desperate position and must win their future contests to stay out in front of the district pack.

Beaten 36 to 26 at Ashland Friday, the Indians dropped Saturday's game at Medford 30 to 17 after playing on close terms for three periods.

Showing the effects of the hard struggle at Ashland the preceding night, the Indians fought back desperately at an inspired Medford team in the first half of Saturday night's game. Denton, Roseburg's towering center, went out of the game in the first quarter, Ward shifting to center and Caey, Schrimpf and Ness alternating in reserve spots. While Ward performed beautifully in backboard recoveries, the loss of Denton was keenly felt both on offense and defense. Caey turned in a fine defensive game particularly in fast ball-hawking.

Indians Collapse.
The Medford team, playing a far stronger game than in any previous showing, were ahead 15 to 12 at half time and led 20 to 17 in the third quarter. The Indians managed to stay within three points of their rivals during the first three periods, but collapsed as the game went into the final stanza and were unable to score during the entire frame, while Medford added 30 points.

The two losses leaves the Indians only a half game in the lead, being dressed hard by Ashland, while Medford is two games out of first place.

The Indians will play at Grants Pass Tuesday and hope to take revenge on the once beaten Medford team when the Pear Pickers come to Roseburg Saturday night.

After this week's conference schedule, the Indians have only two league games to play. They will meet Ashland here February 15 and will play their final conference game at Medford February 21. In addition to these two games they will play the U. of O. Frosh here February 11 and the O. S. C. Rooks at Corvallis February 25.

The lineup for Saturday's game:
Medford 30 17 Roseburg
Gunnert 8 F 5 Ward
Reed 3 F 2 Goodlow
Herman 1 C 3 Denton
Williams 2 G 3 Hughes
Fawcett 11 G 2 Finlay

Substitutes: Medford: Thorndyke 5, Wall, Dixon; Roseburg: Cacy 2, Ness, Schrimpf.

Juniors Also Defeated
In a preliminary to the game between the Roseburg and Medford senior high teams, the junior high squads of the two schools met in a contest won by Medford 44 to 13. The Papooses were tired from Friday night's game with Grants Pass here and played the greater part of the game without the services of Ward Cummings, stellar guard, who had to be removed early in the first quarter because of a foot injury. On the large Medford court the Papooses quickly were exhausted by the running Medford juniors who were out in front 23 to 7 at the half.

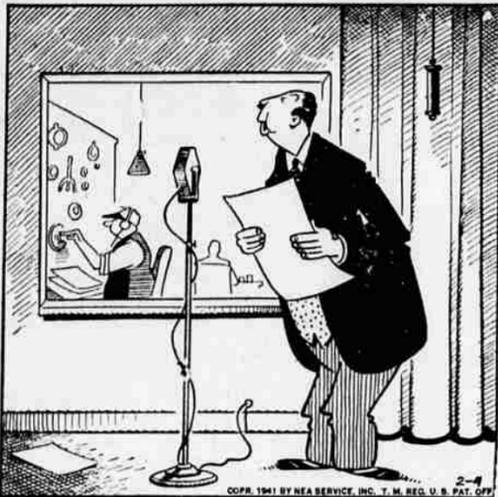

The Papooses have one more game to play, being scheduled to meet Grants Pass here Feb. 14. The game will be a doubleheader with the Grants Pass 8th graders meeting the junior high "peanut" squad.

Coach Tod Turner is greatly pleased by the new system used this year by the junior high schools of the district in having players remain over night in the towns in which they play. Through arrangements made at the beginning of the season players of the home team entertain the visiting players in their own homes, furnishing bed and breakfast. As a result, Turner reports, a fine spirit of friendship among the young athletes has resulted.

Lineup for Saturday's game:
Roseburg 13 44 Medford
Lomis 3 F 7 Niedermeyer
Wiley 2 F 2 Teadev
Vincent 2 C 4 Hoffbrook
Maulding G 2 Devoil
Cummings G 8 Toomey

Substitutes: Roseburg: James Anderson 5, Steinhens 1; Medford: Nordyke 2, Baker 6, Weisenberger, Dipple 13.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Friends, this weather bureau report of the oncoming tornado is coming to you through the courtesy of the Build-Well Lumber Co."

today that Edouard Daladier, former French premier, had told him in 1939 that France expected the United States to aid it "with money, materials and men."

Testifying before the senate foreign relations committee in opposition to the administration's aid-to-Britain bill, LaFollette said he had called on Daladier in March, 1939, and "asked him just what aid they expected from us."

"He replied without a moment's hesitation," the witness recounted, "that they expected money, materials and men. And he said that 'we are going to need them and expect them soon.'"

Senator Johnson (R., Calif.) asked whether "the French expectations have been justified by events."

"The money and materials are in this British-aid bill," LaFollette replied, "and I have no hesitancy in saying that the president would be justified in regarding this legislation, not as an authorization, but as a mandate to carry out the full implications of entrance into war."

Previously LaFollette had told the committee that the legislation would "rest in one man the decision over peace or war in this country."

He declared that the bill also "defines weapons of war so broadly as to include virtually every piece of property in this country," and "allows the president to acquire this property and dispose of it to foreign countries on any terms he sees fit."

Seven Italian Ships Sunk
Across the Mediterranean, reports from Split, Yugoslavia, said seven Italian ships had been sunk in an apparently concerted British-Greek submarine campaign against fascist military supply routes far up in the Adriatic sea.

British and Greek submarines were said to be operating as far as 230 miles north of Otranto, forcing Italian ships to take refuge in Lugosaj ports.

RAF Deals Blows
British bombers were reported active against both ends of the Rome-Berlin axis, scoring a "successful attack" on an important power supply dam in Sardinia and bombing targets in Nazi-occupied northwest France shortly before dawn today.

Five British mine-sweeping trawlers were reported to have driven off three German Dornier raiders after a fierce 15-minute battle in daylight, somewhere off the southeast English coast.

After an overnight lull, with fog shrouding the English channel, Nazi bombers attacked London and dropped their cargoes of death over central Scotland and the northeast English coast.

A single German plane streaked across the channel through a snowstorm this morning and dropped four bombs on the outskirts of London, killing a child and wrecking several homes.

On the southeast coast, another Nazi raider hit a church and damaged several buildings. Villagers feared a woman and a boy were killed.

Berlin reported a German diver-bomber sank a 3,000-ton ship off the English east coast this morning, scoring several hits which tore the vessel apart. It also reported yesterday that German bombers were operating across the Mediterranean. Nazi planes were said to have bombed British shipping and bases along the Egyptian and eastern Libyan coast on Saturday, sinking three merchant ships and damaging three others. The Italian high command said the Germans sank one vessel on Friday.

A Greek spokesman reported last night Greek capture of dominating positions on a 10-mile mountain range north of Klisura after desperate fighting.

The Greeks were said to have captured 270 prisoners and "many automatic arms, mortars and all kinds of material."

France's troubled political destiny took a new turn as French naval minister, Darlan, arrived in Paris presumably to confer with ousted ex-vice Premier Pierre Laval regarding collaboration with Germany.

A speedy showdown in French-German relations was reported imminent as leaders of a newly formed pro-Nazi "people's committee" in Paris were said to have rejected overtures of the Vichy government.

Wage-Hour Law Upheld by Supreme Court of U. S.

heuser-Busch, Inc., St. Louis beer manufacturer.

They were seeking to oust the International associations of Machinists from his work. Both are affiliates of the American Federation of Labor.

Court dismissed litigation today involving an injunction temporarily restraining Governor Leon C. Phillips and other Oklahoma officials from interfering by use of troops and a state court suit, with work on the $20,000,000 Grand river hydroelectric project.

Justice Frankfurter wrote the decision, which returned the case to a three-judge federal court at Tulsa to permit it to enter a "fresh decree," from which state officials "may, if they wish, perfect a timely appeal to the circuit court of appeals."

The decision held that the state officials did not have a right, under federal judicial procedure, to appeal directly from the three-judge court to the supreme court. No dissent was announced.

Benefit Plan Offered
Reps. Manley J. Wilson (D.-Clatsop), A. Hugh Adams (D.-Multnomah), and E. C. Allen (D.-Multnomah) introduced a measure to establish a 40-hour week for Oregon industries which are not now covered by the federal wage-hour law. The state labor commissioner would enforce it.

Other bills introduced in the house today would: Provide penalties for negligent homicide in traffic deaths of one to three years in prison, or $2,000 fine, or both; exempt from taxes the first $1,000 in value of any home of an old age pensioner; and provide that the supreme court shall elect its chief justice, who now is the senior judge among the two or three judges who have the shortest term to serve.

Sen. Rex Ellis (R.-Umatilla) introduced his bill to provide for a fourth congressman, to be elected at large. Four other redistricting bills, all in the house, would create a fourth district by carving it out of the first (western Oregon) district.

Another bill introduced in the senate would place occupational diseases under provisions of the workmen's compensation law.
